AN EYEWITNESS PICTURE OF IRAN DURING INVASION

Tribune Writer Tells Graphic Story.

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran, Aug. 28 [Delayed].—What does the future hold for this rich little kingdom of oil, ores, and grain, now that its undersized army has ceased resistance to the British and Russian invasion which began four days ago? This question claimed the most attention in the capital today.

The city was calm. Eager crowds rushed to buy newspapers which announced newly-chosen Premier Ali Furanghi's order to the army to cease fire. The tension which had mounted with the approach of the Russians from the north had eased. At every street corner knots of citizens crowded about persons who were reading the news aloud.

Americans Offered Shelter.

Most of the 100 or so Americans here had not sought shelter within the compound of their government's diplomatic quarters. Minister Louis G. Dreyfus Jr. had told them that they could find refuge behind the high brick walls of the legation compound on the outskirts of the city if they felt endangered.

When the invasion began, Germans, British, Italians, Swedes, Norwegians, and other aliens crowded into their diplomatic missions. Some Germans who could not find accommodations there left for their legation's compound at Shimran, eight miles outside the city, with newly purchased camp beds, blankets, and food.

The few American missionaries and their families who went to the American compound also carried tents, bed rolls, and food. At the Swiss compound were 15 sheep, taken into the grounds as a food reserve.

Arrives During Blackout.

I reached Teheran during a blackout after an eight day trip from Ankara, Turkey, across the Turkish and Persian mountains. I rode part of the way on the back of a camel. Last Monday, the first day of the invasion, I passed thru the undefended village of Mianeh, 80 miles southeast of Tabriz, a half-hour after the Red air force had dropped 30 bombs on it. Fifteen persons were killed and 25 were injured.

Bewildered crowds ran into the streets. They were unable to comprehend what had happened. Many persons carried bomb fragments in their hands. The village is on a railway line now under construction.

Despite the blackout, Teheran's streets were filled with people discussing the invasion in hushed voices. Candles in saucers illuminated the interiors of hotels.

During the day Teheran had been preparing for any eventuality. Banks did a brisk business. Inhabitants gathered food supplies. There had been long lines in front of the kerosene shops, and bakeries and other stores were filled with buyers. The government released 200 tons of flour, the amount it had set aside as Teheran's daily allotment.

Bomb 3 Northern Towns.

On Tuesday the capital learned of the bombing of three northern Iranian towns by the Reds. The most important town raided was Kazvin, a vital junction on the road to Turkey, 90 miles from Teheran. The others were Kazian and Pahlewi, on the Caspian sea. No casualties were reported. One semi-official Iranian newspaper protested against "these atrocities."

Meanwhile, Iranian planes maintained a patrol over Teheran. However, there were no raids on Teheran. Altho the public was calm, the lack of military information increased the tension.

Bitter quarrels were reported inside the German legation compound between Minister Ettel and German business men, some of whom have been in the country 20 years. Irate at being trapped by the advancing British and Russians, they accused Ettel of grossly misjudging the situation. He was said to have told them that action by the allies was not likely before another two months. Ettel is a naval man and not a

Air Power Bars Invasion by Sea—Lindbergh

TALLINN CALLED A 'NEW DUNKIRK' BY NAZI VICTORS

German conquerors of Tallinn, Estonia, yesterday described scenes of desolation in the Baltic port following a land, air, and sea offensive against the Russians.

The Nazis said 32 soviet ships were sunk in the battle which was described as "another Dunkirk." They claimed that the city's capture placed Leningrad in imminent peril from the west.

The Russians reported stubborn battles raging on the entire front. They said the Germans had been thrown back before a city described as "K" (probably Kiev).

3½ BILLION TAX BOOST O.K.'D BY SENATE GROUP

Small Income Class Hit by Changes.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—A record-breaking revenue bill, digging deeper into the pockets of all present taxpayers and bringing more than 6 million additional persons under the federal income tax structure, was approved today by the senate finance committee. It was estimated that it would increase the federal tax revenue by $3,672,400,000.

Chairman Walter F. George [D., Ga.] of the committee said he believed the total estimated by the treasury was too low. He predicted the measure would raise approximately 4 billion dollars a year.

The treasury predicted that the bill would yield 456 million dollars more revenue than tax legislation passed by the house. It would increase sharply the existing income levies on individuals and corporations and would impose a stiff schedule of excise, or "nuisance," taxes. The latter fall on such items as automobiles, telephone bills, and refrigerators.

Cuts Individual Exemptions.

To broaden the income tax base and raise more than 300 million dollars of additional revenue, the committee voted to lower existing income exemptions from $2,000 to $1,500 for married persons and from $800 to $750 for single individuals. The starting rate provided is 10 per cent —4 per cent normal and 6 per cent surtax. The surtax rises rapidly.

Thus, a single person making $800 would pay $3 under the new bill, compared with nothing under the house-approved measure and existing law. A married man with no dependents and a $2,000 income would pay $42 under the finance committee plan and nothing under the house measure and present law.

Whether the lowered exemptions and other senate committee changes finally are approved will depend largely upon action by a joint senate-house conference committee which will be created to adjust differences between the two chambers after the tax measure has cleared the senate.

Vote for Joint Returns.

Just before completing its work on the measure, the finance committee voted 12 to 5 to write in a provision preventing husbands and wives from dividing their incomes for tax purposes. The house eliminated a similar provision. Such division now is permitted in eight community property states—Louisiana, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, California, Idaho, Nevada, and Washington. The change was estimated to add in the neighborhood of 50 million dollars to the annual revenue.

The committee also voted today to exempt strategic metals industries from the excess profits tax. George said that exemption would reduce revenue only a few hundred thousand dollars.

The senate group also decided to increase the house corporation surtaxes from 5 to 6 per cent on the first $25,000 of net income and from 6 to 7 per cent on net income over that amount.

Committee approval of the bill came after more than two weeks of

NEW WAR MAP OF RUSSIA

"BACK TO THE END OF THE LINE!"

Weight of 10c Loaf of Bread to Be Reduced

Within a few weeks Chicago housewives will be getting from 12 to 20 per cent less bread in the popular 10 cent loaf that makes up the bulk of retail bread sales, leading Chicago baking companies disclosed yesterday.

Bakery officials said the size of the dime loaf will be reduced from the present 20 ounce weight, and the price will remain at 10 cents. The change will take place about mid-September.

One baking company said its 20 ounce loaf will be cut to 16 ounces. Another said a reduction to 17 or 17½ ounces is contemplated. Last week the baking companies increased the price of the 12 ounce loaf from 6 to 7 cents.

Wages Are Increased.

Officials said the weight reductions and price increases are made necessary by rising costs of materials and higher wages. Wage increases of more than 10 per cent have been granted to maintenance and garage employés of the baking companies, and a new contract is being negotiated with the inside baking employés. In addition, prices of flour, milk, sugar, lard, and shortening have been increased from 20 to 70 per cent since last year.

A baking official estimated that the 10 cent loaf accounts for 90 per cent of the million loaves of white bread sold daily in Chicago. Based on this estimate Chicagoans will spend about $15,000 more a day for bread after the weight reduction, assuming they eat as much bread as before.

Dark Breads Unchanged.

No changes in price or weight of rye, whole wheat, and other special loaves, which retail at 10 cents for a 16 ounce loaf, are contemplated, the companies reported.

Bakery executives said it was considered impractical to raise the price of the standard white loaf above the round figure of 10 cents, so the weight reduction plan is being used. This will necessitate buying new baking pans and changing the size of the wrappers. Possible delays in the delivery of pans may hold up the change for a few weeks.

In St. Louis last week the dime loaf was cut from 20 to 17 ounces, and in Milwaukee housewives are getting 18½ ounces for their dime instead of 22 ounces, as before.

HORSE RESCUED AFTER TWO DAY SWIM IN SHAFT

Brazil, Ind., Aug. 29 [Special].—A horse which fell 60 feet down an abandoned mine shaft was rescued today after it had swum around in 12 feet of water more than two days. George Magor, owner of the horse, discovered the animal, which had been missing since Wednesday, splashing around in the shaft.

With the assistance of a steam drag line shovel from a neighboring stripping pit, Magor was lowered into the shaft. He placed a sling around the horse and it was pulled out by the drag line.

The horse collapsed on being brought to the surface, but soon got to its feet and started grazing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—A court summons has been served on George Arliss, actor and film star, according to the Evening Standard, "requiring him to answer a complaint that he has neglected to register with the Bank of England a number of American railway and other shares." The summons, issued under the defense finance regulations, will be dealt with at a London court on Sept. 15, it was stated.

Weird and Old Are Cambodia Rites for King

PNOM-PENH, Cambodia, French Indo-China, Aug. 29 (AP).—In the weird rites of a lost empire the body of the late king of Cambodia was cremated and enshrined today. The monarch, Prea Bat Samdach Prea Sisowath Monivong, died last April 23.

Since then the body has been encased in a semicircular urn, thus simulating the position of an unborn child and signifying preparation for rebirth. Mysterious secret essences, which destroyed all internal organs except the heart and the brain without injuring the outer flesh, preserved the corpse.

Three days ago priests removed the body and washed and attired it in royal robes, hung the medal of the order of "the million elephants and the white parasol" over the heart and then placed it in a large, barrel-like jar.

New King Lights Pyre.

A funeral cortège accompanied by thousands of yellow robed priests passed slowly thru the streets of this ancient capital to a newly built pagoda about as high as a four story building. A catafalque glittering with gold and silver jewels was erected inside. Long white damask drapes sprinkled with unidentified gold symbols formed a canopy over it.

The new king, a handsome youth attired in heavy gold encrusted robes, lighted a funeral pyre as strange, plaintive music welled out. Princes and rulers of other Indo-China states in shimmering robes of purple and white and saffron and crimson, hung with jewels, paid obeisance. Governor General Admiral Jean Decoux and a Japanese general represented foreign authority.

Scientists Study Rites.

The last action in the complicated ceremony came when a band of tattered and savage looking convicts were brought before the new king and given amnesty.

French orientologists were present studying the rites. They said the ceremonies probably originated with the ancient Khmer empire and later were mixed with Buddhism. The meaning of many of the ceremonies was unknown even to the priests who performed them.

Says Bombers Can Hold Off Hostile Ships

The text of Col. Lindbergh's Oklahoma City address will be found on page 6.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 29 [Special].—The vast development of air power so feared by the war cryers has removed the danger of attack on the United States by sea and the oceans themselves prevent effective attacks by air, Charles A. Lindbergh declared here tonight. It has made the Atlantic and Pacific oceans even more a defense than they have been before, the flyer said.

Lindbergh spoke at an open air meeting held in an amateur ball park before a cheering crowd of 8,000 that attended despite efforts of the city council to prevent the anti-war rally by denying use of the municipal auditorium.

America First leaders were enthusiastic over the reception accorded the famous flyer. Applause interrupted the speaker time and time again. A large number of conscripts from the Will Rogers bomber base near here attended and added their applause to the sentiment against war. Herbert K. Hyde, head of the Oklahoma branch of America First, said the meeting proved to him that Americans were still 80 per cent against going to war.

In his speech Lindbergh directly refuted the claims of those seeking to push this country into war on the supposition that advancement in aerial warfare had destroyed the effectiveness of America's strategic isolation as a defense against invasion.

Air Power Defends Coast.

Air power can keep off an invasion by sea of the coast on which it is based. However, no air force, he said, could cross either of the large oceans and protect a landing on hostile territory against the defenses of warplanes, submarines, warships, and coast guns.

Speaking from his expert technical knowledge of aviation, the famous flyer asserted that air power has not developed, and will not develop in the near future, to a point where it can be used successfully to invade across such expanses of water as the Atlantic ocean.

He expressed the conviction that neither Germany nor the United States—whom he termed the only two great and natural air powers in the world—can successfully attack the other across the ocean, unless an internal collapse preceded invasion. The quickest way for either to lose a war, he said, would be to attack the other.

Air Power vs. Sea Power.

Lindbergh pointed out that ships would be necessary, of course, to such an invasion and that the attacking sea fleet could not possibly have the air support equal to that of the defenders. He observed that wherever sea power and air power have clashed during the present war sea power had not won in a single instance.

He conceded that transoceanic bombing is within the realm of possibility but contended that the damage it could do on wartime standards would be negligible.

On the program also was Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana Democrat, another leading opponent of administration foreign policies.

CHINESE REACH TWO PROVINCIAL CAPITALS IN COUNTER-ATTACKS

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 29 (AP).—The Chinese war ministry said today that Chinese vanguards had reached the outskirts of two Japanese occupied provincial capitals in counterattacks that started Monday. The capitals were Nanchang, in Kiangsi province, 590 miles east of Chungking, and Foochow, in coastal Fukien province, 870 miles east of Chungking.

The ministry spokesman said small scale attacks launched against Japanese outposts in Kiangsi, Fukien, Chekiang, southern Kiangsu, and southern Anhwei provinces inflicted 2,500 casualties on the Japanese.

SMITH WINNER OVER AMLIE IN CONGRESS RACE

Republican's Edge Nearly 2 to 1.

BY THORNTON SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Racine, Wis., Aug. 29.—Voters in the 1st congressional district today chose Lawrence H. Smith, anti-Roosevelt and anti-war candidate for congress to succeed the late Stephen Bolles, Republican. Smith defeated Thomas R. Amlie, radical Democratic candidate pledged to the support of President Roosevelt's war policy. The vote was almost two to one.

Lawrence H. Smith.

Smith received 29,657 votes and Amlie 16,942. Smith carried all five counties in the district.

With Amlie and Smith agreeing that the war was the only issue of the campaign, Smith's sweeping victory was interpreted as a rebuke to the President and disapproval of his foreign policy. The election was the first opportunity the voters of the west had had since the election of November, 1940 to indorse or repudiate the program of the war party.

Betters Willkie's Margin.

Wendell Willkie carried the district in last year's Presidential election by a majority of around 1,000 of a total of 125,000 votes cast.

"I interpret the election to mean that the citizens of the 1st district want an adequate defense of our nation, quickly, efficiently, and economically provided," Smith said, as soon as the results were known. "They are opposed to the United States being drawn into present wars for the reason they are not our wars.

"I am opposed to any official action, directly or indirectly which would tend to take us into war without the consent of the congress. I appreciate the confidence the men and the women of the 1st district have shown in me. I shall work faithfully to merit continued confidence."

Amlie's nomination was directed by the New Dealers in Washington, presumably with the direct approval of the President himself.

Today's vote indicates that the grass root Democrats resented the selection of a man previously identified with the Progressive party to serve as their candidate and cast their vote in numbers for the Republican candidate.

Victor Racine Lawyer.

Smith is a Racine lawyer making his first appearance in party politics. He is a past commander of the Wisconsin Department of the American Legion and a lieutenant colonel in the new home guards organized for state protection during the absence of the National Guard from Wisconsin. He is a veteran of front line fighting in France in the first World war and the father of a son now in the United States army.

Amlie had served three terms as congressman ir the district, once as a Republican, twice as a Progressive. In 1939 he was nominated for a member of the Interstate Commerce commission by President Roosevelt, but his nomination was withdrawn after a delegation of Wisconsin Democrats protested and the state legislature adopted resolutions that Amlie was known in Wisconsin as a follower of the communistic line.

Third of Registered Vote.

The vote cast, 46,599, was approximately one-third of the total registered vote of around 140,000 and is less than one-third of the vote cast in the Presidential election last year.

In the 1940 election Bolles received 69,276 votes, or about 15,000 more than his combined Democratic and Progressive opponents. Willkie carried the district with 66,442 votes to 65,854 for Roosevelt.

The small vote was attributed mainly to overconfidence on the part of Republican voters, many of whom stayed at home, leaving the job to someone else. Governor Julius P. Heil's selection of Friday instead of the traditional Tuesday for election also undoubtedly kept many from voting. Many admitted here tonight that they forgot all about election.

NAZIS DESCRIBE FALLEN TALLINN AS 'NEW DUNKIRK'

Tell of Desolation in City on Baltic.

BERLIN, Aug. 29 (AP).—German soldiers entering Tallinn, Estonia, today described its harbor as a desolate scene following the capture of the Baltic port from the Russians.

Military dispatches said soviet warships were keeled over in the water with masts of sunken ships showing above the surface.

The high command announced the capture of Tallinn and its harbor of Baltiski following a German land, aerial and naval offensive in which 22 Red transports and 10 warships were sunk.

Russians Driven Into Sea.

Entrapped Russians were driven into the sea in what was described as "another Dunkirk."

Leningrad, Russia's second largest city, now lies open to imminent peril from the west, the high command asserted.

The fall of long isolated Tallinn completed the Nazi conquest of all the Baltic buffer states laboriously won by the soviet in the last two years. It was accompanied by a fierce and continuing action in the Gulf of Finland against the surviving forces in flight from the flaming city in dozens of troop ships and fighting craft.

Already in hand were several thousand Red prisoners, six coastal batteries, and much Russian war material.

Russian Cruiser Damaged.

Aside from 32 soviet ships destroyed, it was asserted that seven warships, including the 8,800 ton cruiser Kirov, were heavily damaged.

Kronstadt, the naval base of Leningrad and the sole remaining base on the Russian mainland for the Red fleet in the Gulf of Finland, was described as now gravely threatened.

Both it and Leningrad—which already is ringed by a Finnish offensive from the north and by German drives coming up from the south and southeast which were declared to have made further progress during the night—are less than an hour by bomber from Tallinn.

5,000 Red Soldiers Captured.

Between Narva, at the Estonian-soviet border, and Luga, which is about 85 miles below Leningrad, the capture of 5,000 Red soldiers and the seizure or destruction of 23 tanks, 45 cannon, and many machine guns and grenade throwers was announced.

Dispatches from the eastern front generally were scanty, but it was insisted here that the campaign in the Ukraine was continuing with the greatest vigor.

ALLIES IN LONDON AND U. S. ENVOY MAP RUSSIAN AID

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—How Britain, the United States, and the exiled allied governments here can help Russia to best advantage was discussed at a luncheon given today by Russian Ambassador Ivan Maisky. Prime Minister Winston Churchill, American Ambassador John G. Winant, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the heads of the refugee governments, and the Chinese ambassador were present.

Following the Washington, D. C., announcement that W. Averell Harriman has been chosen to head the American delegation to the Moscow conference, well informed sources indicated Lord Beaverbrook, minister of supply, would lead the British mission.

Three Front Move Seen.

According to the British Broadcasting corporation, the British-American-soviet conference will determine how the combined resources of the three countries may best be used to defeat Hitler.

The main object of the Moscow conference, according to the Daily Mail, is to "settle questions of supplying war material to soviet Russia." Pointing out that the wrecking of the Dnieper river dam deprived Russia of a vast amount of productive capacity, the paper adds editorially, "That gap must be filled and British and American factories must help to fill it."

Beaverbrook's Daily Express takes the view that "this war will be won thru Iran and by the aid we bring by that route to the gallant Russians."

The Daily Herald, alluding to criticism of the delay in holding the Moscow conference, declares, "Suggestions that this has been due to political differences in America do not seem to be justified."

The general council of the Trades Union Congress which recently joined the Labor party in turning down an appeal from the British communist party for the formation of a "common front," will recommend establishment of a British-Russian trade union council at the Trades Union Congress in Edinburgh next week, it was announced.

City's Long History

Tallinn, the Estonian capital which the Germans captured from the Russians yesterday, has been conquered and reconquered thruout its long history by Baltic tribes, Germans, Swedes, Danes, and Russians. The last time German troops were in the city was during the World war.

The city was founded by Waldemar II. of Denmark in 1219. The Estonian word "Tallinn" means "the town of the Danes." Danes remained the rulers of Tallinn and Estonia for about 125 years. Years later the Swedes took Tallinn. The Russians conquered it in 1710 and called the city Reval.

Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania gained their independence during the World war. The states were seized by Russia in June, 1940. In peacetime about three quarters of Estonia's commerce moved thru Tallinn. Principal exports were textiles, timber, cellulose, cereals, cement, flax, meat, and dairy products. In 1939 it had 145,000 inhabitants.

2 ARMY PLANES CRASH IN FLIGHT; FOUR ARE KILLED

March Field, Cal., Aug. 29 (AP).—Two army training planes locked wings in a practice flight today, carrying four men to their deaths. The dead are:

Second Lieutenant John J. Mitchell, Pawhuska, Okla.

Second Lieutenant Edgar A. Hose, Grass Valley, Cal.

Technical Sergeant Richard E. Stafford, Nashville, Tenn.

Private James D. Glenn, Fort Worth.

Killed in Test Flight.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 29 [Special].—James Knight, radio operator, was killed in the crash of a B-25 army type bomber on a test flight here today. Pilot Willcox B. Wild and Copilot Paul Penrose, employed by the North American Aviation corporation, builder of the plane, were critically injured and burned. Cause of the accident was not determined.

HITLER AND DUCE PROMISE EUROPE PROSPERITY ERA

BERLIN, Aug. 29 (AP).—Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini ended a five day secret conference within the sound of gunfire on the eastern front today and issued a communique calling for a full axis victory and promising a prosperity order for all continental Europe shorn of the causes of past European wars.

The German press instantly likened the conference to that of President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill on the Atlantic which was announced Aug. 14, and asserted Roosevelt and Churchill made a poor showing in comparison.

Call F. D. R. "War Agitator."

"Even the external picture of the Fuehrer-Duce meeting stands in sharp contrast to the conference of War Agitators Churchill and Roosevelt on the other side of the Atlantic off the Newfoundland banks," said the National Zeitung of Essen, Reichsmarshal Goering's paper.

The communique announcing the Hitler-Mussolini meeting was dated at the Fuehrer's field headquarters. It said the axis leaders discussed all military and political questions concerning the development and duration of the war, and continued:

"The discussions were permeated with the unchangeable will of both peoples and their leaders to wage war to a victorious end.

"The new European order which will emanate from this victory will remove as extensively as possible the causes which gave rise in the past to European wars.

Vow Death to Bolshevism.

"Destruction of the bolshevist danger and of plutocratic exploitation will create the possibility of peaceful, harmonious and profitable coöperation of all peoples of the European continent in the political as well as in the economic and cultural spheres."

[The Roosevelt-Churchill statement of aims after "the final destruction of Nazi tyranny," pledged the United States and Britain to no aggrandizement, and called for peace, freedom, economic prosperity and self-determination for all the world's peoples, freedom of the seas and disarmament of aggressor nations.]

The general trend of German press comment was that the Roosevelt-Churchill Atlantic declarations "preserves historic injustices" while the axis new order "is a creative idea," but specific definitions of the new order still were lacking.

An authorized Berlin comment on the Hitler-Mussolini sessions was:

"The two men of destiny, the creators of a new order, have served notice there will not be another peace like that of Versailles."

Duce Expresses Confidence.

ROME, Aug. 29 (AP).—Premier Mussolini in a note to Adolf Hitler tonight after their five day meeting expressed confidence in victory in "the great work undertaken."

Mussolini piloted Hitler's four-motored plane back from a visit to an Italian division on the southern front, Rome correspondents reported. Hitler and Mussolini, they added, had long talks alone in a big tent. They were escorted by armored cars and mobile anti-aircraft guns on their tours of the front and ate soldiers' rations of soup and black bread.

Hitler met Mussolini midway on the trip to the front, it was stated. Mussolini wore the field uniform of a first marshal of the Italian empire. He exchanged salutes with Hitler, who wore an olive drab uniform.

PARLIAMENT IS JUST A NAME ON A DOOR IN TOTALITARIAN VICHY

VICHY, France, Aug. 29 (AP).—The authoritarian Vichy régime today exiled the ghost of the French parliament to the tiny watering place of Chatel-Guyon les Bains, 45 miles away, but saved the face of constitutionalism by leaving the sign over the door of parliamentary headquarters here.

Arrow locates Chatel-Guyon les Bains.

A decree in the official journal ordered removal of "offices and legislative, administrative and secretarial services" of parliament, forbade legislative activities in Vichy, but permitted the name to remain on the Allier apartments here because the constitution of the third republic requires that parliament sit only in the capital.

Marshal Pétain has ordered salaries of parliament members suspended two days hence.

FINLAND TO BARE 'PEACE ORDEAL' WITH RUSSIANS

New York, Aug. 29 [Special].—The text of a 60,000 word blue-white book to be called "Finland Reveals Her Secret Documents" has been sent here by radio and the American edition is being rushed for publication Sept. 16, it was announced today.

According to a preface by H. J. Procope, Finnish minister to the United States, the book is "a picture of a big, burly and uncompromisingly belligerent neighbor ceaselessly outraging the little fellow next door" during the period of what he calls "an ordeal of peace."

The manuscript was wirelessed from the government radio station in Helsingfors to Procope. According to Wilfred Funk, Inc., the publishers, the book is a revelation of diplomatic conversations and documents showing the power politics of the Reds.

NAZIS DISCOVER JEWISH LABOR IS WARTIME ASSET

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 29—Lack of labor in wartime Germany has led Nazis to discover that the Jewish population is an economic asset.

Contrary to the traditional Nazi doctrine that Jews are useless to the state, the reorganization of the German labor market brought out the astonishing fact for the dyed in the wool National Socialists that 40 per cent of the able-bodied Jews in Warsaw, Poland, are craftsmen and satisfactorily ply their trades as carpenters, roofers, skilled machinists, umbrella makers, tailors, and so forth.

The German authorities lost no time in making this new source of skilled labor "available" to German firms with home offices in the reich. According to the Koelnische Zeitung of Cologne the work of the Jewish workers is "satisfactory." The Germans have opened a "transfer office" in Warsaw to advise German firms how best to employ this labor.

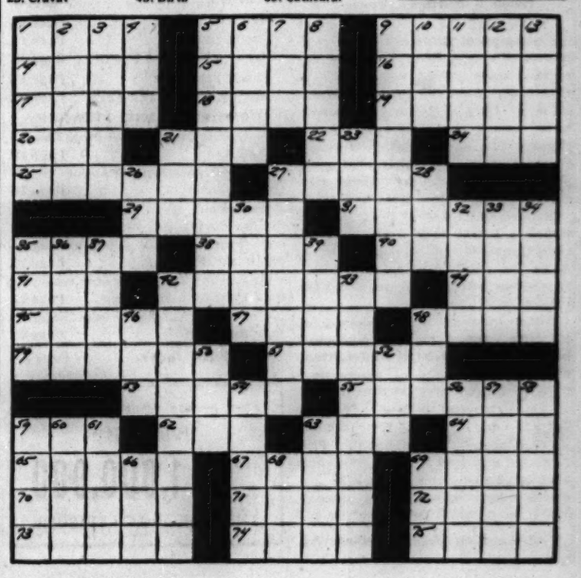
PUZZLE OF FRIDAY, AUG. 29, SOLVED



JAPS SEE PEACE IF U. S. QUITS AS BRITAIN'S GUARD

BULLETIN.

TOKIO, Aug. 30 [Saturday] (AP).—The British embassy announced today it had arranged for a ship to come to Japan for evacuation of all British nationals desiring to leave.

BY KIMPEI SHEBA.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Aug. 30 [Saturday].—Should the United States give up the idea of safeguarding the rights and interests of Britain in the far east, there is no reason why the present difficulties between America and Japan cannot be settled amicably, the influential newspaper Chugai Shogyo declared today.

It said that the message from Premier Prince Fumimaro Konoe to President Roosevelt on Thursday was written in that spirit, and added:

"If the United States and Japan stopped to think without prejudice they would ask, 'Why should we fight?' The far eastern interests of the United States are comparatively small and, if compared with the British, might even be called superficial."

Indicate Impending Crisis.

All leading newspapers devoted much space to the American and Russian problems. Their reports indicated a feeling of an impending grave crisis.

Typical of the editorial comment was that of the Tokio Asahi, which declared that Japan and the United States should open their hearts and mutually examine where the cancer of the Pacific question lies. It lauded Premier Konoe for his friendly message to President Roosevelt.

Seeks End of China War.

Domei, Japanese news agency, said the message gave the view that Japan was firmly set on establishment of a "coprosperity sphere" of influence as a prerequisite to lasting peace in the Pacific and that Tokio desired to end the war in China to help bring this peace about.

Ichi Kishi, a government spokesman, said moreover that the "unfortunate Chinese-Japanese hostilities" were being prolonged by United States-British aid to Chiang Kai-shek. This aid, he said, "certainly does not fall into line with the principle of world peace as stated by Churchill."

The Domei statement, issued while the cabinet and highest military officials met in emergency session yesterday to consider the Japanese situation, said:

"Well informed circles are of the opinion that what Japan is aiming at under the prevailing complex international situation is disposal of the China affair and construction of the East Asia co-prosperity sphere with the ultimate object of ushering in an era of permanent peace in the Pacific."

To Study Aid to Russia.

Kishi said that United States shipments of oil and war supplies to Russia via Vladivostok undoubtedly would be included in any conversation with the United States. It was added, however, that disclosure of Japanese representations to Moscow and Washington, D. C., over the shipments had been premature.

CHARGES F. D. R. GAVE CHURCHILL PROMISE OF AEF

Elkhart, Ind., Aug. 29 [Special].—Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] expressed the conviction tonight that President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill definitely have agreed upon sending an American expeditionary force to the eastern hemisphere.

"Churchill announces that he and the President have agreed that Hitler must be destroyed," Hoffman said at an America First rally in the Roosevelt school here. "Churchill's generals tell us in so many words that the war can be won only with the aid of an American army.

"And so it follows that what Churchill and Roosevelt have agreed upon is the sending of an expeditionary force to the eastern hemisphere."

Hoffman charged that Churchill speaks without authority for the American people. He said only congress has the authority to say when and where war should be waged by the people of this country.

DAY SAYS F. D. R. IS WAGING WAR —NOT CONGRESS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Representative Stephen A. Day [R., Ill.], declared in a radio address tonight the conclusion was irresistible "that the President is waging war but the congress is not."

"I speak," Day said, "not for myself alone, but for the congress of the United States. The war today in America is a war between the congress and the President. Supporting the congress are 83 per cent of the American people.

"When the history of this period is recorded it will be said that the representative form of government was vindicated thru the triumph of the people's representatives in the congress who successfully preserved the constitution of the United States against usurpation by the President. The vote of 203 to 202 [in favor of] on the extension of the draft shows that the fight will be won."

Har Italy Halts Works on Warships; Lacks Materials

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Lack of materials has caused Italy to stop construction on two 35,000 ton battleships, advices reaching maritime circles said today. The ships—the Impero, scheduled for completion at Genoa in 1942, and the Roma, reported last year as ready for launching at Trieste—were of the Littorio class.

The War in Russia

FIERCE BATTLES RAGE ON WHOLE FRONT—MOSCOW

MOSCOW, Aug. 30, Saturday (AP).—Russia today declared that the Red army fought stubbornly all day yesterday along the whole eastern front anu that the Red air force had destroyed 500 German planes in one week at a cost of 262 Russian planes.

The midnight communique gave no indication of where the fighting was particularly fierce, but earlier reports had said German troops were hurled back from "K" [probably Kiev, in the Ukraine] in a battle in which the 530th German infantry regiment was destroyed.

The communique said the German planes were shot down or destroyed on the ground between Aug. 21 and 27, indicating extremely heavy aerial activity in the last few days.

The Friday communique which reported the battle around "K" said the fighting had raged on thru Thursday night, but it, too, had omitted mention of the sectors of greatest activity. A special war correspondent of the Moscow radio estimated that in fighting around "K" some 15,000 Germans had been killed and many others wounded or captured.

ITALIANS REPORT WARSHIPS SINK 4 BRITISH U-BOATS

ROME, Aug. 29 (AP).—The Italian high command announced today that Fascist warships had sunk four British submarines in the Mediterranean and that some of the survivors, including the commander of one of the vessels, had been taken prisoners. The war bulletin acknowledged that one Italian submarine had failed to return to its base.

Attack Axis Convoy.

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 29 (AP).—Aircraft of the British fleet air arm attacked an axis convoy of four merchantmen and four destroyers in the Mediterranean Wednesday night, causing a series of explosions and a fire on one, it was announced today.

RAF bombers yesterday hit two axis vessels in the central Mediterranean, an RAF communique added. One ship began to smoke and was down by the stern while bombs pierced the decks of the other, it was stated. German and Italian positions at Bardia, Homs, and Bengazi, Libya, were bombed Wednesday night and Thursday.

EACH SIDE LOSES TEN PLANES IN RAIDS ON NAZIS, BRITISH CLAIM

LONDON, Aug. 29 (AP).—The RAF and the German air force each lost 10 planes today in new British offensive smashes at the German-occupied Low Countries and France, the air ministry announced tonight.

The air ministry gave no particulars on the day's raids, but told of spectacular raids Thursday night on German territory and channel areas. At Duisburg huge explosions and fires occurred among industrial buildings, with flames rising 500 feet, it reported.

Claim 31 Planes Downed.

BERLIN, Aug. 29 (AP).—The RAF lost 31 planes—17 of them bombers—in assaults yesterday on the Dutch coast and German-held channel regions, the high command reported today. It said German fighters and anti-aircraft batteries shot down 23 British planes, naval artillery 7, and 1 pursuit plane "was downed by infantry."

PRESIDENT HINTS HE'LL SEND NOTE TO JAP PREMIER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—Japanese-American efforts to avoid war in the Pacific continued to be veiled in mystery in the national capital today.

President Roosevelt, who has taken personal charge of the far eastern situation, indicated that he is preparing a personal note to Prince Fumimaro Konoe in reply to the note he received from the Japanese prime minister.

In the meantime the contents of the premier's note were kept secret at the White House and the state department. It was assumed that the Japanese note suggested the holding of conversations looking toward the removal of source irritations which have strained Japanese-American relations.

It is believed that Mr. Roosevelt will retreat from the belligerent stand this government has taken in the far east and accept the Japanese suggestion that differences be discussed and ironed out.

War in the Pacific, it is recognized, might disrupt this country's program of aid to Great Britain.

BY DONALD DAY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Aug. 29.—The flight of Russian troops in ships from Tallinn, the Estonian capital captured by the Germans, was described here today by Estonian sailors.

Two Estonian tugs carrying 32 Russians to Leningrad lagged behind the soviet convoy of fleeing ships. The tugs were captured by Finnish torpedo boats and brought into Helsingfors harbor this morning.

Reveal Mass Executions.

Twelve Estonian crewmen said they had purposely lost contact with the convoy with the hope of being captured. They reported much of Tallinn had been destroyed by fires set by the Russians before they embarked and said one of the fleeing warships carried the commanding staff of the Tallinn garrison and the communist officials.

Another ship carried the staff of the GPU [Russian secret police] which had staged mass executions during the last weeks of the soviet rule in Estonia. All persons confined in prisons, except criminals, were shot, the Estonians said.

German artillery shelled Tallinn's harbor, which was filled with soviet troop ships. Some of the small coastal ships were so crowded that they capsized in the harbor.

Tallinn Castle Stands.

The Tallinn castle and other medieval buildings in the center of Tallinn have suffered little damage from fire and bombardment. In the university town of Tartu 600 buildings out of a total of 3,700 were destroyed, but the most precious university library has been saved.

Finnish troops are continuing to battle their way toward Viipuri [Viborg] in Karelia. Soviet troops set many fires as they retreated—a retreat which is being protected by strong rearguard action. Finnish flyers who flew over the city reported much destruction. Soviet forces were reported to be retiring to a defense line on the other side of the city.

Cuba Will Assign Seized Italian Ship to Its Navy

HAVANA, Aug. 29.—The Italian 5,440 ton freighter Recca, seized by Cuba, March 31, will be assigned to the navy. It will aid Cuban commerce, now handicapped by a shortage of shipping. It is expected the Finnish freighter Koura, seized last Friday, also will be put into Cuban service.

FRENCH EXECUTE 8 MORE AS LAVAL LIES NEAR DEATH

11 Shot as 'Enemies' Since Assassination.

VICHY, Aug. 29 [Saturday] (AP).—Eight more persons have been executed in Paris for aiding enemies, dispatches from that city reported today, bringing to 11 the number shot by firing squads since the attempted assassination Wednesday of Pierre Laval, ex-premier, who was reported near death tonight.

Three, including Naval Lieutenant Count Henri Destienne Dorbes, were condemned for espionage, presumably for De Gaullists. The other five were accused under the new French law providing death for "activity against the occupying power." One was a Netherlands citizen, the others were French.

Laval's Condition Desperate.

PARIS, Aug. 29 (AP).—Pierre Laval, symbol of French collaboration with Hitler, lay close to death tonight as his surgeons determined upon a risky operation to remove an assassin's bullet imbedded a tenth of an inch from his heart.

Tonight the temperature jumped to 39.5 [103.1 Fahrenheit].

Laval's journalistic associate, Marcel Deat, who was wounded simultaneously last Wednesday, was improving normally.

Laval and Deat were shot by a De Gaullist, youthful Paul Colette, who introduced himself Trojan-horse fashion into the ranks of an anti-communist legion recruited to fight alongside Germans against Russia.

Before his condition took such a critical turn, Laval was reported to have sent this message to the authorities: "I request that Colette not be executed."

An investigation of Colette was said to have disclosed that the assassin fought side by side with British troops at Dunkirk and was evacuated with them to England.

GERMANS SEND U-BOAT PASTOR TO NEW CAMP; CLAIM HEALTH BETTER

BERLIN, Aug. 29 (AP).—The Rev. Martin Niemoeller, German Lutheran pastor and former submarine commander who has been in custody for more than three years, has been transferred to the Bavarian concentration camp at Dachau and the change apparently has bettered his health, his friends learned today.

He had been confined at Sachsenhausen-Oranienburg concentration camp near Berlin.

The pastor shares a cell with two Catholic priests and they have lively but friendly theological conversations, it was stated. Mr. Niemoeller also reads to the priests from the works of Fritz Reuter, Germany's outstanding "Low German" poet and novelist. Frau Niemoeller sees him twice a month.

BELGIUM CLOSE TO STARVATION, SAYS EX-PREMIER

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Dr. Paul Van Zeeland, former prime minister of Belgium, just returned from a two month stay in London, declared today, "It is not an exaggeration to say that they are on the verge of famine in Belgium."

He predicted the situation would be desperate if nothing were done to aid the Belgians before winter. He said he was not advocating an American food plan in his country's behalf but was suggesting the possibility of sending vitamins and proteins to Belgium under a rigid control system.

ARMY TO RELEASE 200,000 IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS

Biggest Unit Will Come from Texas Camps.

Reopen Rejections

Creation of a super medical draft advisory board for Illinois, which will review the cases of all draft registrants who have been rejected for physical defects, was announced yesterday by Maj. E. Mann Hartlett, acting state medical officer for selective service.

Maj. Hartlett said the restoration of 6,000 men previously rejected to the list of army eligibles would be a conservative estimate. Unfamiliarity with the new experience of draft examinations, changing army standards, and new interpretations account for most of the 6,000, he said.

The super board, which will act in an advisory capacity to the 38 existing medical advisory boards, also is organized for a rehabilitation program which will add several additional thousands to the list of those eligible for the army.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Disclosing some details of its plan to release 200,000 enlisted men by December 10, the war department today said the total strength of the army will not be decreased.

Replacements will be provided as rapidly as releases are made, the department said, permitting the building up of a trained reserve because the men released will be placed in a reserve status for 10 years, or until they reach the age of 45.

Emphasizing that the proposed releases will be made only if the international situation does not become more serious, the department revealed the number of men to be released from each of the major units and corps areas. Men eligible for release may make appliaction to their unit commanders.

3,700 Officers to Be Promoted.

The department also announced that 3,700 officers of the regular army and reserve corps will be given temporary promotions in the near future, almost entirely in the grades below lieutenant colonel. Revised plans for promotion of National Guard officers will be announced later.

The announcement of plans for releasing the 200,000 conscripts disclosed that the 3d army, located in Texas, will lose the largest number—46,000. The sixth corps area, Chicago, will lose 2,000.

Releases of conscripts and National Guardsmen will be made, the announcement said, on the basis of priorities announced a few days ago—hardship cases, men who were 28 years old before they were inducted, and married men who have completed one year of service. Regular army enlisted men will be released as far as possible upon expiration of their enlistments.

Some May Lose 30 Per Cent.

Some units may be authorized to release as much as 30 per cent of their total strength in one month, the department said, while others may release a maximum of 4 per cent.

In revising its officer promotion system, the army said that the following regular army officers will be eligible for selection for temporary promotion in the order in which their names appear on the promotion list:

Majors having from 22 to 23 years of service; captains with 12 years of service; first lieutenants with three, and second lieutenants with one.

Captains of the medical department and chaplain corps with nine years' service will be promoted according to relative rank.

Reserve officers will be eligible for temporary promotion as follows: First lieutenants with three years of extended active duty, not necessarily in that grade, and second lieutenants with one year of extended active duty.

EXPECT WHEELER TO DRAW 67,000 IN ST. CHARLES

Preparations were under way last night by sponsors of the 37th Fall festival in St. Charles to accommodate an overflow crowd when Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] makes a Labor day address Monday night in Pottawatomie park.

More than 7,000 persons are expected in the open air amphitheater in the 40 acre park on the banks of the Fox river. Officials estimated, however, that an additional 60,000 in the fair grounds will listen to the talk over the public address system. The address will be broadcast coast to coast.

The Fall festival was opened last night with an Indian pageant in which Whirling Thunder, full blooded Winnebago, directed a group of Indians in their ancient native ceremonials. A children's parade thru the park, with prizes for the best Indian costumes, also was scheduled.

Senator Wheeler's address at 8:30 o'clock Monday night will climax the four day festival. Monday has been designated "America First day."

F.D.R. Brushes Aside Query on Nazi Reply in Torpedoing

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—President Roosevelt brushed aside today a press conference question whether Germany had answered the American government's charges on the torpedoing of the Robin Moor last May. It was recalled Mr. Roosevelt had discussed the sinking in a message to congress and that a copy of the message had been handed to the German chargé d'affaires. Asked whether an answer had been received Mr. Roosevelt suggested the inquiry be placed with the state department. He merely laughed when his questiioner said the department already had been asked.

BRITISH SCHOOLS STUDY PLEA TO TEACH RELIGION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill in a letter today assured Viscount Wolmer, prominent Church of England layman, that his declaration urging administrative or legislative action to provide facilities for religious teaching in all schools "is already under careful and sympathetic examination by the board of education."

Wolmer had sent the prime minister a five point proposal for religious teaching, including daily united worship in the schools. It was signed by a large number of members of both houses of parliament.

Recalling the "embittered controversies of a generation ago over the same question," Churchill welcomed the "unanimity as an augury that an acceptable situation may be found on these deep questions which touch so closely the nation's future."

AN EYEWITNESS PICTURE OF IRAN DURING INVASION

career diplomat. It was said he received his post as a reward for Nazi party activity.

Dreyfus, the American minister, called at the Iran foreign office and presented a formal denial from Washington, D. C., of a report that President Roosevelt had endorsed the British-Russian policy toward Iran.

Later in the day, at the request of Premier Mansur, the shah, Reza Pahlevi, accepted the resignation of the cabinet. Authoritative circles attributed the resignation to the cabinet's failure to settle the controversy with Britain and Russia.

On the same day [Wednesday] enemy air raiders struck at Zenjan, located in the midst of the great fruit growing area northwest of Teheran. The railroad station there was reported demolished. Kazvin was bombed seven times during the day. Karaj, 25 miles west of Teheran, and the holy city of Meshed, in eastern Iran, also were attacked by planes.

No Air Raid Shelters.

Reflecting the tension caused in Teheran by the raids on other cities, crowds gathered before posters telling of the precautions to be taken in case of a raid on the capital. Telephone numbers and addresses of first aid stations were given, as well as a description of the warning signals. Teheran has no air raid shelters.

The heavy run on foodstuffs caused temporary shortages in Teheran on Wednesday. I was unable to get any lunch in my hotel because it ran out of food by 2 p. m. That night only guests of the hotel were served. Outsiders were turned away.

The rquisitioning of private cars, trucks, and taxis for military use and a sudden scarcity of droshkies [hacks] brought a transportation problem. Newspaper correspondents bought bicycles.

On Thursday morning a special session of parliament was called. Ali Furanghi, the new premier named to succeed Ali Mansur after the resignation of his cabinet, announced that the Iranian troops had been ordered to cease resistance to the British and Russian invaders. At the same time an order issued on Tuesday calling seven classes of military reserves was canceled.

After presenting the new government, the premier said:

"The government and people of Iran always sincerely have wished peace, but the action of the British and Russians has shattered the peace of the country. The government, in accordance with the peaceful wishes of his majesty [the shah], at once orders the military forces to abstain from any further acts of resistance in order that the bloodshed and insecurity may be ended and quiet restored thruout the country."

Gets Vote of Confidence.

Several members of parliament spoke in support of the government's action, after which the new cabinet was given a unanimous vote of confidence.

The new cabinet is headed by two men who are friendly to the allies. Furanghi was premier when the present shah assumed the throne in 1925, and from 1932 until 1935. Sixty-four years old, he is regarded as the country's greatest scholar and philosopher and speaks English and French. Popular with the people, he was president of the league of nations assembly in 1929.

Ali Shoheily, who resigned as minister of the interior, was named foreign minister. He formerly was minister to England and has a Russian wife.

Reds to Enter Capital.

LONDON, Aug. 30 [Saturday]—(AP).—The Ankara radio quoted information from Teheran today to the effect that Red army formations were due to enter the Iranian capital during the morning.

Britain and Russia moved swiftly to complete their occupation of Iran and capitalize on the gains of a joint invasion which ended in victory Thursday when the little Iranian army laid down its arms after a four day show of resistance. The advance to secure more oil fields is continuing.

Germans in Iran will have difficulty escaping into Turkey since soviet troops now hold the most important mountain roads leading there, a British military spokesman said.

BRITISH ASSAIL TARDY ACTION IN COAL SHORTAGE

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 29.—The government's promise of action to compel 75,000 former miners to go back to the pits "is too late to avoid a continuation of short supplies," the Evening News political correspondent writes.

Pointing out that the coal situation for private homes is not bright, he says the shortage is aggravated by the fact that supplies which normally would go to residences are being diverted to war factories and public utilities. While no government decision has yet been taken on coal rationing, this is being enforced by circumstances, the correspondent declares.

Challenge Bevin's Figures.

While the coal mine owners have challenged Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin's figures that they had been offered 35,000 former miners but were slow in taking them on, it was explained that men returning to the pits require time to get fit again for the arduous work of coal cutting. From the 100,000 former miners recently registered, 25,000 have returned to the pits voluntarily.

Bevin is expected to announce a quick call to service of girls registered for war work. Of the 1½ million now listed, 100,000 have been allocated jobs. Tomorrow another 300,000—the 26 year olds—will register. Shop girls who so far have been on the reserved occupations list will be "dereserved," it is expected.

Fighting Force Calls Seen.

According to the labor correspondent of the London Star, "all men of 23 years old and under who have so far been exempted from the fighting forces—even skilled munition workers—will be called up almost immediately. Men up to 50 and women up to 40 will be registered for war work, in addition."

An Evening Standard reporter says that "local authorities are becoming alarmed at the rate at which war trained air raid precautions personnel is being depleted by the demands of the armed services." Numerous representations have been made to the minister of home security, pointing out the dangers of weakening the fire fighting services at a time when extensive air raids may be resumed, but Minister Herbert Morrison still contends he would be unjustified in pressing for a deferment of such calls to service.

Warden Services Hard Hit.

"The wardens' services are hardest hit here and we have lost our best men," a West Ham official said today. Another said, "It is very disquieting, as for some forms of ARP work young and physically strong men are essential. Older men and women, however willing, simply cannot do the work."

Plans have been completed by the ministries of home security and labor for the registration of men for fire watch duty. All men between the ages of 18 and 60 in the business districts must sign up. Those now doing fire watching duties on business buildings in London must register, but will be exempted from transfer to other areas.

U. S. ARMY LISTS 1½ MILLION MEN IN ALL BRANCHES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 28.—The United States army has approximately one and a half million men under arms, it was learned from the war department today.

Almost 900,000 of these are in the infantry and armored force. Infantrymen grouped in 18 square and 9 triangular divisions, total 456,000. Another 430,000 are in the armored force, altho the force at present has but four divisions and these are not fully equipped. The number of men assigned to the armored forces is large because it includes men going to various schools or receiving instruction elsewhere in operation and maintenance of merchanized equipment.

The organization of these units is changing constantly as lessons are being learned from the European war. The square division is the World war type of division; the triangular division is the streamlined unit of modern war, and the armored division is the American adaptation of the panzer division of blitzkrieg warfare.

Makeup of Divisions.

The square division consists of two infantry brigades of two regiments each and one artillery brigade of three regiments and auxiliary troops.

The triangular division consists of three regiments of infantry, each of which is supported by one battalion of artillery. An additional battalion of heavier artillery is attached to the division.

The armored division consists of five principle elements—command, reconnaisance, striking power, support, and supply. These divisions are equipped for rapid thrusts deep into hostile territory, to be followed by efforts to demoralize the enemy by cutting communications and supplies.

Comparative Strength.

The armament and strength of the three types of divisions, as of today, is shown in the following table:

	Infantry division, triangular.	Infantry division, square.	Armored division.
Officers and men	16,024	21,000	12,700
Rifles	7,327	10,047	2,017
Machine guns, cal. .30	179	193	3,647
Machine guns and sub machine guns, caliber .45 and .50	143	144	2,870
60 mm. mortars	81	108	21
81 mm. mortars	18	48	20
37 mm. anti-tk. guns	60	84	411
77 mm. anti-tk. guns	8	16	8
105 mm. howitzers	36	48	36
155 mm. howitzers	12	24	0
Scout cars	16	0	97
Half track trucks	0	0	642
81 mm. mortar carriers	0	0	20
Light tanks	0	0	273
Medium tanks	0	0	108
Maintenance trucks	0	17	70

The table does not mention pistols, as this weapon is being abandoned. It is to be replaced by a light rifle. Six models of the light rifle are being tested.

The approved rifle probably will replace 7,199 pistols used in the triangular division, 10,532 in the square division and less than half that many in the armored force.

The million and a half men under arms number approximately 100,000 officers and 1,400,000 enlisted men. They are distributed in the army approximately as follows:

Four field armies [29 divisions]	456,000
Armored force [four divisions]	430,000
Air forces	167,000
Field artillery	61,000
Anti-aircraft	81,000
Harbor defenses	46,000
Post personnel	160,000
Overseas garrisons	120,000
Engineers	35,000
Signal corps	13,500
Draftees at replacement centers	150,000
Medical corps and other units	118,000

The army plans to increase its fighting personnel by giving noncombatant jobs to civilians. It is estimated that 40,000 enlisted men can be released for more active service if such a plan is adopted.

SENATE HOLDS UP OSBORN O. K. AS MORALE OFFICER

[Copyright: 1941: By the New York Times.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29—The senate today indicated its concern over the morale problems of the army by postponing action on the appointment of Frederick Osborn of New York as brigadier general in charge of morale.

The postponement came at the request of Senator Charles L. McNary [R., Ore.], who asked deferment until the nomination could be fully discussed by the military affairs committee.

Senator Elbert Thomas [D., Utah], praised Osborn as a man of great ability but said it was "extremely extraordinary to give a man who has had no military service at all the high office of brigadier general."

Thomas expressed the opinion that one of the reasons why the army has a morale problem was because men of ability were often ignored when appointments were made.

ILLINOIS TROOPS MOVING TO NEW MANEUVER AREA

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Second Army Field Headquarters, Prescott, Ark., Aug. 29.—In dripping jungle heat which followed an all-night downpour, troops of the 2d army were moving by the tens of thousands today into the malaria plagued Ouachita river valley southeast of here to begin a new and larger phase of the current war maneuvers.

The new phase will pit army corps against army corps in a battle which will be the immediate preliminary to the final army against army phase of the six week long war games. In the present maneuvers 75,000 men of the 2d army's 7th corps, who have been maneuvering in the Prescott area for the last two weeks, will meet 65,000 soldiers of a provisional corps. Troops of the latter corps have not yet engaged in the mock warfare. Included in the 7th corps is the 33d [Illinois] division.

Theoretically the 7th corps is a blue army attempting to defend the state of Louisiana from a red army descending from the north. It is expected they will be ordered to fortify the north bank of the Ouachita. Maneuver headquarters will be at Camden.

MARINE'S SON ENLISTS; GETS $3,000 BEQUEST

John T. Blake, 910 Lawrence avenue, joined the marines yesterday and by doing so inherited $3,000. Under the terms of his father's will he was to inherit the money on his 21st birthday or the day he joined the marine corps. Blake is 18 years old. His father, Chester, was a sergeant in the marine corps. The young recruit said he joined the marines because he liked the service and not to inherit his patrimony. He said he intended to put the money into a bank.

SENATOR DEALS BLOW TO BOGEY OF OIL SHORTAGE

Fear of Lack Is Magnified, Asserts Maloney.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—Senator Francis T. Maloney [D., Conn.], chairman of the special senate committee investigating what he terms "the so-called oil shortage" in the eastern part of the United States, asserted at today's hearing the situation has been magnified in the minds of the people and that government agencies have "unwittingly contributed to that fear."

Rear Adm. E. S. Land.

Maloney also intimated, after his committee had heard secret testimony by Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the United States maritime commission, that Great Britain has all the oil tankers she needs without any further transfers from the United States.

In response to a question, Senator Maloney said the committee had received no evidence to refute figures on the British tanker position published by the London Economist on July 26 and read into the committee's record yesterday.

Tankers Termed Sufficient.

The article said Britain's gross tanker tonnage of 6 million should be sufficient for her wartime needs, even with the most ample allowances for sinkings and delays resulting from the convoy system, and that the transfer of more American tankers to the British service would work undue hardships on the American people.

The committee agreed to hear Admiral Land in executive session, presumably to save him from embarrassment, after an intimation in open session that he does not approve the Roosevelt administration's proposals to divert from 50 to 100 more American tankers to the British service. The transfer of 50 tankers to the British service already has resulted in a 10 per cent reduction in the delivery of gasoline to retail service stations in the 17 eastern states and the District of Columbia. A further reduction of 5 per cent has been ordered for Sept. 1.

When Maloney asked Admiral Land in open session whether the administration had formulated a policy with respect to future transfers of tankers to the British service, the admiral replied: "Do you think I should answer that question? My job is to serve my commander in chief [President Roosevelt] or get the hell out. I obey orders and I don't create policy."

Pipe Line Plan Opposed.

The blunt speaking admiral publicly expressed opposition to the administration sponsored 100 million dollar pipe line program, which calls for the use of 750,000 tons of steel to construct one pipe line from east Texas to Bayonne, N. J., and to complete another from Baton Rouge, La., to Greensboro, N. C.

The administration has pushed this construction program notwithstanding the contention of railroads that between 17,000 and 20,000 idle railway tank cars could transport all the oil formerly transported by the 50 tankers transferred to Britain and notwithstanding official admissions that the pipe lines may have to be scrapped when the tankers now under construction are completed.

Barge Program Urged.

The admiral proposed a steel and concrete barge construction program, requiring only 110,000 tons of steel, as a substitute for the pipe line projects.

"They are talking about 750,000 tons of steel for the pipe lines," he said. "I don't know where they are going to get that much steel, but if it's going to come from navy ships and maritime commission ships I'm against it."

Admiral Land implied that even his barge construction program may not be necessary. He explained that 139 tankers are under construction or contract and that 25 of them, with a greater carrying capacity than the 50 old ones transferred to the service of Britain, will be ready next April. Moreover, he said the ship seizure program agreed upon yesterday by the 21 American republics would place 22 Italian, 2 German, and 2 Danish oil tankers in the western hemisphere service.

F. D. R.'s WORDS

In a speech last Nov. 1, President Roosevelt said:

"I am fighting to keep this nation prosperous and at peace. I am fighting to keep our people out of foreign wars, and to keep foreign conceptions of government out of our United States."

Last Nov. 4, on the eve of his third term re-election, the President said:

"Across the seas life has gone underground. I think I speak the minds of all of you when I say that we thank God that we live in the sunlight and the starlight of peace—that we are not in war, and that we propose and expect to continue to live our lives in peace—under the peaceful light of heaven."

DEALERS IGNORE U. S. FIXER; BOOST GASOLINE PRICES

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP). — After repeated pleas against price fixing by two officers of the Associated Gasoline Retailers of Philadelphia and vicinity, some 150 gasoline retailers in a stormy meeting agreed to raise their prices to 19.5 cents a gallon today—one cent over the government's new "fair minimum price."

Tankwagon prices now are 14.5 cents a gallon. Retail prices have ranged from 17½ to 18½ cents a gallon.

Price Administrator Leon Henderson said in Washington that if Philadelphia retailers sold gasoline at 19 cents a gallon it would be an "unwarranted and unjustified attempt to take advantage of motorists at a time when restraint is required from all reputable business men." He added that "I trust Philadelphia motorists will bring the full pressure of public opinion to bear against this sort of unwarranted action."

AIR POWER BARS INVASION BY SEA, LINDBERGH SAYS

U. S. Bombers Can Repulse Hostile Ships.

"As you all know, I stand with the men and women in America who oppose our entering this war in Europe. There are many reasons why I believe we should not enter the war. I have discussed these reasons freely and openly in articles and radio addresses during the last two years. I have said that I did not believe it was within our power to control the wars, or to solve the problems that have existed in Europe since European history began.

"I have said that we were not prepared to wage war abroad successfully at this time, and that we would not be prepared to do so for months if not for years to come. I have said that our participation in this war would simply add to bloodshed and prostration in Europe, and bring confusion to our own country. I have said that the United States is strong enough and able enough to protect itself, and that we in America do not have to depend upon any foreign country for our security and welfare.

"To these statements, and beliefs, I hold as firmly today as I have at any time in the past. Developments since the war started have already partially proved them correct; and I think that by the time the war ends, you will find I have in no way misled you.

Talks of Air Power.

"But tonight, I am going to lay aside the broader issues of the war, and talk to you about air power, its capabilities, its limitations, and its consequences. I have selected air power as my subject for two reasons; First, because of its great military importance, and second, because aviation has become a symbol of this modern, scientific, and mechanized era in which we live.

"Germany has used aviation to change the entire technique of warfare, both on land and on the sea. England is using aviation to strike back at a continent she is unable to invade. The American interventionists are using aviation to support their claim that the Atlantic ocean has dwindled to the size of the English channel. The administration is using aviation to justify the occupation of Iceland, to prepare the way for an occupation of Africa, and to add to the general hysteria of war. The capitalists are using aviation to make money, and the taxpayer is finding aviation a more and more expensive item on his bill.

Overseas Aviation.

"I spent many years of my life surveying and laying out air routes in North and South America, and across the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. One of the greatest problems I encountered in those years lay in the difficulty of persuading people that aviation was actually a practical form of transportation ;that, some day, this country would be spanned in a single night by passenger carrying air liners—and that, eventually, even the oceans themselves would be flown on regular schedule.

"That was only a little over 10 years ago. Now, I find myself in the novel position of arguing that aviation has certain limitations, as have all of the other inventions of man. Ten years ago, I was trying to convince the government and the people of this country that transoceanic passenger carrying was not only possible, but also practical. Today, I am trying to assure our government and our people that while transoceanic bombing is possible, it is not practical, and that the damage it could do on wartime standards would be slight.

Talk of Air Invasion.

"I find the same people who scoffed at trans-Atlantic air routes 10 years ago, now telling me that if the British empire does not win this war, the United States of America will be conquered by air invasions from Europe. They say that the world's two greatest oceans are no barrier to bombing planes, and that at any moment we may find transoceanic parachute troops raining down on the streets of our major cities. Our own President has talked about air invasions by way of ice capped Greenland and about others based on the jungles of Central and South America—incidentally, at cruising speeds that are far higher than any racing plane has yet attained.

"Well, 10 years ago, those of us who believe in aviation set out to make this country air minded. We seem to have succeeded, and now I suppose it is our job to get its feet safely back onto the ground. Now that we have become air minded our next problem is to learn how to operate aircraft to our best advantage.

Development Not Halted.

"But, from what I say here, do not gain the impression that aviation has reached its ultimate development. It has still far to go both in commerce and in war. The bombing plane will become more destructive, the pursuit plane more effective, and the commercial plane more efficient than they are today. It is even possible that the discovery of new sources of energy will permit us to build rocket planes, in the future, which will outperform the mythical bombers of our present day politicians and interventionists.

"With unlimited energy available, one can conceive of speeds limited only by the acceleration the human body can withstand. In that case, our descendants may some day accelerate half way across the ocean, and 'decelerate' the rest of the way across. If new sources of energy are discovered, the power of explosives also will increase. And then, in some future generation, fifty, or a hundred, or a thousand years from now, the United States may be as vulnerable to attack from Europe as England is today.

Not Concern of Present.

"Now, I am sure that many interventionists will feel that since we may some day harness the atom and travel in rockets, we should go to war immediately to make the world safe for whatever system of government exists in that unknown and distant time. But I am among those noninterventionists who feel that we have enough problems to solve in our own generation; and that if our grand children insist on splitting atoms and building rockets, it must be upon their own responsibility.

"I believe that our generation will have accomplished its duty if we pass on to our children a free and independent American heritage that is not too greatly burdened with the debts of war. And so, for the present, at least, I am willing to pass the atom and the rocket plane over to the interventionists, to hold in trusts for generations of the future.

"In discussing air power, we should start with the realization that man's conquest of the air will bring revolutionary changes to the entire world, and that the changes which take place in one portion of the world are bound to affect in some degree all other portions. Whatever affects America affects Europe and Asia; and, conversely, whatever affects Europe and Asia is bound to have more or less effect on America.

Significance of Air Power.

"Possibly we can appreciate the significance of air power better by considering the effect that sea power has had on the relationships and fortunes of nations. The comparison is not exact, but it is enlightening. And one must remember that aviation has developed as much in a generation as shipping developed over a period of centuries.

"Now when great changes in methods of warfare take place, history shows that empires and nations fall, and others rise instead. The important problem for us in this country to solve, is how to turn the changes of this modern era to our advantage, and how to avoid having them used against us.

"If we use air power intelligently we can increase our national safety, add to our standard of living, and improve the quality of our civilization. But if we do not use air power intelligently, if we expose ourselves unnecessarily, if we fail to understand its limitations as well as its advantages, if we allow some foreign nation to turn the developments of modern warfare against us, we may find our national safety in jeopardy, and our standard of living far lower than it is today. In fact, air power, if unintelligently handled, could bring the downfall of the very civilization which created it.

Air Power vs. Sea Power.

"After a careful study of this problem, both in America and Europe, over a period of years, I was forced to the conclusion that France and England were not in a position to win a war against Germany, and that the dominant position in Europe had shifted from England, as a sea power, to Germany, as a land and air power. The same study brought me to the conclusion that while aviation greatly strengthened our position in America from the standpoint of defense, it greatly weakened our position from the standpoint of attacking Europe.

"I based these conclusions upon many observations and facts. There is not time to outline all of them tonight, but I would like to bring some of the most outstanding to your attention:

"It was obvious, even before this war started, that air power made it costly, if not impossible, for naval forces to operate within effective bombing range of an enemy coast adequately protected by aircraft. This meant that troops could not be landed and maintained on any coast where an enemy had strong supremacy of the air. These facts have been confirmed by the results of naval and air battles off the coast of Norway, in the Skagerrak, in the North sea, off the coast of Greece, and in the vicinity of Sicily and Crete. Wherever sea power and air power have clashed during this war there is not a single instance where sea power has won.

Germans Ahead in Air.

"It was obvious, before the war started, that Germany had by far the strongest air force in Europe, and that air power could strike across the English channel and behind the Maginot line, regardless of the strength of the British navy or the French army. These facts, too, have been confirmed by the developments of the war.

"It was obvious that aviation, and the mechanization of ground forces, among other elements, placed Germany in a stronger position under Hitler than France was in under Napoleon.

"It was obvious that England lay within ideal bombing range of aircraft based on the continent of Europe, and that her sea lanes could be harassed both by submarines and bombing planes. German objectives, on the other hand, were farther removed from bases in the British Isles, so that even if England and Germany had equal numbers of fighting planes, the advantage would still lie with Germany.

America Outside Bombing Range.

"It was just as obvious that the great distance across the ocean placed America outside the effective bombing range of European aircraft, and that even if it were possible to establish European air bases in South America, which I believe we can prevent, the United States would still be outside of their effective bombing range.

"After I had traveled thru the various nations of Europe and Asia I came to the conclusion that there were two, and only two, great and natural air powers in the world at this time—the United States, in the western hemisphere, and Germany, in the eastern hemisphere. I was convinced that neither was in a position to attack the other successfully across the ocean, unless an internal collapse preceded an invasion. It seems clear to me that the quickest way for Germany to lose a war would be to attack America, and that the quickest way for America to lose a war would be to attack Germany.

"By way of illustration, suppose we should follow the lead of the interventionists and enter a war against Germany. In that case we must send the great bulk of our armies, and supplies, and fuel across the Atlantic ocean on ships—ships that would have to be built, for there are not enough in existence today.

"The vulnerability of shipping to bombing planes, raiders, and submarines has already been shown by British losses. Our convoys would be harassed in the Atlantic by Germany, and possibly in the Pacific by Japan at the same time. And under this harassment by bombing plane, raider, and submarine, we would have to find some way of forcing a landing on a hostile coast.

"We would have to force a landing against the prepared positions of the same army and air force that broke the Maginot line, and overcame the British, French, and Belgian armies combined. We might easily find ourselves fighting, at one and the same time, the military forces of Germany, Italy, France, Spain, Japan, and other nations, with the natural resources of Russia available to them.

England's Support Uncertain.

"And it is not at all inconceivable that before this war is over England herself may turn against us, as she has turned against France and Finland. Reasons are always found to justify whatever action a nation takes in time of war. It was no more improbable in 1939 that England would turn against Finland and France than it is today that she will turn against us if it becomes expedient to her welfare in the future.

"If you question my words now, I ask only that you read a history of the relationships between the United States and England during the last hundred and fifty years and that you combine with this a rereading of the pledges of everlasting loyalty that took place between England and France less than two years ago. If you do this I believe you will agree with me that we must depend upon ourselves and ourselves only for our security in the future.

Calls for Strong Defense.

"Now, instead of following the lead of the interventionists, suppose we concentrate on our own defenses, as I have advocated since long before this war began. I have maintained that if we attend properly to our own defense, no European or Asiatic power will dare to attack us; and that if we attend properly to our own affairs, none will desire to.

"But suppose that the fears of the interventionists come true, and we are attacked. In that case it would be our enemy, and not we, who would have to force a landing on a hostile coast. It would be our enemy, and not we, who would have to maintain supply lines across the ocean against the harassment of our bombing planes, our submarines, and our battleships. In that case we could use our own aviation to the utmost advantage, concentrate it within a few hours at any point on our shores, and basing it on established and well equipped air fields.

"If the British navy, with its bases strung out from Alexandria to Scapa Flow—if that navy, with Gibraltar and Malta to assist it cannot remain within bombing range of the European coast, then how can any navy, or any combination of navies, cross the ocean, and without a single base in this hemisphere, land an expeditionary force on American shores?

Calls Ocean Defense Stronger.

"Instead of reducing the value of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans from the standpoint of our security, aviation makes them more important than ever before. Air power practically removes the danger of attack by sea; and the oceans themselves prevent effective attacks by air.

"Let us take advantage of this fact. Let us take advantage of the changes that aircraft and this modern era bring to nations and to men. Let us use these changes to our advantage, and not permit them to be used against us. They can either strengthen our American independence, and add to the quality of our western civilization, or they can take us back into the endless wars and quarrels of the old world.

"The nation that makes use of these advantages will survive and the nation which fails to understand them is certain to fail. The choice is the test of America, and the way of life we have built up in this new world.

Perfect Defensive Position.

"We have the most perfect defensive position of any nation. We have highly developed industries, and an entire hemisphere full of natural resources. Here in America we have developed new standards of life and a new civilization; and our forefathers fought for the right to do so. Our entire national tradition is based on independence.

"Shall we now give up the independence we have won, and crusade abroad in a Utopian attempt to force our ideas on the rest of the world, or shall we use air power and other advances of modern warfare to guard and strengthen the independence of our nation? Shall we sell our American birthright for the mess of pottage that is offered us in Europe and Asia today; or shall we preserve for our children the free and independent heritage that our forefathers passed on to us?

Ideals of America First.

"The America First committee is an organization of men and women who stand firmly opposed to merging our future with that of any foreign land. We stand for a united nation behind an impregnable defense and an independent destiny for America. We stand for American traditions—for the right of free citizens to meet and to discuss the issues that confront their nation; for the right to know about and to vote upon the fundamental policies of our government. We stand for the right of those who will do the paying and the dying to also have a voice in the deciding.

"If you stand with us, we ask you to join our committee. Our strength is growing in every section of the country. But we need your assistance here in Oklahoma. We need your assistance that freedom, and independence, and representative government may continue to live in this nation."

Miss Minnesota

Miss Patricia Tietz of Minneapolis, who was recently chosen "Miss Minnesota," was in Chicago for a short time yesterday. She is on her way to Atlantic City, N. J., where she will represent her state in the beauty contest that elects "Miss America." Accompanied by her mother, she arrived on the Milwaukee road's Hiawatha train and left on the Pennsylvania's General.

Girl Is Rewarded

Mrs. Ann Krippahne (right), 1711 Juneway terrace, handing $50 reward check to Johan Donald, age 13, of 52 West Elm street.

An advertisment in Thursday's TRIBUNE yesterday enabled Mrs. Ann Krippahne, 1711 Juneway terrace, to recover an expensive brown alligator handbag and $1,500 in jewelry.

Mrs. Krippahne was taking the jewelry—a diamond ring, diamond studded wrist watch, brooch, and bracelet—to a loop store Wednesday to get it cleaned. It was in her bag and the bag was wedged between the front seat of her car and the car door. In front of 11 East Division street Mrs. Krippahne stopped to help a friend into her car. The bag slipped to the street unnoticed.

A few minutes later Johan Donald, 13 years old, 52 West Elm street, picked up the bag and took it to her home. Her mother called Mrs. Krippahne. Yesterday Johan was rewarded with a check for $50.

WAR FEVER PLAN BRANDED CHEAP AND RIDICULOUS

Air Raid Wardens? Silly! Says Legislator.

The heightened campaign to whip up war fever in the central west by appointing air raid wardens and aircraft spotters was decried yesterday as "amateur theatricals" by Elmer Schnackenberg, speaker of the state house of representatives and member of the Illinois State Council of Defense. Schnackenberg is chairman of the council's committee on local defense groups.

"All this hullabaloo about the urgent need for air raid wardens and such is just so much cheap propaganda and is likely to make more serious defense efforts, such as are being carried out by the state defense council, look silly and ridiculous," he declared.

Plans Already Prepared.

Plans for organizing groups of air raid wardens and volunteer workers similar to those in New York have been prepared by the Chicago office of the Defense Contract service, a division of the Office of Production Management. Bids for 420,000 buttons to be pinned to the wardens are to be issued soon.

"What the object of all this is I do not know," Schnackenberg said. "I do know that it's all pretty silly and seems to be devised to scare all of us. Why, only recently Lloyds of London offered odds of 1,000 to 1 against the possibility that Baltimore, Washington, or New York will be bombed. If that's so, what have we in the middle west to fear at this time?"

"Fantastic and Hysterical."

The claims of an imperative need for such action, as outlined persistently by Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York City, who is head of the division of civilian defense, were termed by Schnackenberg as "fantastic and hysterical."

"I'm not criticizing the defense program. I believe we're making great progress," Schnackenberg commented. "But it's things like this that hamper rather than help the general defense program. Our state defense council is well organized and equipped to handle the basic defense problems in Illinois and, should the need come—a possibility I'm inclined to doubt very much—for organizing groups of air raid wardens and the like, we're equipped to do that, too."

CANADA PICKS PRICE CONTROL BOARD; CURB ON TIME SALES HINTED

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 29 (AP).—The government tonight made the wartime prices and trade board the supreme authority in the field of price control thruout Canada and gave a reconstituted wartime industries controls control borad complete control of supply and allocation of commodities and materials essential to the war effort.

The new set up was announced in a joint statement issued by Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley and Munitions Minister C. D. Howe.

The statement gave a strong indication that the government may soon curb instalment purchases. Restriction of instalment buying, it said, "would appear to be in the national interests under wartime conditions."

China and Canada Agree on Diplomatic Missions

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 29 (AP).—The Chinese foreign office announced tonight that China and Canada had agreed to exchange diplomatic missions. China at present is represented in Canada only by consulates at Ottawa and Vancouver. The statement said the agreement was a sequel to negotiations initiated with the intention of linking the two countries more closely in an anti-aggression bloc.

CHIEF OF ILLINOIS VFW REINSTATED AT CONVENTION

Civil Action Threatened as Trial Aftermath.

BY THOMAS MORROW.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 29 [Special].—Earl Southard of Chicago, state commander of the Illinois Veterans of Foreign Wars, who had been suspended and court martialed, was reinstated today as a member in good standing of the VFW.

He was reinstated at a tumultous closing session of the national convention at which Joseph I. Menendez of New Orleans, La., VFW national commander, made public the court martial decision against him. As reported, the verdict found Southard guilty and called for a reprimand by the national commander.

Altho he had been charged with disloyalty to the United States because of his opposition to what he described as the Roosevelt administration's war moves, Southard was found guilty on a charge of conduct prejudicial to good order. He had been suspended by Menendez and tried in Chicago by a court of 11 past state commanders.

Suspension Is Revoked.

"The trial court martial has found the accused guilty," Menendez told the convention. "As commander in chief, I approve the findings of the court. The court recommends reprimand. I concur in that finding."

Then Menendez announced he was revoking Southard's suspension. The reprimand consisted of a statement that Southard should conduct himself in a manner to be worthy of membership in the VFW.

Questioning disclosed that Southard had left for Chicago. Then William J. Grace, past state commander of Illinois and Southard's attorney in the court martial, demanded and was granted the floor.

Holds Free Speech Involved.

"We're getting a lesson in comradeship today that is not in the ritual," Grace said. "I think I have the right to give the true facts of this matter. If the commander overrules me, I ask that you sustain me."

He was interrupted by John McKeon of the Bronx, N. Y.

"I want to know whether you appointed a committe to investigate these charges," McKeon asked Menendez. When Menendez hesitated, McKeon shouted: "I want an answer to my question."

"No," Menendez told him.

"Then, in view of the fact that you did not follow procedure, how could you hold a court martial when you violated the laws of the organization?" McKeon demanded.

Menendez said he did not believe an investigating committee necessary, and Jack Dugan of Bloomington, Ill., shouted a request to know what specific charge had been made against Southard.

Basis of Charge Told.

Menendez explained Southard had permitted his name to be fixed to a handbill which said the lend-lease bill is unconstitutional and held that it called for "no obedience." The handbill was put out by the Citizens "Keep America Out of War Committee."

"This is an attack on me too," Grace told the convention. "I'm an officer of that committee, and I'd like a chance to state its purposes."

The chairman refused to allow the statement.

"I'm going to take this thing to the civil and criminal courts," Grace said after he left the floor. "I'm going to place libel charges against every one in the organization who handled these charges—from top to bottom."

The convention closed with the election of officers. Max Singer of Brighton, Mass., senior vice commander in chief, became national commander. There were no contests, and other officers chosen are Robert T. Merrill, Havre, Mont., senior vice commander; Philip O. Solon, Oakland, Cal., judge advocate, and Carl J. Schoeninger, Detroit, Mich., junior vice commander.

SOUTHARD HITS ACTION.

Southard, who flew here from Philadelphia to attend a Citizens' Keep America Out of War rally in the La Salle hotel, last night confirmed Attorney Grace's statement that he would not accept reprimand and reinstatement, and that libel charges would be made against the men who court martialed him.

"The little Joe Stalins all over the country trying to suppress freedom of speech have found that it is not easy to do in America," Southard said. "This smear campaign was imported. It is not American. Every one has a right to his opinion. Today the good Americans—those who are trying to perpetuate our republic—are the ones who are being smeared by alien minded people with a divided allegiance."

Spurns Reconciliation

MRS. WILLIAM J. THURN.

When William J. Thurn, 27 years old, complained of too much father-in-law interference in his marriage, Judge William J. Lindsay suggested a "crack on the jaw" as a remedy. Thurn had been haled into court on the separate maintenance petition of his wife, Margaret, 19 years old, 1309 West 71st place.

Attorney Sol R. Friedman said the couple had married last May 30 and had separated on June 20. He said the "crack on the jaw" remedy might not be wise as Thurn's father-in-law, John Bray, is secretary and treasurer of a coal drivers and helpers' union. Judge Lindsay granted Mrs. Thurn a divorce after she spurned a suggested reconciliation. She charged cruelty.

SPEARHEAD TANK BRIGADE PLANNED IN NEW ZEALAND

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Aug. 29—Adoption of a plan to create an armored spearhead for New Zealand's fighting forces has been revealed by Defense Minister M. F. Jones with announcement of the creation of an army tank brigade for operations abroad.

The minister said this was part of a general reorganization and modernization of New Zealand's forces. He revealed that an armored fighting vehicle school is to be established, and that experienced officers and noncommissioned officers now serving abroad would be brought back here to form an instructional staff.

EXPERT SAYS U. S. IS IMPREGNABLE TO SEA INVASION

Asserts Bombers Alone Can Prevent It.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—The United States is impregnable to invasion. This is the most important lesson of the European war, Lieut. Col. Thomas R. Phillips of the general staff corps writes in the current issue of Army Ordnance.

Lieut. Col. T. R. Phillips.

"Even if the United States had no harbor defenses it would be impregnable to invasion," Col. Phillips said. "And this still would be true if our navy were inferior to that of an invading power.

"The bomber has made the American coast impregnable to invasion. This is the most important military fact that can be deduced from the European war."

Air Power Beats Sea Power.

Col. Phillips cited Prime Minister Churchill's admission to parliament that "intense, continuous bombings" prevented the success of the British counter invasion of Norway. There were no harbor defenses at Namsos and Aandalsnes, where the British troops tried to land.

There were not even any German troops to offer opposition at these ports, the colonel recalled. The German victory was one of air power over a sea-borne invasion which had no aerial support.

"It might be thought rash to conclude from a single example that impregnability to a sea-borne invasion could be considered as proved," Col. Phillips continued. "The British effort at Norway was a very special case, however, in which every factor, except readiness, perhaps, favored the invader.

Discusses U. S. Invasion.

"If the conditions under which an invasion would have to be attempted against the United States are visualized, it will be seen that the problem of invading this country would be infinitely more difficult than was the British problem of landing troops in Norway.

"Leaving aside naval interference, imagine a convoy of 40 to 50 troop ships crossing 3,000 miles of ocean toward the United States. The departure of such an invading force could not be kept secret. Our defending bombers would start attacking it a thousand miles from the coast.

"The attacks would grow in intensity as the convoy approached. The invasion might not be stopped before it reached the coast, but it would be badly damaged.

Impossible, He Says.

"Imagine, then, this convoy attempting to come into a harbor and remaining practically stationary for days in narrow waters with the entire bombing force available to the United States working on it.

"The picture is incredible. The invasion would be doomed. No military leader would ever think of making such an attempt.

"What leader would be willing to risk thousands of men packed like sardines in a transport under bombing conditions that can be visualized. Churchill would not. And if these transports had to come across an ocean to be met with enormously more intense bombing, no leader would consider it. The whole business of invasion across the sea against ample land based air power is no longer in the book of possibilities."

public hearings and a week of study by the finance committee. Leaving the committee room, Senator Bailey [D., N. C.], remarked that "every one says this bill will kill the goose that laid the golden egg."

"But," replied Democratic Leader Barkley with a smile, "it is a very good goose."

Altho completing its work on the bill, the committee arranged to meet Tuesday to restudy its language and make any technical changes deemed necessary. It was agreed unanimously, however, that no further important changes would be considered.

Barkley said the measure would be called up for senate debate Wednesday and predicted the chamber would approve the bill substantially in its present form by next week-end.

Seek Nondefense Slash.

Among other changes, the finance group wrote into the bill an amendment by Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] setting up a special 14-man committee to study methods of cutting down nondefense expenditures.

Questioned about the Byrd amendment at his press conference today, President Roosevelt said that nonessential spending could be reduced and added that he had advocated such a course for a long time. But, said the President, he did not pass the appropriation bills.

Under the Byrd amendment the secretary of the treasury and the director of the budget bureau would be members of the special investigating committee. Other members would be senate and house appropriations and tax committeemen.

Save Our Republic

OUT OF CHAOS INTO DICTATORSHIP.

Mr. Roosevelt's various councils of commissars have a new presidium. It is to be known as SPAB, which is Russian for Supply Priorities and Allocations Board. This new instrument of government by edict instead of government by law is piled on top of all the others which Mr. Roosevelt, as America's lawgiver, has created from time to time. By authority vested in himself by himself, Mr. Roosevelt has set up more instruments of government in two years than congress has in 20. Now congress is left sitting on the hill and it can read about the new governments in the newspapers.

SPAB, the seven-man presidium, is to have authority to allocate the supply of materials, fuel, power, and all other commodities in the United States and to fix priorities for military, lend-lease, economic warfare, and civilian uses. Congress hasn't given the executive department the authority to allocate materials, power, and all commodities which go into American use. That's the greatest assumption of power possible to conceive and it is an assumption.

There is nothing in Nazi Germany or communist Russia which exceeds it. This country has come to the point where its chief executive takes unto himself the control of American life in every particular. He will have every business man waiting upon the word of an agent of completely dictatorial government for the materials with which he can conduct his affairs and run his industry.

More than that, if not checked and brought back into the framework of the American constitution, Mr. Roosevelt will, if and when he cares to do so, determine what the American household may have, what the citizens may wear and eat, and where they may go. He has assumed the authority to dictate hours in which they can light their homes, the temperature at which they can keep their rooms, the use they may make of their automobiles, when and how they can purchase household appliances, and what appliances they may have and at what price.

He has taken to himself the prerogative of determining how long a suit of clothes or a dress or a hat shall be worn, how long an automobile, a washing machine or any other household appliance shall continue in use. These are not extravagant or imaginary statements. Leon Henderson is the No. 1 man under Mr. Roosevelt in this new government. As No. 1 commissar he has explained the plan in an article in the current American Magazine, in which he says:

"The wastes of inflation, of spiraling prices, you can prevent in part. For one thing, if you own an automobile, a refrigerator, or a washing machine you can take good care of it to make it last longer. Then you won't be bidding up prices in the market by buying a new one. You can cut down your electric bill by not wasting electric power. You can cut down your food bill by buying intelligently and with discipline. You can use substitutes for things that are scarce. You can do without gewgaws and gadgets that aren't vital to sound living. [It hurts me to say this, since I'm a sucker for a gadget.] You can learn again how much fun it is to hike with your kids or play with them in the back yard instead of driving to town or just driving."

Mr. Henderson is endeavoring to be confidential, sympathetic, and explanatory in a kindly fashion, but in the form of suggestions he is laying down the law, and that is the law as handed down by Mr. Roosevelt, the lawgiver. When did congress enact Mr. Henderson's ideas into statutes? When did it put Mr. Roosevelt's edicts into the law books? When did it say that he had these edictal powers? When did it say he could of his own will and by his own decision create the agencies which will govern the people as they never have been governed before?

Congress has sinned much by submission and compliance, but it hasn't enacted all these monstrosities into the law of the land. It hasn't made Mr. Roosevelt the supreme, unlimited, and unqualified authority in the United States. Mr. Roosevelt's proclamations and edicts destroy the republican form of government in this country. He has made himself a supreme ruler and enhances himself as he wishes by fiat and ukase. Congress seems to have been taking this dumbly and the people certainly are bewildered. It is their great danger that they do not see how steadily the dictatorial power has been extended over them.

SPAB is intended, it is said, to straighten out the confusion, rightly called the chaos, in armament production and the general business of the country. That there is a chaotic state of affairs is quite true. The condition is here because the men running the country have intended to create it. They haven't intended to carry out a defense program; they have intended to disorganize the country's industries and finance and lay them prostrate. That has been their purpose for eight years and it is now ripening in their hands.

Nothing which would conduce to national defense has been done the way a sincere and wise government would have done it. Everything has been done in such a fashion as to create the greatest disturbances in private industry and private life. These are not mistakes. They are intentions. And as the consequences pile up new schemes that are worse are devised.

Congress must perform its duty under the constitution. It must not allow the country to suffer from the creation of a dictatorship which takes over the nation, under the pretense of national unity and at the instigation of people of different motives, none of which is for the good of the United States or for the preservation of its form of government.

DEFENDING AMERICA FROM THE AIR.

Among the photographs which reached this office from Europe a few days ago was one, taken from an airplane, showing a German supply ship on fire and sinking off the Dutch coast. Numerous pictures of this sort, coming from both camps, have been published. They tell an important story. They epitomize a change in the character of warfare, which is of tremendous significance to us in America.

The German ship in the photograph had succumbed to airplane attack. There were no surface ships of the British navy in sight. The world has no means of knowing where the navy is, but everybody knows where it isn't. It isn't hovering off the coast of Europe. In a long series of combats ranging from Norway by way of Dunkirk to Crete the fact has been established that the odds against the fleet are too heavy if it can be attacked with land-based airplanes.

To whatever extent the waters close to the continent are being patroled by the British, it is the air arm which is doing the work. German supply ships, operating alone or in convoy, are being attacked from the air. The centuries old concept of a tight blockade by surface vessels has been abandoned as wholly impractical. The risks are too great. The costs are too high. The navies operate where the bombers can't get at them.

For us in America the lesson is that with an adequate air force based on our coasts, we have no reason to fear invasion. We know that torpedo carrying planes can account for battleships. We know that airplanes can find battleships and sink them. We know that level bombers and dive bombers can play havoc with merchant ships singly and in convoy.

We could feel secure if we had no other reliance than a strong and well trained air force. An army of invasion from Europe or Asia must come in surface ships and so must its supplies. Surface ships cannot live beneath a hostile air force if it knows its business. Accordingly, all that we need, strictly speaking, for our defense is an air force. Its mere existence would discourage all thought of invasion. Our position would be doubly secure if, in addition, we had a highly trained and well equipped army of reasonable strength. We can afford it and in common sense we should have it.

HE HAS THE BOOKS.

The President, asked to comment on a recent Tribune story of misuse of lend-lease funds, characterized it and all similar accounts as vicious rumors, distortions of fact, or falsehoods. Warming to his subject, he said such stories are plain, dirty falsehoods.

The story in question had been obtained from reliable congressional sources and had stated, among other things, that British officials were reported to have run up a bill of $30,000 at an ultrafashionable restaurant in Washington. Mention was made also of the use of lend-lease funds to acquire air-conditioning apparatus for British officials quartered in a Washington hotel. This information had come from naval officers.

All that need be said in comment at this time is that the information came from responsible sources and that the account books are in Mr. Roosevelt's possession. If the charges are without foundation, the account books and collateral papers might be expected to disclose the fact, provided he will throw them open to examination in the public interest. The common-sense principle, recognized in the common law, is that a denial from the fellow who has the books in his possession and won't open them to examination doesn't carry much weight.

THE LINGO OF AN ALIEN MIND.

"Appeasement" is a word of foreign controversy and diatribe. It has never had any native use here. We have never tried to appease any one. We have tried to deal fairly and, in other times than these, to stand up for our own rights. We have no one to appease now.

The use of this word in American debate reveals an alien mind aping another lingo as well as a foreign thought. When an interventionist calls an American an "appeaser" he is wearing a foreign livery and speaking in an alien idiom. There isn't any such word in the American language in the sense in which it is used and there isn't any need of it.

Editorial of the Day

[Washington Post.]

Tho he was not without some other claims to distinction, Charlie Murray, who died last Tuesday at Hollywood, will be remembered by the middle aged as one of the late Mack Sennett's famous Keystone comedy troupe, whose antics were the delight of the nickelodeon audiences a quarter century ago. It was a company that included Charlie Chaplin of the mournful and profitable pan, Ben Turpin of the strabismic stare, and also Fatty Arbuckle and Mabel Normand, whose private and professional lives came afterward to such unhappy passes. Mr. Sennett's troupe was remarkable for two great contributions to American culture—the bathing beauty as represented by Miss Normand, and the Keystone Kop as represented by Mr. Murray and others.

For reasons which the social historian might find it worth his while to explore, only the bathing beauty has survived to become a permanent national institution. And yet in the beginning she was hardly more than a detail in that world made of pie custards, blank cartridges, banana peels, and cement troughs thru which the Keystone Kops in their patrol wagons and Black Marias incessantly careened. The curious thing is that, with all their chasing, the Keystone Kops rarely or never caught anybody, or, if they did, it was no time at all before he was loose again for the chase to begin anew. In short, the Keystone Kops were as ineffectual as they were grotesque. And therein, perhaps, lay the secret of their charm. For in those days the latent anarchism, that perverse genius, noted by Kipling, that ". . . makes him flout the law he makes;

That makes him make the law he flouts" had not entirely disappeared from the American character. It was hardly possible in those days to conceive the policeman as anything but a comic figure. "The Law" is no longer, by definition, an ass. In the past 25 years the policeman has become an ubiquitous figure, often benignant, sometimes grim, but always deadly serious, whose duties touch in innumerable ways the life of every citizen. We have also seen the rise of the great modern police states, and, whatever else we may think of them, we find them anything but comic.

MR. PEPYS STAYS AT HOME.

30th Aug.—Comes now the Labor day week-end, when all citizens who have been on vacations come buzzing back home over the highways, and all the other citizens who have remained in town go buzzing forth over the highways, and every one is trying to have a high old time without mangling the fenders of their cars. To avoid which I shall stay at home, as is my custom. Mayhap if the weather is warm I will go to the lake in my bathrobe and take my first and last swim of the summer in memory of other years when I would buffet the surges mightily every day, and sometimes I would manage to swim as far as a quarter of a block without yelling for the lifeguard.

Will say good-by to August cheerfully, for it has been a long, dull month in which I have done fewer things, and met fewer friends, and got fewer letters, and answered fewer telephone calls than ever before. In casting up my acounts I note that in this August I have also spent less money than ever before, which is the only blessing the month has brought me, except the football game between Arch Ward's college All-Stars and George Halas' T-bone steak eaters last Thursday night, a great occasion for all sportsmen.

After reading about the new taxes I felt a thrifty mood come upon me and took an old felt chapeau out to be cleaned and refurbished, and the man in the shop grinned and said, "You'll be needing this soon." When I got home I took my football binoculars out of the drawer where they have hidden for nine months and said to them, "I'll be needing you soon."

Now to crawl into my shell for the Labor day week-end, and when I come out of it the month of August will be gone where the woodbine twineth and I will say cheerily, "Life begins in September."

REVOLT IN THE CRADLE.

My name is Pudgy-Wudgums-Doll; I am a cutie pie.
Eyes of blue, barely two, quite a girl am I.
My mommy picks me up and says, "Oo bwessed wittle tot, Oo are so very booful that I wuv oo quite a wot."
My daddy says, "Well, how's my ittie sugar wump today?"
And what my grandpa calls me I would rather not say,
Then Grandma S. and Grandma M. say, "Wasn't her a bird?"
And all the awful baby talk that I have ever heard.
Now I could imitate them and say, "Snookie-ookie-boo,"
But I'd rather just speak English if it's all the same to you.

Just a Lot of Signboards.

What did I hear you say? No such word as Uptown? [Aug. 26.] Go north, young man, and gaze reverently at the Uptown theater; stand at salute before the Uptown postoffice; make a bow to the Uptown branch of the public library; kowtow to the Uptown State bank; lift your hat to the Uptown-Edgewater Civic league, and apply for membership in the Central Uptown Business Men's association. To escape from it all, take an elevated train at the Uptown station, and to hasten your flight read what the Uptown News is saying about you. H. A. Best.

A Glance Into the Future.

When all of this fuss or whatever you call it is over, I'll be a nice little old lady and not worry about pots, pans, lipstick, and all they tried to take away. I'll just grin and bear it when I hear my grandchildren say, "Grandma, did you have to go thru all of this stuff, too, in your days? Why, we're still paying for what happened in your time!" Then I'll smile sweetly without any false teeth [they needed the bridges for Defense] and answer, "Child, you haven't seen nothing yet!"

DREAMS NEVER DIE.

We talked of little houses,
And walks of cobblestones,
Of sterling silver flatware,
Expensiveness of phones,
Of driving to your office,
About an extra room,
The storage on my fur coat
We'd buy before the boom.
We knew we were two mortals;
We wanted just a try.
Today I'm here alone—but
Our dreams will never die.

Now Is the Time to Solve a Mystery.

While breaking in a new typewriter ribbon with the proverbial "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party," it occurred to me that the Line might be the place to discover who originated the sentence as typing practice, and why.

There are a lot of trial sentences, such as "The quick, brown fox jumped over the lazy dog," used because they contain each letter of the alphabet. But there is nothing about the "party" line to explain its use. Sister Irene.

Hair as gold as the sun-kissed sands,
Eyes as gray as a steady sea,
Glance as brief as a baby's sigh,
But, O, what it did to me!

Unknown to him, for a little while
I forgot life's care and all its strife,
Wrapt in the sunniness of his smile

Nature, It's Wonderful.

Count the number of times a cricket chirps in 15 seconds and add 37. You will then have the temperature of the air. This formula was first worked out by the late Dr. Frost, the Sage of the Yerkes Observatory at Lake Geneva, after he had gone blind and needed a hobby.

MOTHS AND OTHER INSECTS MAY CAUSE ASTHMA.

MOST of us number among our acquaintances one, at least, who is susceptible to dog, horse, or cat fur. Many who are perfectly free from the slightest indication of asthma, suffer "wheezy" breathing abruptly on entering a stable. Emanations from animals must, therefore, be considered in tracking down the cause of allergy.

Recently, two Philadelphia physicians called attention to the importance of insects, particularly moths, butterflies, caddis flies, and May flies. They assert that the hairs and scales of some of these forms shed easily during flight, and that the wind can carry the dust. A single moth miller may emit more noxious material than a stalk of timothy when in full bloom. In fact, bits of dust, caught on plates [for counting purposes] have shown a profusion of particles from this source. On certain days they will exceed the number of pollen grains.

How about house flies and bees? Fortunately, these buzzers do not cast off cells from their bodies readily and, hence, are far less harmful. On the other hand, the ordinary moth which attacks woolen clothing may be responsible for a case of hypersensitiveness which may be most annoying.

More than 25 years ago an entomologist [bug expert], working in New Mexico, developed hay fever symptoms followed by asthmatic attacks. His seizures were traced finally to dust from the floor of the cabin, where the insects were kept. Skin tests showed sharp reactions [redness] to practically all types in the collection. As some of us have learned to our sorrow, the spines of caterpillars will produce hives. Now and then, persons working in gardens experience discomfort traceable to butterflies.

From the University of Michigan comes a report that beetles may give off enough protein to bring on signs of "hay fever." A man of 40 had exhibited occasional paroxysms of asthma since childhood. Tests disclosed scores of substances which gave positive reactions, especially house dust and bird feathers. Beetle extract, much to the surprise of every one, produced severe irritation, particularly when blown into the nose. This patient was relieved by immunizing doses plus the avoidance of the "hard-shelled" beasties.

We may look upon most of our bug bites—those which swell and cause discomfort—as sensitivity responses. Those who apparently have no reaction must be considered immune. Water fleas, in like fashion, may be responsible for bronchial upsets—if the crustaceans are inhaled. In one case a 30 year old man had been troubled with asthma since he was 12 years of age. On one occasion, despite efforts to shun house dust and other routine causes, he suffered three acute episodes, each of which persisted for several days.

It was then discovered that he was a tropical fish fan, possessing several large tanks in his home. The first hint was given when he stated that each time he visited a dealer's establishment to purchase fish food, he felt worse. One of the articles consisted of water fleas [Daphnia]. He was tested with an extract of this form and large swellings appeared on the skin. Since he has kept away from these delectable edibles [for finny tribesmen] he has encountered no further difficulty.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

AN EDUCATIONAL SHIFT.

Wilmette, Ill., Aug. 28.—Young men of college age in Chicagoland suddenly have taken a hand in their own education significantly. For years THE TRIBUNE has been an advocate of the ROTC. Word has been coming back from the training posts that the boys who took training in high school and college have found that training has stood them in hand. They are the ones who have the commissions. At the same time the demand in industry for workers who can use their hands has had an important effect.

As a result of these influences there has been such a switch in both opinion and demands in education that the action of the young men almost constitutes a movement. Under the urge to get better berths in the army, navy, or air forces, or to avoid the draft, a remarkable number of young men have deserted the liberal arts colleges and the promise of later employment in the professions or in business administration, and have flocked to technical schools. Many of them have reasoned it was no longer worth while to complete traditional academic courses when they shortly would be drafted. Others have gone toward aviation because of the glamor of it and because after the war they may be able to use their experience in commercial aviation.

Students are talking of one poll of colleges which indicated an estimated 15 per cent decline in prospective registration in liberal arts work.

The colleges themselves have been working on the prospects of reduced budgets.

The national government, thru the educational forces in WPA, CCC, and NYA groups has started what prominent educators have said is a system of federal schools paralleling our public schools.

The NYA alone has 22 technical boarding schools in Illinois alone. Of these 14 are for boys.

It would seem to the layman that these phenomena may point to an evolution in educational planning which can hardly be avoided by educational leaders, the tax supporters of schools and colleges, and the beneficiaries of education themselves.

FORWARD MARCH; REST!

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Place: Foster avenue. Time: 1 p. m. yesterday. The line-up: Captain, right guide, two "red flag" bearers, two carriers of the pick, and four top sergeants—total company of 10 big huskies. Object: Lifting a small cast iron lid in the street, peek in, close the lid, command "fall in," but none did—hole too small.

This army of 10 huskies marched from hole to hole but evidently could not find the gopher or the "cax" or whatever they were looking for. They finally arrived at the water department supply wagon one block up the street. "Company" rest. C. W. B.

THE SONG AND JOE STALIN.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—I was horrified at Winston Churchill's speech. Such hypocrisy! "Onward, Christian Soldiers" with bloody Joe Stalin. Keep up your good work to keep us out of war.

INCOME OF RAILROADS.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—The professor of finance at Northwestern university, in a letter to your paper, feels that the railroads are financially unable to grant the wage increase which railroad employés must have to meet the ever increasing cost of food, shelter, clothing, and taxes.

The financial page of the same issue of THE TRIBUNE reports railroad earnings for the first seven months of 1941, also 1940. To quote but a few:

	1941	1940
C. & N. W.	$ 9,717,000	$ 2,145,000
Rock Island	10,495,000	3,196,000
No. Pacific	9,640,000	5,146,000
Wabash	5,336,000	1,274,000
Mo. Pacific	12,010,000	4,000,000
B. & O.	27,088,000	14,585,000
Santa Fe	20,343,000	9,433,000
Pennsylvania	62,260,000	43,332,000

It has been estimated that the total income of all railroads for 1941 will probably be $800,000,000 more than in 1940—this may prove to be a conservative estimate.

The railroads did more business in 1940 than they did in 1930, with 500,000 fewer employés and a pay roll that was down $600,000,000.

Railroad workers have not received a wage increase since 1937. Today their pay is but slightly higher than it was more than 20 years ago. Note the following figures on day's pay.

Conductors [Passenger]	$7.00	$7.64
Conductors [Local Freight]	6.96	7.62
Conductors [Thru Freight]	6.44	7.06
Brakemen and Flagmen
[Passenger]	5.00	5.49
[Local Freight]	5.52	6.07
[Thru Freight]	5.12	5.64
Yard Helpers	6.48	7.06
Yard Foremen	6.96	7.58
Switchtenders	5.04	5.51

LIGHT ON DRAFTEES' LIFE.

Fort Ord, Cal., Aug. 25.—I am a young attorney from Chicago who entered the army in the first draft.

For nine months there have been numerous articles written about life in an army camp. Some reports have been good, some bad, but none seemed to have hit the core of the situation until a recent article in Life magazine was published.

We have been doing work here that a WPA company would disdain to do. Our officers are of a caliber which has possibilities of leadership, but usually the key men in the company are not interested in the welfare of their men but in their own progress in the army. Our entertainment is negligible, and when we go on maneuvers all the surrounding towns double and redouble their prices. The morale of the boys is very low due to the fact that they are not doing soldiers' work and to the fact that they realize they are helping no one by being in the army.

If each newspaper would send an investigator to every camp in the United States these facts would soon be verified.

P. H. B.

WHY NOT A CALL AT HINES?

Oak Park, Ill., Aug. 28.—I wanted to tell Beaverbrook before he returned home, to take the duke of Kent back with him, to visit the basket ward at Hines hospital. Maybe that would suggest to them not to expect us "over there" again.

DISGUSTED OAK PARKER.

THE PEOPLE ARE SOVEREIGN.

Albion, Mich., Aug. 26.—As I am still a sovereign citizen of Michigan, your editorial, "Michigan Is Not a State," burns me up. Do you imply that the state, the federal state, the Washington government, is sovereign rather than the people? This is the fair implication from your language and it is just too bad that most people are becoming resigned to this oft repeated fallacy.

National sovereignty is a myth. The only reality in the United States is the sovereign citizen. Instead of bemoaning the loss of the fallacious sovereignty of the state of Michigan you should exhort the sovereign citizens to exert their sovereign powers and defend their sovereign selves. Why aid the enemy?

CARL A. ROSS.

Lake Linden, Mich., Aug. 27.—Michigan is still a state in spite of your editorial, "Michigan Is Not a State."

You say: "A state has laws and enforces them. It protects people in their rights. It permits them to work and defends their persons and property. It has organized forces competent to do this and on occasion it calls on these forces to suppress lawlessness and give security to the law abiding."

Your description omits an essential point: A state levies and collects taxes. In this respect, the state of Michigan, whatever her shortcomings, is very much alive. If you don't believe it, come up here and find out for yourself. J. E. B.

$10 ON THE BARREL HEAD.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—It is evident that the union racketeers have the nod of the head to bleed the waitresses and other kitchen help in our leading hotels and cafés. The initiation fee is $10 on the barrel head and no instalments. "Join up or get out" is the word going around. The smaller establishments have been milked dry by wholesale initiation fees, and with no visible benefits to either employé or employer.

The $2 a month dues which comes after initiation is only chicken feed to the boys of the golden promises. A READER.

MARRIAGE BY PROXY.

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 20.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A person asks me whether one may be married by proxy in this country or in any country.

E. C.

Marriages could be contracted by proxy under the Roman law and under English law until the 18th century. Presumably the same rules hold in such of our states as have not by statute required a ceremony or the presence of the parties. See Schouler on Marriage, etc., 6th Edition, Sec. 1212. The Illinois statute, however, by using the words "celebrate" and "solemnize" implies the necessity for a ceremony with the physical presence of the parties. We are confident that if news accounts of proxy marriages were followed up, it would be found that in a large proportion of the cases an ordinary civil ceremony is celebrated later. In other words, well informed and careful persons do not take chances on the validity of such an important step.

BAR REJECTS 13 SUPERIOR COURT JUDGES IN POLL

7 Backed for Re-election; Pension Law a Factor.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Announcement yesterday of the Chicago Bar association's second poll of its membership on the fitness for renomination of 20 Superior court judges whose terms expire this year astonished both the bench and the bar.

Only 7 of the 20 received the 70 per cent vote required for the association's recommendation that they be renominated.

Only five others received the support of more than 50 per cent—a majority—of those voting upon their candidacies.

Of those who received less than a majority, there were four who received support from less than 25 per cent of those voting on their candidacies—whose renomination was opposed by more than 3 to 1.

Reversal Traced to New Law.

The outcome was such a contrast to a similar expression in a questionnaire poll taken last May that officers of the association used unusual emphasis in explaining that the change resulted from an act of the last regular session of the general assembly which was signed by Gov. Dwight H. Green on July 21—several weeks after the last poll was taken.

This new law revised the judicial pension system of the state, liberalizing it greatly. The old law provided merely that after his 65th birthday a judge who had served 20 years was entitled to half pay or $7,500 a year upon his retirement. The new act dropped the minimum age to 60 years, and provided for half pay after 18 years, and a reducing scale of pensions for 17 years' service, for 15 years' service, and for 12 years' service. The 12 year pensioner is entitled to one-fourth pay, or $3,750 a year.

Board Orders New Poll.

Because of the sweeping change made in the situation by this legislation, members of the association urged that a new poll be taken and one was ordered by the board of managers. In connection with it the members were given full information concerning the liberalized pension scales and the ages and length of service of the twenty jurists whose terms are expiring.

Three questions were submitted in connection with 11 judges now entitled to pensions. They asked whether the association member approved of each judge's record on the bench, whether the judge "should retire" under the new pension system, and whether he should be renominated.

In announcing the outcome, President Lloyd D. Heth of the association emphasized that in their replies to the first question its members "highly commended able judges for excellence in judicial service, expressed their approval of many of the judges and positive disapproval of others."

Oppose Service in Advanced Age.

"By their votes," he said, "the members have indicated their belief that judicial service should not be extended into advanced age, notwithstanding the excellence of past service, and have also indicated that advantage should likewise be taken of this new law when judicial service has not attained the high standard to which the bar expects of the bench."

The seven judges who received 70 per cent of the vote cast on their candidacies and thereby were recommended for renomination were Judges John F. Haas, John J. Lupe, and Robert C. O'Connell, Republicans, and James F. Fardy, Joseph A. Graber, John C. Lewe, and Ulysses S. Schwartz, Democrats. The five who rated between 50 per cent and 70 per cent were Judges William H. McSurely, Republican, and Rudolph F. Desort, John P. McGoorty, John M. O'Connor, and Peter H. Schwaba, Democrats.

President Heth emphasized the fact that altho they did not attain 70 per cent on the question of renomination Judges McGoorty, McSurely, and O'Connor received an overwhelming vote approving their records.

Cow Has 3d Set of Twins

A most unusual mother is Rosy, the grade Guernsey cow on the farm of L. A. Hibner, six miles southwest of Joliet. In the last three years she has given birth to three sets of twins. All but one of the twins are still alive and on the farm. The new calves are only a month old and both are bulls. The first set of twins were a bull and heifer. The second set were both heifers. The farm, consisting of 300 acres, is run by Clark Johnson. Twins are unusual for cows, and it is quite a rarity for one cow to have twins three successive times.

Bar Association's Vote on Judges

The following tabulation shows the results of the Chicago Bar association's poll of its membership on the question of the renomination of 20 judges of the Superior court of Cook county whose terms expire this year. A second vote was taken because of a legislative revision of the judicial pension system along liberal lines.

ROBBERY GANG SEIZED; TWO OF THEM PAROLEES

Young Outlaws Led by Older Man.

A band of young outlaws directed by an older man, whose forays netted them more than $5,000, was rounded up yesterday by police. In the gang were two parolees from the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles and a former inmate of the Dwight Reformatory for Women. Two other St. Charles parolees are being sought.

The gang operated under a system devised by Thomas Cody, 39 years old, a former bakery wagon driver. Cody boasted of being the chieftain. He said he assigned one of the gang members, John Ashley, 17, of 9568 South Peoria street, to steal automobiles which were used by the others to commit robberies. Cody supplied the guns and ammunition. After each robbery, Cody received from 10 to 25 per cent of the proceeds.

Gang Member Gets Careless.

Carelessness by young Ashley led to the gang's downfall. On Aug. 19 he went to a loop parking lot after closing time and found a note on one of the cars directing the owner to go to a tavern at 649 South Clark street for the keys. Ashley posed successfully as the owner and stole the car, but on last Tuesday, when he tried to repeat this performance with another automobile, he was seized by Sam Madia, the bartender in the tavern, and held for the police.

Ashley implicated his associates. Yesterday, Detectives James Derrig, Adolph Izenstark, James Reedy, and Andrew Collins went to a home at 2838 South Wells street where they arrested Michael Rospapa, 17, a St. Charles parolee; John Vladovic, 17, who admitted he was the leader of the robbery division, and Anton Bulvydis, 28, of 2901 Quinn street.

Five Loaded Guns Found.

At 3931 Drexel avenue the police found Cody, Mary Rospapa, 25, Michael's sister, who served a term in 1934 at Dwight reformatory for burglary, and Stanley Bajic, another St. Charles alumnus. Five loaded revolvers were found in Cody's apartment. In the Rospapa home was a rifle, three revolvers, two boxes of shells, a cash box taken in one of the robberies, and a wallet.

One of the places robbed was the Vienna Baking company, 1212 Congress street, where $700 was taken last Aug. 2. Cody, according to the police, formerly was employed there. Other robberies averaged about $300 apiece.

The arrest of Mary Rospapa recalled the robbery of her parole sponsor, Mrs. Jane Shuffleton, 200 East Chestnut street, for whom she worked as a maid. On Nov. 26, 1940, two men posing as parole agents entered Mrs. Shuffleton's apartment and robbed her of $2,500 in jewels. Mary was given a lie detector test which showed she was not directly implicated.

Three Robbers Get $1,000 in Holdup at Valparaiso

Valparaiso, Ind., Aug. 29 [Special].—Three armed robbers held up Bud's Billiard hall in downtown Valparaiso today and escaped with $1,000 in cash which the proprietor, Budd Gott, had just brought from a bank to be used in cashing workmen's checks. Witnesses said the robbers, aided by a fourth man who sat at the wheel of a car, sped toward Chicago. Indiana state police threw a blockade across the northern part of the state.

2 U. S. YOUTHS SLIP OUT OF ANTWERP; REACH PORTUGAL

LISBON, Portugal, Aug. 29 (AP).—Two teen age California born brothers, one of whom worked for eight months as a machinist in a German Messerschmitt airplane factory, arrived here today after 4½ months of walking, bicycling, and swimming past German guards in Belgium and France.

They are Arthur and Alfred Perry, 17 and 18, respectively, whose mother took them to Antwerp, where she operated a small perfume shop, when they were in rompers. Arthur said he was born in Visalia, Cal., Alfred in San Francisco.

Alfred said he and his brother were working in an Antwerp factory when the Germans invaded Belgium. They started for Paris, got in the jam at Dunkirk during the British withdrawal, and were caught by the Germans and returned to Antwerp.

Alfred said he worked there in the German operated factory until last March when they started their journey to Lisbon.

Soldier and Bride Killed as Car and Truck Collide

Collinsville, Ill., Aug. 29 (AP).—A soldier and his bride of two months were among four persons killed today in a collision between an automobile and a truck two miles north of here. The dead were Pvt. Thomas M. Burns, 23 years old, who was on a 15 day furlough from Camp Forrest, Tenn.; his wife, Darlene, 20, of Sandoval; Evan Evans, 23, also of Sandoval, and Charles Lusch, 27, of Odin.

SECOND CRASH VICTIM DIES.

Dubuque, Iowa, Aug. 29 [Special].—Victor Steffen, 27 years old, of Dubuque, died at Mercy hospital here today of injuries incurred yesterday when the automobile in which he was riding overturned near East Dubuque, Ill. John N. Link, 26, also of Dubuque, was killed.

7 LOSERS IN POLL VOW THEY'RE IN RACE FOR BENCH

6 Qualified for Pensions Deny Incapacity.

Seven of the 13 sitting judges of the Superior court who failed to receive the Chicago Bar association recommendation for renomination this fall were interviewed last night and each said the results of the bar poll would not affect his plans to run again.

Six of the 7 are eligible for retirement on pension. Their attitude, however, was that they were physically and mentally capable of remaining on the bench and did not want to retire.

Judge William H. McSurely, who is assigned to the Illinois Appellate court, will be 76 years old at election time in November. He is a Republican but has been elected to the bench several times on coalition slates in the Democratic column.

"I hope the Democrats nominate me again," he said, "and I plan to run on a coalition ticket. It's a habit for me to run on such a ticket. I haven't any intention of retiring and am certain I can fulfill the duties of office."

Judge Oscar Hebel, 73, is another Republican who has been elected on a coalition slate. He said he knew nothing of any plans for such a fusion this fall.

"I'll be a candidate for reelection at the Republican convention," he said. "I have no idea of retiring."

Judge E. I. Frankhauser, 80, a Republican, also said he did not know of any coalition plan altho he has been elected on such a ticket in the past. He said he had not thought of retiring.

Judge Michael L. McKinley, 69, a Democrat, said the bar poll would not affect his candidacy "a particle."

"In my physical and mental condition, I'm good for 15 more years on the bench," he said. "I'm not paying any attention to the lawyers' vote."

Judge Charles A. Williams, 79, a Democrat, also said he wasn't heeding the bar poll.

"I plan to run and be elected," he declared.

Judge Francis B. Allegretti, 60, a Democrat, said he would press his candidacy.

"I'm still a young man," he said, "and I can do a lot of good work on the bench."

Judge Walter T. Stanton, a Democrat, is under 60 and therefore not eligible for retirement pension.

"I will be a candidate," he said. "The bar vote never affected my plans before and it won't this time. After all, the political organization, not the bar, nominates judicial candidates."

The six other sitting judges who did not receive the bar recommendation are Peter H. Schwaba, Rudolph F. Desort, John P. McGoorty, William J. Lindsay, John M. O'Connor, and Oscar Nelson. They were not available for comment last night.

AIR CORPS CHIEF WILL HEAD TOUR OF BATTLE ZONES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—A group of army air force officers, headed by Maj. Gen. George H. Brett, chief of the air corps, will tour the African, near east, Mediterranean, and Atlantic war fronts to make a first hand study of British needs for American aviation equipment.

In making this announcement today, the war department said the date of departure of the group would not be made public. It added that there was no fixed schedule as to the length and itinerary of the trip.

Brett will be accompanied by Col. Ray A. Dunn of the air corps; Col. James B. Newman of the army engineers; Lieut. Jack W. Perry of the air forces, and Harry C. Short of the Middletown, Pa., air depot.

A similar tour will be made by Lieut. Col. E. M. Powers, Maj. James H. Doolittle, and Lieut. K. G. Boyd all of the air corps. They will meet Gen. Brett's party at certain points of the war fronts.

Army Uniform Disgraceful, Says Jarman; Asks Change

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Representative Pete Jarman [D., Ala.] suggested today that the army adopt a new uniform so that men in training will "look like, feel like, and act like soldiers on parade rather than military prisoners or soldiers on fatigue duty." He said the present uniform was disgraceful.

HELD IN FATAL BEATING.

SIDEWALK ROW UPSETS SKOKIE'S PASTORAL CALM

A squabble over ownership of a seven foot sidewalk and a line of shrubs separating an erstwhile handbook from a monument company's property disrupted pastoral calm along the Skokie-Evanston border yesterday.

Recently Paul E. Cheney, president of Gall & Co., monument manufacturers, bought the property of the Memorial Monument company, 9921 Ridge road, Skokie. Adjoining is the Tower Inn, a liquor store, saloon, and, until telephone service was shut off, police said, a thriving handbook.

When Cheney made a survey of his newly acquired property he found the sidewalk and shrubbery separating the two places was on his property and he advised the saloon owner, Harry Pinocci, to get rid of the sidewalk and the bushes. Pinocci did nothing, so yesterday Cheney sent two workmen to tear out the sidewalk.

Pinocci shouted his protests and hailed Cheney to the Skokie police station where Chief Ted Heinz, after hearing both sides, refused to issue a warrant for Cheney. Then the warring parties appeared before Justice of the Peace Ralph Fjellman. He also listened and told Pinocci to get a lawyer.

Marine Corps League Hits Rising Food Prices

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 29 (AP).—The Marine Corps League went on record today against press and radio censorship, urged the government to "bring food prices back to normal levels" and advocated a bonus of $50 a month for conscripts and enlisted men serving during the national emergency. The subjects were contained in resolutions adopted at the league's national convention.

"A Debt Is Paid"

By Olga L. Rosmanith

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

SYNOPSIS.

Kathleen Murray inherits an income and a home in an actors' colony in California and goes there to live. She and Hugo Lang, whose play is being produced in the local summer theater, fall in love. But Hugo wants to wait to marry until his play makes him enough money for them to live on without using Kathleen's. Carol Keyes is backing his production and insists on playing the lead rôle, tho young Jeanie Payson is a much better actress. Maurice Reed has the leading male rôle. Ellen Mount, Hugo's foster mother, and Tony Allen, Kathleen's protégé, and Jeanie have minor rôles. It is a murder play, and Kathleen has an uncomfortable presentiment when Wilkie Stokes, another member of the colony, discusses the fascinations of killing. Jeanie is found murdered one morning after having gone for a ride the evening before with Hugo. Hugo, who is hiding out in a mountain cabin when the police find him, refuses to talk, and so he is tried and sentenced to life imprisonment for Jeanie's murder. Carol and Maurice marry and the show goes on. Kathleen, still believing Hugo innocent, hired Detective Bill Grier, hoping to uncover evidence to free Hugo. Bill finds a money box hidden under the floor of the mountain cabin, with only Jeanie's fingerprints on it. Kathleen thinks Stokes is guilty and in trying to trap him, he puts on an act to frighten her, and she at last realizes he couldn't have committed the murder. Susan, Kathleen's housekeeper, finds a memorandum in Jeanie's handwriting, showing Jeanie and some man had a joint account. Jeanie's mother tries to blackmail Kathleen. Ellen Mount gets ill and a performance has to be cancelled. Tony discovers that Jeanie and a male companion went on a day's trip together which strongly suggests there was a romance between them.

INSTALMENT XLII.

LETTER FOR SALE.

Toby took more photographs from his pocket and handed them to her. They were mostly snaps of Jeanie, but two were snaps of the Tilton Theater company taken in the Tilton House garden.

"I showed them all to him because you know how it is—seeing a person once, you might not easily remember. Unless there was a certain angle of face or look or way of standing. But he picked out Jeanie in every one, and he also picked out the man who was with her." Toby put his finger on Maurice Reed in the group. "There he is."

"Maurice! But they weren't even friendly. And anyhow it needn't mean anything."

It was uncanny the way Toby understood her. "You're saying that because you're afraid to hope. But I think it means a lot. This is a day's trip—not a little turn round the neighborhood. They must have been more than snapping acquaintances as they seemed to be. Besides, remember that important thing that Bill said?"

"What was that"

"That something only an inch off the usual track can point the way to some funny business. Did it ever strike you as funny that Carol and Maurice got married on a Monday?"

"Why should it, Toby?"

"Because they're show people and they didn't intend to stop for a honeymoon. Yuma never closes. So why not Saturday so that they could honeymoon till Monday?"

She thought of this all the way home. But not Carol, she thought. Carol couldn't possibly have had anything to do with it. Susan met her in the hallway.

"Did you find the mail for you, Miss Kathleen? You did quite well in this afternoon's delivery."

Kathleen turned and picked up the batch of letters on the silver salver on the foyer table. A thrill of joy and apprehension went thru her. The top one was in Hugo's writing.

She opened Hugo's letter before she looked at the others. It was very short, written on thin, cheap paper. It was inhibited by his knowledge that it would be read before mailing by an official censor, but she was aware of this and was not disappointed.

"Dear: I should not write, because it is your duty to yourself to forget, but, thinking over our short past together, I remember every detail, and in the reflection of these details I know more and more of you. So I know that nothing I can say will induce you to forget, even in the interests of your own happiness. So I let you know I think of you continually, and the memories I have are the food my spirit lives on. Do you remember the last sentence of your letter? It is the last of mine. HUGO."

Kathleen did remember that last sentence. Her eyes blurred with tears thinking of it and a golden warmth came with it. "My arms are always round you in my heart."

Her hands on the other letters in her lap, her gaze on the calm blue water, she sat a little while dreaming. Not a word of love in the letter, yet how rich and deeply felt a love letter. "The memories I have are the food my spirit lives on." That was true for her, too. And so was his discovery that reflection on past association continually uncovered new things.

Imagination moved to the culmination of happiness. Married love—with all its growth, its conquest of human loneliness, its strength against the jealous world, its sweet security—peace shut in and strife shut out. The tingling pleasure the letter had brought now turned into a painful desire for Hugo's living presence. Kathleen pulled herself up as longing began to touch the unbearable and diverted herself by the other letters on her lap.

There was one from old Mr. Cassell reporting an increase in certain dividends and expressing admiration for her grandmother's shrewd investment ability. "Money without love," she thought, "is money for what?" Her conscience stabbed her. "I have so much—and this will pass and I will have all. I must have faith. I must be grateful for what I've got."

There was a short note from George Cassell commenting on the new activity in her copper stocks, and taking the opportunity to ask her how she was and hint that he would like to hear regularly from her. She knew what was in his mind. That eventually she would tire of her loyalty to a broken dream and he would try his luck again. "Well, it is nice of him to like me so much," she thought. "It is even nice of Wilkie Stokes to like me. People liking you is a kind of comfort—even if they can't help you, liking you is nice."

There was an astringent breath of hatred in the last letter she picked up. It was written on the flamboyant pictorial stationery of the Willow Lake hotel between photographs of cabins between the pines and boating on the lake.

Dear Madam.

"I called to your house last night and was told by your servant to write what was on my mind and I would get it answered from your lawyer. Right, I thought, please yourself I thought, so here goes. Well I thought to myself there must be remains among Jeanie's belongings of my poor little girl's misfortunate affair with that sneaking murdering boy friend, so I took a good look and there was, and your lawyer better be good to laugh this off for you.

"I have a letter showing that it's no use denying he was her boy friend because it's in the letter that he was, written from Jeanie to Hugo. A reporter on a Los Angeles paper will give me some money to print it because I need money so I thought it was fair to tell you first, but I warn you I know I need not give up my own daughter's property because you send a letter from a lawyer. The reporter says it is all right to sell a writing to the papers that is not libel and selling a writing is not blackmail, so I know my rights and no lawyer can frighten me. I will wait for you to make up your mind till 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

"Your truly,

"Mrs. Payson."

Ten o'clock tomorrow morning! Kathleen picked up the envelope and looked at the postmark with a cold shock of fright. It was all right. It had been mailed in Willowdale early and by some miracle of organization arrived the same day.

Now she marveled at her own reaction. Why should she be afraid of this new stupidity if she had complete faith in Hugo? He could not possibly have incurred a letter from Jeanie that showed anything more than his kindly interested friendship for her. Kathleen decided against calling at the rather isolated hotel where this violent and unpredictable woman now lived alone. Instead she went briskly and dialed the hotel number on her telephone.

Mrs. Payson responded when Kathleen was almost ready to give up ringing.

"O, it's you," came her strident unmusical voice. "And scared! This time you don't let the grass grow under your feet."

"I'm not scared. Why should I be? What's in the letter you want to sell me?"

"I didn't say I wanted to sell—"

"Very well. Then what are we talking about?"

"Now, Miss Murray, it doesn't mean I'm selling the letter if I help you and you help me because I need money."

"That's a darned clever way to put it. Well, if I buy something I want to know what I'm buying. What's in the letter?"

"You can read it when you own it. And it's yours when you've helped me out of my jam."

Kathleen laughed contemptuously. "A trick. If you've found a letter at all, it's nothing worth while. If it's from Jeanie to Hugo, why didn't she send it?"

'I'M STILL COUNTY POLICE CHIEF,' LAIRD ASSERTS

Denies He Committed Wrong or Resigned Post.

The muddled situation in the office of the sheriff of Cook county became more confused yesterday when Lester Laird appeared and announced dramatically: "I am still chief of the county highway police."

This directly contradicted a statement made last week by Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien. The sheriff said that Laird had submitted his resignation a week ago after THE TRIBUNE printed a picture of the highway chief dining with William R. Skidmore, principal fixer for the gambling industry. The resignation was offered, O'Brien asserted, because Laird "didn't want to embarrass me."

Did Nothing Wrong, Says Laird.

"I have not resigned," said the chief [if he is chief]. "I was not asked to resign and I didn't offer my resignation. I have done nothing wrong and I didn't embarrass the sheriff any."

Laird referred to the recent discovery that two nieces of Skidmore, Mrs. Helen Brunner and Mrs. Dorothy Cobb, are working as secretaries in the highway police office. He said O'Brien had appointed Mrs Brunner and that he had hired her sister because he needed more help.

"In view of that," he said, "how could I embarrass the sheriff?"

He said that he told the sheriff a week ago that he would "be away for a week or two" and would "give some thought to whether I would leave the department."

Regular Channels for Ouster.

"There was no talk then about embarrassment," he continued. "Since that I have been advised by friends that I would do myself an injustice by quitting. I have done nothing wrong. If anyone wishes to compel me to resign there are regular channels thru which they can prove I should.

"I don't think the sheriff will object to my return. There has been no dissension between us. He did say I would have to choose between my friendship for Skidmore and my job, and I promised to sever the friendship."

Asked if he would discharge Skidmore's nieces, Laird said he thought that a matter for the sheriff to decide. John Healy, acting highway chief since Laird went away, announced that if Laird is back he is willing to coöperate; that he was acting in a temporary capacity.

The Sheriff Not In.

Sheriff O'Brien wasn't in, and didn't meet the returning chief. His assistants didn't know where the sheriff was, but were sure it was some place where he couldn't be reached.

Acting Chief Healy reported last evening that his men had raided two handbooks. One raid was at Durga's tavern, 5036 29th place, Cicero, where a keeper and four patrons were seized. At the Club Oasis, 117 Plummer avenue, Calumet City, a keeper and three patrons were arrested.

ARGUE PATERNITY RULING BASED ON TESTS OF BLOOD

Judge Robert J. Dunne yesterday took under advisement arguments to set aside a ruling upholding a blood test thru which a boy, 14 months old, was held to be illegitimate. The ruling was made in the separate maintenance decree awarded Mrs. Elsie Emry, 25, of 9614 Sangamon street, mother of the boy, Charles, from Charles Emry, 26 years old. Judge Dunne ruled that Emry was not the father of the boy and ordered him to pay his wife separate maintenance allowance but not child support. Attorneys Joseph H. and Norman Becker, counsel for Mrs. Emry, argued that Judge Dunne's ruling was based on a blood test and that such tests have not been validated by higher courts.

VENDING MACHINE SCHEME BRINGS INDICTMENT OF 10

Emil Burel, 39 years old, and his brother, Aloise, 44, who operated a peanut and candy vending machine company, and eight salesmen for the company were indicted in Federal District court yesterday on a charge of mail fraud. J. Albert Woll, United States attorney, said the defendants are accused of defrauding several hundred investors in the middle west of more than $300,000.

Woll said the Burel company, now bankrupt, sold vending machines to investors and then leased them back on a share plan for operation. Individual investments, he said, ranged from $100 to $15,000.

The salesmen named in the indictment are: Russell A. Gair, 1313 Birchwood avenue; Frederick G. Lorch, 5505 Pensacola avenue; Stuart C. Bestar, 3933 Clarendon avenue; Fred C. Matthews, 6206 North Hoyne avenue; Nicholas E. New, 3677 North Janssen avenue; Bernard A. Patterson, 2029 Bradley place; Burt R. Smith, 6249 Kimbark avenue, and Edward Schwartz, 421 Wrightwood avenue.

Dr. W. E. Cary Slashes Self Fatally with Knife

Dr. William E. Cary, a physician with offices at 55 East Washington street, was found dead in the garage behind his home at 5552 Kenwood avenue yesterday. His neck had been slashed with a pocket knife which was clutched in his hand.

7 RAPE KILLINGS SOLVED, ASSERT CAPITAL POLICE

Report Negro's Confession Is Confirmed.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—The revamped Washington police force claimed credit today for solving seven rape murders—and possibly more—thru the arrest of a Negro, Jarvis Roosevelt Catoe, 36 years old. They quoted Catoe as saying he had choked "at least" 10 women to death.

The information that led to Catoe's arrest, however, came from New York, where he was indicted today on a charge of slaying Mrs. Evelyn D. Andersen, a Bronx waitress, Aug. 4.

Capital police were hoping that Catoes' arrest and reported confession—which they said had been substantiated—would remove the stigma which has made the department the object of ridicule for two years and prevent renewal of a congressional investigation which was halted sometime ago after the department started cleaning its own house.

Further Shakeup Urged.

The crime wave in the capital received national attention two months ago as visitors returned to their homes telling of the city's terror of rapists and the unwillingness of women to emerge from the safety of their homes after dark.

Senator Clyde L. Herring [D., Ia] declared today that further organization of the police system was needed because "Catoe lived right here within a few blocks of the scenes of his crimes, and yet it remained for the New York police department to bring about his arrest."

Capital slayings which Catoe is said to have confessed included those of Miss Elizabeth Strieff and Mrs. Rose Abramowitz. Miss Strieff, a government employé, was slain June 15, her nude body being found in a garage. Mrs. Abramowitz, 25 year old bride of a month, was raped and strangled in her apartment.

Four Others Slain in Capital.

Catoe also confessed the rape murder of four Negro women here, it was announced. In addition, according to police, he said he had raped five other women and attempted to rape two others in Washington. He has been identified by six of the latter seven victims.

New York, Aug. 29 [Special].—The somewhat contradictory subjects of attending coming out parties or having children are vying these days for the interest of Betty Cordon, 18 years old, chosen Wednesday as glamor girl of 1941 by a vote of 120 debutantes.

"I'm going to have my coming out party in my home city on Sept. 12," said the Raleigh, N. C., girl, "and then another one Jan. 1 at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. But what I'm really interested in, you know, is children. I think it's swell to be wrapped in glamor, but it scares me."

Miss Cordon, daughter of a banker, said she planned to study this fall at the Child Education Foundation in New York City, specializing in the psychology of children, and that she hoped to "be married some day and have an indefinite number of kids."

Blames Water Front Fire on Firebug or Saboteur

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 29 (AP).—A $200,000 waterfront fire at two large lumber concerns having numerous government contracts was described today by Fire Chief William Fitzgerald as the work of a firebug or a saboteur. Three firemen were injured. The chief said that shortly before the first alarm was turned in, people living near the yards saw three men run from a building and flee along nearby railroad tracks.

School Districts Claim $330,348 for Bus Service

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29 (AP).—Claims by school districts asking the state for $330,348 reimbursement for the cost of transporting public school pupils for the year ending June 30 were filed by John A. Wieland, superintendent of public instruction, with the state auditor's office. Cook county claimed the largest amount, $81,467. Vermilion county's $17,777 claim was second largest, with Lake county's $14,820, and St. Clair county's $10,548, following in order. Warren county's claim was lowest, $30.

Miss Ruth Elizabeth McCormick Wed in Little Country Church

BY BETTY BROWNING.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 29 [Special].—In the little white Middle Creek Presbyterian church, amid rolling fields and groves southwest of this city, Miss Ruth Elizabeth McCormick and Maxwell Peter Miller Jr., were married this afternoon. Family friends and many from the surrounding countryside who had known the bride as a child when she attended Sunday school there, filled the church to overflowing and stood on tiptoes outside to catch a glimpse of her thru the open windows.

The slim young bride, daughter of Mrs. Albert Gallatin Simms and of the late United States Senator Medill McCormick, and Mr. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Miller Sr. of Rockford, repeated their marriage vows on a small platform screened in huckleberry leaves with urns of white gladioli and asters at either end. Mr. Simms gave his step-daughter in marriage.

The bride's gown was of white marquisette, with a close fitting bodice, the new low waistline, and a full skirt of marquisette over taffeta. Tiers of marquisette formed a fichu about the V neck and short sleeves and tied in back in a tailored bow. A circlet of orange blossoms about her dark head held in place a full, three-quarter length veil, and her bouquet was a small round one of tuberoses edged with maiden hair fern.

Mrs. Courtlandt Barnes Jr. of New York, who was her sister's matron of honor, was gowned in white mousseline de soie, with a cape collar and peplum and small buttons up the front of the tight fitting bodice. A three-quarter length panel of mint green taffeta was just visible beneath the full white skirt. A small white turban trimmed with white velvet dogwood and mint taffeta leaves and mint suede gauntlets and matching sandals completed the costume. She carried a sheaf of white gladioli.

The bridesmaids, Miss Eleanor Metcalf of Providence, R. I., and Miss Frances Ann Simms of Albuquerque, N. M., who is Mr. Simms' niece, wore dresses of mint green mousseline de soie with V necks, fichu collars, and tiered skirts. Narrow velvet sashes with long streamers in a somewhat deeper green and four bows of the velvet in their hair accentuated the costumes. Their bouquets were of white field daisies edged with maiden hair fern.

Frederick Miller was his brother's best man and ushering were Donald Shafer, James Castle, and Robert Dodge of Chicago, Talcot Williams and Kenneth Jensen of Rockford, George Byrnes of Albuquerque, and Mr. Barnes.

A reception followed in the garden of a small house in Rockford that Mr. and Mrs. Simms have taken for a few weeks. The Rock river is just below the garden, and with the shrubbery and bright borders provided an attractive background.

Mrs. Simms, at the head of the receiving line, was handsome in an orchid voile dress with cape sleeves, a V-neck and a pencil line skirt. Her large brimmed deep purple hat was trimmed with ostrich feather flowers of the same shade as the gown, and she wore a turquoise and silver necklace and bracelet of Indian workmanship.

The bridegroom's mother was wearing a simply tailored dark brown frock and a small feathered toque of the same shade with a corsage of yellow daisies and tiny pink roses for contrast.

The guests toasted the young couple in champagne from punch bowls placed on long tables in the garden and on the terrace just above the river. Great bouquets of many colored garden flowers decorated the tables.

The bridal party posed again and again for the camera enthusiasts, among whom was Dr. Joseph B. De Lee. Mrs. J. Fred Reeve, the bride's cousin, William H. Hard of Washington, D. C., her godfather; Col. Robert R. McCormick, her uncle; Mrs. Cornelia Burleson of Rockford, the bridegroom's grandmother; Gen. and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes, Gen. and Mrs. Robert E. Wood, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank and her son, Benjamin Fairbank and his wife; Mrs. John Adams Chapman, Mrs. Silas H. Strawn, Mr. and Mrs. Graham Aldis, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull Jr., Dr. Mary Ashby Cheek, president of Rockford college; Mrs. Fred Sterling and her son, Arthur Sterling, were among the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Heard of Boston, Mass., Mrs. M. C. Ailshie of Boise, Idaho, Mrs. Victor Morawetz of New York, Mr. and Mrs. Carl B. Rix of Milwaukee, Wis., Miss Estelline and Miss Helen Bennett of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Bigler of Chicago and Cocoanut Grove, Fla., Mr. and Mrs. George Reinecke of Chicago, and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Holtzermann of Minneapolis, Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Burpee and Mr. and Mrs. H. Stanton Burpee, Judge Robert K. Welsh and Mrs. Jessica Treat, all of Rockford, were among others present.

Mr. Miller and his bride will be at home in Rockford after this week-end since it is impossible for him to be away from his business just now.

BY REA SEEGER.

There's something irresistible in tangling with a stoplight. That shocking clash of red and green does more as an exhilarating pickup to the eyes than any other combination. So, the newest red and green wool suits and reefer topcoats to match will or should start a rush for the present supplies. The fabric is a soft warm wool, the pattern a two inch square line against the background. There are two combines, the traffic green light crossed with traffic red squares or the red wool crossed in green.

It's the most exciting plaid imaginable. Either coat or cleverly cut and fitted two-piece suit looks like luxury wool . . . the modest price mark just about shocks the average shopper. Velvet collars and cuffs accent the wool. Some of the red suits have green collars and the green suits red collars. The reefer coats are as smart as paint. They are nipped in at the ribs and waistline and have pockets and a double row of buttons down the front. This red and green plaid wool is just about the snappiest stuff in the shops.

In the same shop are many stunning red and green coats of solid colors . . . many shades of red from crimson to dull wine, shades of green from the smart dull olive green to Kelly. Soft blurred plaid red wool, the same thing in green, some huge brown, beige and blue checked models in two piece suits, feature the short much pleated skirt and a fitted jacket, much plaited skirt and a fitted jacket.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

The practical beauty shopper, with an eye out for sensible things rather than those intriguing fripperies, will like an "after shower" powder one of the great beauty houses brought out recently.

The powder is light and fine with a cool, faintly lavenderish scent—and a brand new trick of being able to step up the drying process after a shower or a bath. Almost the minute it touches the skin the feeling of moisture gives way to a sense of smooth, dry comfort, and this pleasant sensation lingers for a surprisingly long time.

This is one bath trimming that is meant for use by the whole family. Husbands as well as wives will like it. The scent isn't overwhelming and in character it's the kind men approve of for their own use. It can be used by children, too, and really should be if the combination of heat and moisture irritates their skin.

Even the container has been worked out from the practical standpoint. It's metal, which means that no amount of steam will hurt it—and as one who has seen paper containers deteriorate into pulpy messes after a few months we give particular cheers for this feature. The container is a conservative one, well designed—as attractive to the fussy men as it is to the women of the household.

Summer's End Finds Outdoor Party in Favor

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE arrival of the Labor day week-end traditionally signals the approach of summer's end, and the threat of the disappearance of warm weather naturally makes out of door parties the favored form of entertainment.

Some future ensigns from Abbott hall have been invited to a small luncheon party the William McCormick Blairs are giving at home tomorrow in Lake Forest for Debutante Sally Robbins, who will depart for Vassar on Sept. 14. Tennis is on the program for the afternoon.

The Charles Dennehys are giving an out of doors party tomorrow night for Debutante Barbara Bronson. It will be a barbecue supper. Also an outdoor party is the picnic the Luther H. Barbers will give tomorrow at their Barrington home, Hawthorne Hills, for Debutante Sallie Ellen Welsh. They have a swimming pool, so informal sports will be included.

LeRoy Kramers Giving Party at Summer Home.

All of the young people who usually go to Harbor Point or Harbor Springs, Mich., for the long holiday will be at the LeRoy Kramers' house this afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Kramer are entertaining from 4 until 6 o'clock to meet Miss Janet Bunyan of Cleveland Heights, O., who is to marry the Kramers' son, Henry, this fall.

The Paul Butlers, the Eugene T. Scotts, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry O. Owen Jr. have given their boxes at the Oak Brook Polo club to friends for the current series of matches and have gone to the Butlers' ranch in Montana on a holiday. They departed last night. Playing at the club for Oak Brook against a Milwaukee team tomorrow afternoon will be Lester Armour Jr., David Wilhelm, James A. Hannah, and Charles Aaberg. The Evanston Polo club will meet an Oak Brook team on Monday.

Skippers and Crews Will Be Busy Over Week-End

The week-end will be a busy and gay one for the skippers and crews taking part in the Tri-State sailing race that started last night. The first leg of the journey was from the Chicago Yacht club to St. Joseph, Mich. From St. Joe the boats will go to Michigan City, where the sailors will get their land legs back playing baseball at a field day tomorrow, and then the craft will start back to Chicago. The boats of Henry Babson, Robert Benedict, John T. Snite, and dozens of others are taking part.

The Sheridan Shore Yacht club in Wilmette will be a busy spot over the week-end, too. The Shipping Board series for Star boats is being held there.

The Barrington families who have children who are members of the Round Barn Riding club on Orville Caesar's property will be entertaining neighbors and other guests at luncheons tomorrow before the second annual Round Barn horse show. Seventy-three youngsters from 5 to 15 years old will be taking part. Judges will be Miss Virginia Cardwell, Willie Kolkmeyer, and Thomas Greenwood.

Many Visitors Here for Holiday Racing.

With featured races today and on Monday, the Washington Park race track will be the mecca of racing enthusiasts from hereabouts. A good many visitors will be coming from away, too, among them the Edward S. Moores of New York and Montana, who formerly lived here, and who will have a horse running in the Futurity on Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Royce Martin of Toledo, who were Arlington visitors earlier this summer, will be here to watch their entry in the Futurity. Whirlaway will not be running on Monday, however, so Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, his owners, will be missing at the park.

81st Annual Camp Meeting Closes on Des Plaines Grounds

The 81st annual camp meeting on the old Des Plaines Methodist camp ground came to a formal close last night at a banquet in the camp dining hall attended by 250 friends and members of the association. In former days the closing dinner was used to clean up the leftovers of the campers, but recently the affair has come to be the social event of the season, in charge of the women's auxiliary. The Rev. Philip Bohi of Des Plaines presided. Motion pictures of a recent Youth hostel canoe trip down the Wisconsin river were shown by Dr. Edward J. Matson of Waukegan and Virginia Freeberg, chairman of the Chicago district of the Great Lakes Youth hostel region, described the trip.

Good Morning!

Cockeyed title. Cockeyed picture. Just a rarin', tearin' slapstick comedy detailing the adventures of three jolly tars, Tommy, Johnny, and Llewellyn of H. M. S. "Ferocious." . . . Their ship has been ordered to locate and sink the Nazi pocket battleship, Ludendorf.

The "Ferocious" steams forth on her duty from Portsmouth. . . . Weeks pass and still no sign of the prey. . . . Finally the pursuer puts in at a South American port to take on fuel. . . . Llewellyn hustles off to visit his sister who is governess in an English home located there. . . . She and the family who employ her plan to sail for home on the S. S. Savannah, to depart in a few hours.

Llewellyn would introduce Sis to the boys and takes her to the dance hall where they are holding forth. Not at all do they believe that Jane's Llewellyn's sister. . . . The pranks they play result—after a long series of happenstances — in our sailors boarding a strange battleship. . . . You've guessed it—the boat is none other than—the Ludendorf. . . .

The audience of which I was one seemed to get a real kick from some of the episodes. . . .

The three leads are fast workers and you'll think—I think—that the acting is all quite smooth.

Direction and photography are meritorious.

"MILLION DOLLAR BABY"
from the novel "Miss Wheelwright Discovers America" is the story of a poor girl who suddenly acquires a fortune. How she gets it and what transpires afterwards is told through a series of swift moving incidents emerging into an interesting story, brightened by clever dialogue. May Robson, Priscilla Lane, Ronald Reagan prove their worth with superior performances

"Ringtum Diddy" is a Mother Goose-like name for a sauce which resembles a tomato rabbit more than anything else. If you make it with strong, aged cheese, as you should, it's wonderful! But don't overcook it, for, alas, this sauce has the Welsh rabbit habit of getting tough and stringy with more heat than it needs.

Ringtum Diddy Sauce.
[Two and one-half cups.]

¼ cup butter
1 cup aged American cheese
¼ cup flour
1 cup hot milk
1 cup cooked fresh or canned tomatoes
½ teaspoon mustard
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon salt
Few grains cayenne pepper

Melt butter in heavy skillet. Add cheese. Sprinkle flour over cheese. Cover skillet and cook gently until cheese melts and bubbles up thru the flour. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. Add tomatoes and seasonings. Stir enough to blend. Serve hot on toast or toasted crackers. Or pour over cooked rice or macaroni. Be careful not to overcook sauce.

For a change from the usual breakfast toast: bread and butter and jam, marmalade, or jelly sandwiches, toasted in the broiler; big, round buns or frankfurter buns, split and toasted; fresh, sweetened berries or sliced peaches over French toast; broiler-toasted split and buttered leftover muffins or baking powder biscuits.

Here's a quick, stuffed green pepper dish which almost everybody likes. Cut off the tops of as many green peppers as you have mouths to feed, and remove the seeds. Boil the pepper cases for 5 minutes in salted water. Drain. Stuff them with canned corned beef hash. Stand the peppers in a greased baking dish, top each with a tablespoon of your best catsup or chili sauce, and bake for 30 minutes at 350 degrees. If you like, put a ring of onion under the catsup.

One of the most satisfactory roasts for a small company dinner is a fruit stuffed cushion shoulder of lamb. It's so easy to carve that the man of the house will bless you for giving him a meat he can be graceful about.

Have the bone removed from the shoulder at the market, and have the meat sewed, leaving an opening on one side for the stuffing. Make the dressing by combining 2 cups bread crumbs, 1 small orange [chopped], 6 cooked prunes [chopped], 6 apricots [chopped], 1 egg, salt and pepper. Pile the mixture into the meat and skewer the open edges. Roast at 300 degrees on a rack in an open roaster, 30 to 35 minutes to the pound.

Aug. 30, 1941.

Universal day—Don't spend too much today just because there is a feeling of expansion in the air.

September—Universally, for the world in general, this is to be a 6 month, the peak of a 6 year, and there will probably be a great deal of adjusting going on. The speed of events taking place in August will hit a snag now and there might be many conferences with that board and this expert in an effort to get things running smoothly. Especially will the experts be giving advice on what to do. Each one will come forward with a solution and advice. Since 6 is a dictatorial number, we may expect dictatorial methods to increase.

Cheap Sport? No; a Good Sport, Yes!

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Dear Miss Blake: We don't drink or smoke or pet, but we don't seem to be popular.

"The boys all seem to prefer the girls who are willing to park in cars and pet. Don't boys ever appreciate girls who try to be nice?

"DOTTY AND HELEN."

The trouble with Dotty and Helen is that they take great pride in not drinking or smoking or petting, and there they stop. They are so conscious of being nice girls they don't make the effort to be charming ones as well. They should not copy the vices of the cheap girls, but they might cultivate some of their virtues.

Instead of merely being proud of not drinking, they should take pride in dancing well. Instead of pluming themselves on not smoking they should learn to play tennis skilfully. They are right not to pet and be promiscuous with their kisses, but are they good conversationalists?

A nice girl should take her niceness for granted and make herself good fun and a good companion in a dozen other ways. She need not be a cheap sport. But she had better be a good sport if she wants to be popular.

260 Children Close Vacation Season at Camp Algonquin

Two hundred sixty sun browned children regretfully turned their backs yesterday on Camp Algonquin to end a season in which the United Charities camp on the Fox river near St. Charles has given outings to 1,600 underprivileged children and needy mothers.

Accompanying the children, who returned to Chicago by train yesterday, were 60 mothers, working girls, and older women who were selected for the camp by United Charities. One woman, 86 years old, has been a vacationer at the camp for several years.

Boys not more than 14 years old, girls and women of all ages, and mothers are selected for the camp by United Charities. Each two weeks a new group of 320 vacationers arrives. One group of 80 boys and girls, however, stays thruout the season. These are undernourished children selected from the weight clinics conducted thru the winter by United Charities.

Donations to the Camp Algonquin fund received from readers by THE TRIBUNE thru the summer amounted to $1,099.

Dr. Helmut Landsberg Joins U. of C. Faculty

Appointment of Dr. Helmut Landsberg, internationally known geophysicist and guest lecturer during the summer at the University of Chicago Institute of Meteorology, as associate professor of meterology was announced yesterday by President Robert M. Hutchins. Dr. Landsberg is now making a three dimensional study of Chicago's lake breezes. He was born in Frankfurt, Germany, where he attended the University of Frankfurt and was supervisor of its Taunus mountain observatory from 1931-'34. In 1934 he received an appointment at the Pennsylvania State college as assistant professor of geophysics.

The bidding:

East	South	West	North
4 clubs	4 hearts	Double	Redouble
5 clubs	Double	Pass	Pass
Pass

East's bidding was neither fish nor fowl. Originally, he had decided either to shut out the opponents or compel them to enter the arena at a prohibitive level, a level which might give West the opportunity for a crushing double. Due to South's stubborn refusal to be shut out, this opportunity actually developed and was, of course, promptly seized by West. North's redouble was technically horrible, but perhaps he knew his left hand opponent. At any rate, the redouble worked beautifully. East became panic stricken at the thought that the opponents were about to "wrap up" a redoubled contract and, quite forgetting his original intention, ran like a timid hare to five clubs, where he met the slaughter he deserved.

This is the sort of thing one finds at thousands of bridge tables. A player opens with a bid which he knows, and knows his partner knows, is purely preëmptive, announcing nothing insofar as defensive tricks are concerned, indeed, denying such tricks by the strongest implication. Actually, the bid is highly successful in that an opponent "stretches his neck" and is promptly doubled, just what the opener must have hoped for. But now, when the other opponent enters the arena with a redouble, the opener becomes panic stricken. "The opponents must know what they're doing; his own partner must be crazy." To the rescue, then!

As I have said so often, it is impossible to play good bridge without courage. East knew that West was not misled by the four club bid, that he [West] was doubling four hearts entirely on his own holding. Thus, East's runout to five clubs is partly cowardice and partly a case of "taking charge." The four heart redouble would have paid East-West 1,000 points and, of course, a top on the board. The five club double created a "top and bottom swing," since East himself went down 800 points at five clubs.

mer home in Ephraim, Wis., for the marriage this afternoon of her son, James A. Field Jr., and Miss Lila Ruth Breckinridge. Also present at the ceremony in the Big Moose chapel, Big Moose, N. Y., will be Mr. and Mrs. John Paul Welling and their daughters, Miss Harriett and Miss Mary Paul. Mrs. Welling is the bridegroom's aunt.

After the ceremony the bride's mother, Mrs. Ben Johnson Breckinridge of Montclair, N. J., will give a reception at Fern Spring camp. Mr. Field and his bride will reside in Cambridge, Mass., where he is on the faculty at Harvard university. The bridegroom's father, the late Mr. Field, was professor of economics at the University of Chicago.

Bentley McCloud Family in Maryland for Wedding.

The entire Bentley G. McCloud family, with the exception of Mrs. McCloud Jr., is in Hagerstown, Md., this week-end, for Robert Olmstead McCloud and Miss Suzanne Eyerly are being married there at 4:30 o'clock today. Mr. McCloud Jr., will be his brother's best man, and their sister, Miss Nancy, will be bridesmaid.

Because of the recent death of the bride's mother, there won't be a reception. Her father, Elmer K. Eyerly, will give a small dinner in his home for the two families. After a trip to Virginia Hot Springs, Mr. McCloud and his bride will be at home in Winnetka.

Mr. and Mrs. John Angel are here from Sandy Hook, Conn., for the marriage today of their son, Henry Seymour Angel, and Miss Martha Thomas Brainerd. The ceremony will take place at noon in the Thorndike Hilton chapel. The bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Brainerd, will give a reception in the chapel garden.

Miss Joyce Finnegan will be Miss Brainerd's maid of honor, and George Cragin of Hartford, Conn., will serve as best man. The bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Brainerd, have brought their three children from Des Moines, Ia., and one of them, five year old Walter, will be the ring bearer. Also here from out of town are Mr. and Mrs. Ariel Thomas of Springfield, Ill., Mrs. George Whitney of Haverhill, Mass., Miss Katherine Brainerd of Bradford, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. Gerhart R. Kremers and their daughter, Gail, of Minneapolis. After a motor trip Mr. Angel and his bride will be at home in Woodbury, N. J.

Miss Beatrice Gaidzik Being Married Tonight.

Miss Beatrice Gaidzik, daughter of Mrs. George W. Gaidzik of Highland Park, and Hart Perry will be married at 8:30 o'clock tonight in Alexandria, Va., in the home of Harry H. Bentley, the architect, and his sister, Miss Berenice Bentley, the composer. Mrs. George W. Gaidzik of Highland Park is in the east with her daughter.

Mr. Perry and his bride will be at home in Silver Springs, Md., after Oct. 1. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Benton Perry of York, Neb.

Another of today's brides is Miss Louise Herron, daughter of Gen. and Mrs. Charles D. Herron of Bethesda, Md., formerly of Fort Sheridan, who will be married to Capt. Richard Wilkins Ripple, U. S. A., this afternoon in the garden of the Herron home. Miss Mary Ritchie of Winnetka will be Miss Herron's maid of honor.

Stage Note

On Oct. 19 "Western Union, Please," a farce by Francis Goodrich and Albert Hackett, starring Charles Butterworth, will begin an engagement at the Studebaker theater. The play was tried out in the eastern summer theaters and comes to Chicago prior to a New York run. The cast at present includes Mabel Paige, Francis Reed, and Otto Hulett. If film commitments permit, Una Merkel will probably have the feminine lead opposite Mr. Butterworth.

Slippers Done in Crochet

Stritch Will Be W-G-N Church Hour Speaker

The Chicagoland Church hour, broadcast each Sunday morning from 9 to 10 on station W-G-N, will initiate a new feature tomorrow morning with the first of a series of Catholic New World broadcasts. Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch will be the first speaker. His topic will be "The Importance of Catholic Education."

The program will be sponsored by the New World, official publication of the archdiocese, with the Rev. Edward V. Dailey, editor and publisher of the journal, as commentator.

The Chicagoland Church hour was developed by Dr. John Evans, religion editor of THE TRIBUNE, nearly a year ago with a view of giving W-G-N listeners a cross-section of the devotional expression of the churches of the area. Electrical transcriptions are used. More than a score of denominations have been represented on the hour.

In tomorrow's program the famous Holy Name cathedral choristers, singing under the direction of the Rev. Edward Regan, with Albert Wideman at the cathedral organ, will be heard.

The choristers will sing "In Nomine Patris," by Mr. Wideman; the famous "Panis Angelicus," by Caesar Franck; Vittoria's "Ave Maria," the "Oremus Pro Pontifice," by Refice, and the Italian folk song "Alla Trinida."

Under present arrangements the New World hour will be heard every six weeks. The next program is scheduled for Oct. 12.

Father Must Take Part in Raising Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

"I can't be bothered," said the small boy's father. "I think it's your job to discipline Jacky anyhow. You're home all day and have time to do it."

"All right," said his wife. "Go ahead like that. But don't be surprised, when he's about five and some fine day you tell him to do something, and he says 'I won't.'"

Jacky's mother herself was telling me about it. "It turned out that I was a pretty good fortune teller," she said. "This last month Jacky has disobeyed his father right and left. This morning John told Jack to stop playing with the hose because he was dressed to go to the doctor's for his check-up, and Jacky calmly looked up at him and said, 'I won't!' That had more effect than all my years of talk. I've noticed since then that John's using different tactics with the baby.

"Another thing," she went on. "John never played with Jacky, or sat down and read to him, or pal-ed up with him at all. The result was that Jacky always turned to me for everything. I think the effects of that are beginning to sink in, too."

My father had a way of saying, when any one in the family bought anything cheap and then complained of it, "You get what you pay for." In a way that's true of human relations, and of that phase of them that applies to parents and children.

There are many fathers like the ones Jacky's mother described. Of these fathers, some will refuse to control their children but will play with them and overindulge them, so that they're "spoiled," and won't mind. Others will give their children when they're little neither companionship, nor guidance "in the way they should go," but when the defiance comes they're often furious as well as baffled. And frequently hurt, too, when the boy gets to an age where his father would like his confidence and companionship, but the boy shows no desire to give it.

To be able to lead children in the way they should go for their own good at the moment and for their ultimate good, we need to start at the beginning.

So if Jacky's father had begun when Jacky was a very small boy to show some interest in him and to gain his obedience as the months went along, he wouldn't have had his small son at five disobedient and openly defiant.

ENGAGEMENT

Dr. and Mrs. Richard W. Watkins of Kenwood avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty May, to Robert E. Dickison of Peoria, Ill., son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Dickison. Both Miss Watkins and Mr. Dickison attended the Bradley Institute of Technology, where she was graduated last June. After their marriage they will reside in Peoria.

$35,000; LONELY WIDOW; CON MEN; OLD, OLD STORY

Mail Fraud Indictments Name Three.

This story was new in 1880 when a confidence man is supposed to have first conceived of the "race bet" swindle. There was some novelty of detail, but no important deviation in the story as told in an indictment returned yesterday before Federal Judge John P. Barnes.

The lonely widow, Mrs. Lucy M. Sheridan, formerly of 2719 Hampden court, met smooth talking Albert Watson of Seattle, Wash., on a Hawaiian cruise. The friendship ripened over dinner tables in Chicago, and expanded to include a second stranger, C. M. Jordon of Minneapolis, after a "chance" encounter in Brookfield zoo.

Big Talk of Winnings.

There was the casual reference to Jordon as a betting commissioner for a celebrated racing stable in New York, talk of winning $50,000 and as much as $70,000 in one day, hints of a system to determine the winner of a race before it was run, and the convincing luxury of a chauffeur driven automobile.

The day came when Mrs. Sheridan was permitted to share the winnings. She allowed her name to be used in purchasing the bet and her horse came home with $60,000 on his nose. Her cut was to be $15,000, BUT in order to collect they had to show the bookie $60,000 to prove they could have paid if they had lost.

Watson was "embarrassed." Jordon could get some money from his uncle, but his uncle was in Canada. If Mrs. Sheridan could scrape up maybe $35,000 they could get the remainder. She sold her stocks and bonds and delivered the money. Watson took it to the handbook.

We're Rich; We're Ruined.

He came back jubilant. "We're rich," he cried, and displayed a racing ticket. He explained that he had put all the winnings on the nose of another pony.

"We're ruined," Jordon shouted, grabbing the ticket and tearing it up. "I told you to play that horse to place, not to win. I ought to shoot you."

Watson collapsed with what seemed to be a heart attack. When he recovered both promised to return the widow's money as soon as they could sell some oil leases and slap a mortgage on an apartment building in Albany, N. Y.

That was in 1939. Federal officials have been looking for the pair and another accomplice, C. E. Jameson, to whom Mrs. Sheridan was introduced. He sold some of Mrs. Sheridan's securities for her. Judge Barnes issued warrants for their arrest and set bonds at $15,000 each. The indictment accuses all three of using the mails to defraud.

330 CONVICTS TO GET HEARINGS ON PAROLE PLEAS

Parole board subcommittees will resume public hearings Wednesday at state penal institutions on the applications for parole of 330 convicts and parole violators. Some of the cases have been heard during August. Of the 330 applicants, 158 were sentenced from Cook county.

Five robbers who shot two policemen in a gun battle are on the list. They are Edward Mellish, George Montville, Frank Michuda, and Kenneth Tuftedal, who were sentenced to one year to life, and George Budka, who was sentenced to 1 to 10 years. On July 21, last year, they wounded Policemen John Conway and Daniel Keating when the latter caught them cracking a safe in a currency exchange at 3632 South Ashland avenue. The five were sentenced Aug. 23, last year, and have served their minimum sentences.

Bradford [Skippy] Fields, a one man crime wave seven years ago, will come up before the board to determine whether he should be returned to prison as a parole violator. He was originally paroled Jan. 7 last. In 1934, Fields, a former inmate of the Illinois Training School for Boys near St. Charles, organized a band of bandits known as the Sunday bandits because they specialized in Sunday holdups. He was only 17 years old at the time. Two of his comrades were slain.

ASK DISMISSAL OF INQUIRY OVER DIME BUS FARE

The Chicago Motor Coach company yesterday asked the Illinois commerce commission to dismiss its inquiry into the reasonableness of the 10 cent bus fare, on the ground that the rate is "fair and reasonable" and does not produce an excessive return to the company.

The company's request was contained in a brief filed in reply to the commission's order of Aug. 13 to show cause why the 10 cent fare should not be reduced. The company argued that as a result of the country's armament program, disbursements for wages, materials, and taxes have already risen sharply and will rise further.

"In these critical times it is unreasonable, unwise, and contrary to the best public interest to conduct an expensive investigation seeking a reduction of established utility rates," the reply asserted. A hearing on the case is set for Wednesday before Assistant Commissioner William E. Helander.

ELEVEN SEIZED IN DOWNTOWN BOOKIE RAIDS

Police of the Central station and the morals division raided three handbooks in the downtown district yesterday and arrested nine men.

On the sixth floor at 624 South Michigan avenue a squad under Sergt. Fred Traut found gambling paraphernalia and nine telephones. They arrested William Brietheart, C. H. Robinson, Morris Novak, Cutter Masc, Herbert Canning, and Walter Garlo.

Police in other raids arrested George Brown at 359 West Madison street and Jim Reynolds and Joseph Fischer at 162 West Monroe street. Another raid made was at 1509 Lawrence avenue, where two men were seized.

KILLED BY SLEEPING TABLETS.

Mrs. Jennie Kennelly, 40 years old, 1503 North La Salle street, was found dead yesterday from an overdose of sleeping tablets in her home.

Top Notch Racers, Stunt Flyers to Be Seen.

The Chicago Air Maneuvers open today at Elmhurst airport. The three day air show, which will be the first in Chicago's aviation history to draw the country's top notch racers and stunt pilots, opens officially at 12 o'clock with a flight of navy trainers from the Glenview naval air base. Elimination heats for light planes of the 1-S class, under 1,300 pounds gross weight, will begin at 10:30 a. m.

The afternoon will include a full program of acrobatic and speed flying, parachute jumping, and other exhibitions. Among them will be a demonstration of radio controled flying in which an eight foot model plane will fly under perfect control at speeds of 60 and 70 miles an hour.

Three Sailplanes to Be Seen.

Three sailplanes from the Motorless Flight institute south of the city will be seen in an unusual mass flight, towed behind power planes.

Other events scheduled for the afternoon include spot landings by parachute jumpers, mass chute jumping, a "bat man" act by Jack Huber of Minneapolis, who, during the delayed portion of a jump, will control his fall and perform maneuvers by means of fabric stretched, batlike, between arms and legs, and a vertical dive from 10,000 feet in a smoking plane by Jack Bristow, Texas stunt man.

$1,500 Trophy Race.

The Shell trophy race for Culver Cadet planes, winners of which will split prize money of $1,500, largest light plane purse ever offered, will be 25 miles over a triangular course of 3.75 miles. Willis J. Rollins, manager of the Elmhurst airport, said 50 or more are expected to compete.

The airport, under new management, will be dedicated tomorrow by Lieut. Gov. Hugh Cross, representing Gov. Green. Dorothy Lamour, film actress, will serve as queen of the show.

Elmhurst is served by two railway lines. Arrangements have been made to run feeder buses from the suburban stations to the airport.

ALL-STAR GAME SCALPERS WILL FACE GRAND JURY

Thirteen men arrested outside Soldiers' field scalping tickets for the All-Star football game Thursday night were freed yesterday when they were arraigned before Commissioner Edwin K. Walker. All were notified they will be called before the federal grand jury some time next month in an investigation by J. Albert Woll, United States district attorney, of a ticket scalping ring in the city.

Among those seized was N. J. Cladakis, former federal milk market administrator here, who said he had an extra ticket which he had wanted to give away. When a man offered him $10 for the ticket, Cladakis said he was about to take the money, but was promptly arrested by his customer, who was an agent of the internal revenue bureau.

FOUR ARRESTED AS RESULT OF FATAL BEATING

Report All Admit Fight, but Deny Any Robbery.

Four men, two of them Negroes, were in custody of Warren avenue police last night as a result of the fatal beating early yesterday of John Nazimek, 28 years old, 2019 Iowa street, a punch press operator. Nazimek was beaten when he went to the aid of an out of town truck driver who was being set upon by the four men in front of a tavern at 2359 Lake street.

Those held are James Cotromanes, 40 years old, bartender in the tavern; Phillip Pappadakis, 45, cook in the place; Robert Manley, 39, of 1953 Maypole avenue, and Oliver Street, 20, of 2259 Lake street, the latter two Negroes. Capt. Walter McGloon said the four admitted beating Nazimek and Paul Hilliard, 38, of Sioux City, Ia., the truck driver, but denied Hilliard's charge that they robbed him of $11.

Police said the unconscious Nazimek and Hilliard were taken to county hospital for treatment but that an intern refused admittance to Nazimek and told police to take him back to the station. However, he was finally admitted. He died a short time later.

Report Ex-Chicago Girl Engaged to Film Actor

Chicago friends heard reports yesterday that Miss Dorothy O'Kelly, a former Chicagoan who entered the movies last April, is engaged to Tom Brown, a film actor. Miss O'Kelly is 22 years old, and formerly lived at 5210 Washington boulevard. She is signed with 20th Century-Fox films, but has not appeared in pictures.

CALDWELL INQUIRY WILL BE CONTINUED BY NEW GRAND JURY

William B. Crawford, assistant state's attorney, said yesterday that the investigation of the affairs of Max Caldwell, former bootlegger and ousted boss of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks International Protective association, would be continued by the September grand jury. The former union czar is accused of mismanaging union affairs and dissipating union funds.

In Criminal court, Judge Julius H. Miner dismissed a petition for a writ of habeas corpus for Caldwell after Crawford said the state is "not prepared at this time to place any charge against the defendant." Caldwell was arrested a week ago when investigators opened his safety deposit box at the Stevens hotel vaults and found $62,000 in cash, jewelry, and real estate deeds.

Crawford is seeking to prove that the property is part of the $910,000 assets of the union that disappeared during Caldwell's régime as boss. Hearing on a union accounting suit against Caldwell is scheduled to be resumed Thursday before Master in Chancery Daniel A. Covelli.

TWO GIRLS DOFF UNIFORMS; FLEE GENEVA SCHOOL

Two inmates escaped yesterday from the State Training School for Girls at Geneva, after changing from their uniforms to street clothes they found in a storeroom.

The girls are Ethel Kathanetos, 18, of Aurora, who was committed in 1939, and Marjorie Phillips, 18, of Pana, who entered in 1937. Both were paroled and later recommitted to the school. The two girls were trusties and had been assigned to clean a room where the clothing was kept.

Mrs. Elizabeth Lewis, managing officer of the school, attributed the girls' desire to escape to their recent failure to pass an examination in beauty culture, which would have qualified them as beauty operators.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 29.—Today was one of those rare days when the White Sox had a mathematical chance to gain on every team in the American league. But the lads blew it, 5 to 2, succumbing to the good pitching of St. Louis' Elden Auker and the not-so-good pitching of their own Buck Ross.

Joe Haynes, who entered the arena after Ross was knocked out with one down in the third, did some well nigh perfect relief pitching. He faced 18 batsmen, only two of whom got on base.

Margin Is Shrinking.

The fadeout today reduced the Chicagoans' lead over the idle third place Red Sox to a game and a half and their margin over the likewise idle Indians to two games. It was Auker's third victory of the year over the Sox and his 13th in league endeavor.

After Ben Chapman and George Dickey had supplied infield outs in the fifth, Haynes and Don Kolloway singled and Joe Kuhel walked, loading the bases. Mike Kreevich then doubled to left, Haynes and Kolloway getting home with the Chicago total for the afternoon. With Kuhel on third and Kreevich on second, Taft Wright went up to bat. He had made hits in his previous two trips on top of a perfect day at bat yesterday. But this time he flied to Joe Grace to end the only productive inning.

The tipoff on Ross, who was charged with his eighth defeat, was that he walked the leadoff man in each of the three innings he started. All three scored and two besides were charged to Buck's account. Don Heffner walked in the first inning and scored on George McQuinn's triple. McQuinn got home as Luke Appling fumbled Walter Judnich's grounder. Roy Cullenbine followed with a single, but Grace hit into a double play.

Auker Drives in a Run.

Johnny Berardino was the one who walked at the start of the second. He went to third on Bob Swift's single and scored on Auker's fly. Heffner singled, but Harlond Clift bounced into a double play.

McQuinn got the inning starting pass in the third. Wright made a fine catch of Judnich's drive to right center, but Cullenbine caromed a double off Kolloway's glove, McQuinn stopping at third. Grace was given an intentional pass, loading the bases. Wright tried for another circus catch on Berardino's drive to right center, but couldn't quite make it, the shot going for a double, on which McQuinn and Cullenbine scored and Grace stopped at third. Haynes replaced Ross and made Swift and Auker supply easy outs to start his excellent relief job.

DODGERS DEFEAT GIANTS, 5-4; ADD ½ GAME TO LEAD

Wyatt Scores 18th Victory of Season.

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—The Brooklyn Dodgers pounded Hal Schumacher from the mound with a five run rally in the fifth inning today to defeat the Giants, 5 to 4, and increase their lead over the idle St. Louis Cardinals to a game and a half in the hot National league race.

Whit Wyatt recorded his 18th victory of the year against nine losses. The tall right hander struck out eight, including pinch hitter Gabby Hartnett in the eighth with the tying and winning Giant runs on base.

Joe Medwick and Billy Herman each drove across two runs with singles in the Dodgers' big inning, and Medwick further distinguished himself by making a sensational catch of Dick Bartell's long smash in the ninth. Billy Jurges, Giant shortstop, made four straight singles off Wyatt.

The Dodgers' success was their seventh in eight games at the Polo Grounds this year, and it was the 10th defeat for the Giants in their last 12 starts. Score:

TIGERS RETAIN DEL BAKER FOR ANOTHER SEASON

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 29 (AP).—Owner Walter O. Briggs of the Detroit Tigers gave a vote of confidence today to Manager Del Baker by signing him to a one-year contract, terms of which were undisclosed.

In a surprise meeting, Briggs called Baker into his office before the Detroit club left for Cleveland to open a three game series tomorrow. Then a stroke of the pen scratched out all insistent reports that Baker was to be replaced.

The signing at this time represented a departure of the Briggs custom of reaching terms with his managers at the end of the season. In the face of prevailing rumors that Baker was to be fired, Briggs only recently announced he would wait until the season's end before making a decision.

Even last year, when Baker piloted the Tigers to the American league pennant, Briggs waited until a day before the world series to announce retention of Baker.

BERWYN LEGION NINE RECEIVES A BIG WELCOME

Berwyn's civic leaders and fans turned out yesterday to cheer their junior baseball team which qualified for the finals of the American Legion tournament. The team, sponsored by the Berwyn post, was met in Chicago by Berwyn legionnaires when it returned from Columbia, S. C., where it won its way into the finals.

Dr. E. J. Krump, commander of the Berwyn post, was in charge of the reception in the Berwyn Legion hall.

The team will workout at 10:30 o'clock this morning at 31st street and East avenue in Berwyn under the direction of Coach Gil Larimer. Berwyn will play either Flint, Mich., or San Diego, Cal., in the finals. These two teams are engaged in a three game series—which is tied after two games, Flint having won the first, 2 to 1, and San Diego last night's contest, 9 to 4. The finals will be held either in Flint or San Diego.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BY ARCH WARD.

THE Northwest Iowa Amateur Baseball league includes four towns with a total population of only about 1,000. . . . Alpha, the smallest, has 81 and Waucoma, the largest, has 427. . . . The White Sox, lacking the money necessary to operate an extensive farm system of big minor league clubs, are specializing more and more in sandlot prospects for future delivery. . . . Ray Meyers, the club's scout in Detroit, recently signed nine youngsters for 1942 tryouts with the south siders. . . . Battling Nelson lists the following as the best ring warriors he has seen in 50 years of fighting and watching fighters: Tommy Ryan, Joe Gans, John L. Sullivan, Joe Wolcott, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jack Johnson, Johnny Coulon, Jack Dempsey, Terry McGovern, and Kid Lavigne. . . . And what do you think of Joe Louis, Bat? . . . Howard [Cub] Buck, one of the greatest tackles in Wisconsin's football history, is assistant zone manager in Chicago for an automobile firm. . . . Coach Bob Zuppke wanted the Illini to return to the tire tape strips which used to adorn the fronts and sleeves of their football jerseys. . . . Manager C. E. Bowen did his best to comply with Zupp's wishes, but couldn't find any one who makes tire tape any more.

The leading weight loser in the camp of the Detroit Lions is Coach Bill Edwards, who has melted off 20 pounds. . . . Opposing batters contend that Ernie Bonham of the Yankees "doesn't have a thing," but still he's tough. . . . They should have looked at the records, which show he has control and, as Ted Lyons will tell you, that is something to have. . . . Joe DiMaggio, they say, will ask for $80,000 next season, thus equaling Babe Ruth's top salary with the Yankees. . . . Well, they can't shoot him for asking. . . . Martin Marion is the only Cardinal regular, pitchers excepted, who has not suffered more or less serious injury this season. . . . The Cards, altho they remember how an injury to Tommy Thevenow cost them the National league flag in 1927, don't seem to be getting jittery about it. . . . The Tigers probably have the highest salaried second division club in the history of baseball. . . . The White Sox, in second place in the American league, are 17½ games out of first and only 12½ out of the cellar.

I met a soldier boy the other day
Who seemed to have a special flare for me,
And I was charmed to hear the rookie say:
"I'd like to take you out some time for tea";
He took me home and made me get him lunch
While he drank all the beer we had on ice,
And tho he always calls me honeybunch
I know my dad won't think he's very nice.

And finds out that there isn't any more,
His brimstone language won't be fit to hear,
And when he knows this soldier I adore
Was guilty of this awful guzzlement

You cannot blame
A soul for feeling blue,
About some word
He's overheard—
A meaning glance, or two.

For thoughtless words
And wordless thoughts,
So simple when they start,
Will somehow end
A thorn within
Somebody's broken heart.

—Erabell.

No Wonder He Lost.

From the Orlando [Fla.] Sunday Sentinel-Star via Cliff Cox:

They finished the morning round all even. In the afternoon, Gennett made the turn 1 up, but then toppled himself into defeat on the back side with errant approaches and loose putting.

Ten Years Ago Today—The White Sox committed eight errors but defeated Detroit, 10 to 8. . . . Dr. David J. Jones, owner of the Chicago Cardinals, announced that his team would play its home games at Wrigley field. . . . Pat Malone wilted in the eighth inning and Cincinnati defeated the Cubs, 4 to 3.

FRANCK VOTED COLLEGE STARS' MOST VALUABLE

Minnesota Back to Get Trophy Next Year.

The Honor Roll

THE winners of Most Valuable Player trophies annually awarded the outstanding All-Star football player since 1938 in the series between the college men and the professional football champions are:

1938—Cecil Isbell, half back, Purdue.
1939—Bill Osmanski, full back, Holy Cross.
1940—Ambrose Schindler, quarter back, Southern California.
1941—George Franck, half back, Minnesota.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

George Franck, All-Star half back from the University of Minnesota, was voted the Most Valuable Player trophy which annually is awarded a college player for performance against the champions of the National Football league. Franck was the popular choice of the newspaper men who saw the Chicago Bears whip the All-Stars, 37 to 13, Thursday night in Soldiers' field.

Franck will be presented with The Chicago Tribune trophy at the 1942 All-Star game.

Sonny Franck was not the only All-Star to receive votes for this honor. Jackie Robinson of U. C. L. A., who outran Bob Swisher of the Bears to grab a pass for the All-Stars' second touchdown, received support. So did Charley O'Rourke of Boston college, who threw this scoring pass. Ernie Pannell, Texas Aggie tackle, and Tom Harmon, whose determined running off tackle sparked the collegians' bid for a touchdown that finally failed on the Bears' 10 yard line, were others recognized by the newspaper men. But none commanded the support accorded Franck.

George Was a Power House.

Franck knifed thru the Bears' line for eight yards on the first All-Star play of the game. He returned Lee Artoe's kickoff 43 yards after the Bears' initial touchdown. Sonny ran nine yards for a first down on the third play thereafter and then caught Harmon's twenty-two yard pass in the Bears' end zone to tie the score.

This recital, however, is incomplete without mention of the spirit and courage Franck displayed. Without intent to deprecate the skill and ability of other college men, it can be said that if all had been as determined as he was the Bears might have not added the fourth period touchdowns which changed a hard fought battle into a rout.

Fans Like Him, Too.

So, when Franck pulled the muscles under his right shoulder as he tackled Dick Plasman near the conclusion of the third period and was forced from the game, the subsequent vote of the newspaper men was forecast by the tumultuous applause from the thousands of fans. Franck was not seriously injured, however.

The Bears' victory satisfied their followers, who had waited six years for another chance in this series. The Bears participated in the inaugural game and were held to a surprising scoreless tie by the All-Star squad led by George Sauer of Nebraska and Ed Krause of Notre Dame. In 1935 the Bears won, 5 to 0, a most unsatisfactory result in the eyes of the professionals. Consequently Thursday night's touchdown parade finally wiped out the taunt that the Bears never had scored a touchdown in this series.

The Machine Rolls On.

The pro champions moved steadily and surely toward the victory many had predicted for them. It was unfortunate for the collegians that while they had a plethora of backs who could kick, pass, and run in any company, their linemen lacked the weight and drive to match the burly Bear forwards. Moreover, the All-Stars had the most difficult task of any All-American team in preparing a defense for the Bears' famed T formation. All of this, of course, merely is another way of saying that the Bears had a better team.

Well—Who'll Take It Home?

Marvin (Bud) Ward (left) of Spokane, Wash., and Pat Abbott of Pasadena, Cal., eye the trophy they'll battle for in today's 36 hole final of the National Amateur golf tournament at Omaha, Neb. Cubs to Open Lengthy Stand at Home Today

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, who think they did right well for themselves by snaring nine decisions while losing a dozen on their last long journey of the season, will resume business at their home stand this afternoon. And except for two short jaunts they'll be here until the finish, after which they hope to pick up a little extra change by battling the White Sox for better or for worse in the city series. The Sox, no doubt, will accept the challenge even tho it comes from so remote a spot as sixth place.

Uncle Frankie Frisch and his Pirates will furnish the opposition today in the first of a two game visit. The 23 year old Paul Erickson will face Uncle Frankie's boys today, and tomorrow they'll be confronted by Claude Passeau. Frisch undoubtedly will consider Erickson's assignment a brazen plot to make the Pirates pay for the youngster's big league schooling. When the Pirates were here the last time Erickson cooled them off with a one hit whitewashing.

The Reds, who are quietly sneaking up on the leaders, will roll into town Monday for a holiday double header and a single affair Tuesday. Then the Cardinals call for two games. This means five battles in succession with top notchers and just where Manager James Wilson is going to find the needed pitching is a problem. Jake Mooty will be ready for one of the Labor day arguments. Johnny Schmitz, purchased from Milwaukee, will be wearing his new baseball clothes this afternoon and might be put to work in a few days.

Vern [Lefty] Olsen, who after a week in a Philadelphia hospital returned to Chicago for further examination, will be turned loose today. The doctors are still doubtful whether the athlete's trouble is in the gall bladder or stomach. He may not even attempt to pitch before the city series. Bill Lee, spiked more than two weeks ago, has been exercising the last several days and by the middle of next week may be strong enough to handle a starting job.

PROBABLE MAJOR LEAGUE PITCHERS IN TODAY'S GAMES

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Brooklyn at New York [2]—Casey [10-8] and Hamlin [7-6] or Drake [1-1] vs. Lohrman [8-9] and Bowman [4-6] or Adams [4-1].

St. Louis at Cincinnati—M. Cooper [12-8] vs. Riddle [15-2].

Pittsburgh at Chicago—Sewell [12-13] vs. Erickson [2-5].

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Detroit at Cleveland—Newsom [10-17] vs. Smith [9-10].

New York at Washington—Breuer [8-5] vs. Hudson [10-11].

FANS WON'T SEE RED (SHORTS) IN NATIONAL TENNIS

New York, Aug. 29 [Special].—Officials in charge of the national tennis tournament which opens at Forrest Hills tomorrow rejected the entry of Mercedes Marlowe of Los Angeles, but Mercedes demonstrated today that she isn't the kind of a girl to take a thing like that sitting down—especially when considerable of the sitting will have to be done in a new pair of flaming red tennis shorts.

Mercedes was saving those shorts for the national galleries. This afternoon in her frustration she accused the tournament officials of discrimination because she didn't wear conventional whites. Her charge fell somewhat flat, however, because her sister Helen, who has worn some tennis costumes this summer that might have been cut out by Dorothy Lamour's sarong maker, was admitted to the tournament.

MERCEDES MARLOWE.

"Sister and I have too much color for them," stormed Mercedes. We've been stealing most of the publicity from the first tenners and the greybeards can't do anything about it because we pay our own way."

Mercedes' entry was turned down, officials stated, because her record did not justify its acceptance. Which is another way of saying that Mercedes' tennis is not on a par with the form she displays while chasing around the courts in her multicolored shorts.

Sliced by the effect of the draft, the men's entry list includes only 64 players, and is topped off by a seeded list which finds Champion Don McNeill of Oklahoma City ranked no better than third in defense of his title. Bobby Riggs, the 1939 winner, heads the ranking set of eight, followed by Frank Kovacs, whose antics on the court have led several Broadway producers to wonder how he'd be in musical comedy.

A total of 62 are in the women's draw, but missing for the first time in years is the No. 1 drawing card, Alice Marble, now a pro.

BUD CRUSHES RIEGEL, 9 AND 8; PAT WINS, 1 UP

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 29—Marvin [Bud] Ward of Spokane, Wash., a man to beat on any golf course, and Buell Patrick Abbott of Pasadena, Cal., a one time actor who hits a golf ball as deftly as he once uttered asides onstage, tomorrow will play 36 holes for the 45th National Amateur golf championship at the Omaha Field club.

Ward, champion in 1939, was a very relaxed young man as he joined the gallery that clustered around the 36th green to watch Abbott win his 36 hole semi-final this evening from Ted Bishop of Boston, 1 up—a margin Pat gained on the last nine. And plenty of time to relax Bud had, for he was extended to only 28 holes in the course of a comfortable 9 and 8 victory over slim Bobby Riegel of Houston, Tex., in the other penultimate match.

All-Pacific Final.

It is interesting to note that Ward and Abbott are the first golfers in history to make the national final an all-Pacific coast fight. More significant, however, is the fact that both are public links graduates, boys who learned the game on the courses where the majority of Americans play their golf. Bud was a national public links quarter-finalist at Portland in 1933 and Pat went him one better by winning the people's title at New York in 1936.

Neither of these 28 year olds will experience any stage fright over his rôle in tomorrow's big number. Bud won the championship at Chicago's North Shore club in 1939 and Pat was runner-up to Willie Turnesa at Oakmont, Pa., the preceding year.

Naturally, Ward is the favorite in tomorrow's match. Not only did he win the 1939 title, but came within a whisker of capturing the National Open that same year, only a pair of fives on the par three holes of the back nine frustrating him. Furthermore, Bud had to travel eight holes less than his rival, whom he defeated, 3 and 2, in a third round match at Winged Foot last year.

Eleven Over for 124 Holes.

Ward hasn't been down during any of the five matches he played this week and is just 11 over par for the 124 holes he has worked. That includes today's 28, played in a baby gale that raised the Field club's listed par of 72 to an approximate 75.

For all of Ward's competitive genius, however, none in the gallery is overlooking Abbott, a more finished swinger than he was in his trip to the 1938 final. Any man who can knock out Wilford Wehrle, Harry Todd, and Ray Billows in succession, and then come back to fight Bishop, strongest dark horse in a field of dark horses, to a standstill, merits respect.

Pat, an improved position player off the tees, and a fine chipper and putter, is 21 over par for the 140 holes he has played. His match with Bishop was evened nine times, and no hole was halved during the afternoon front nine. That's the kind of an argument Pat and Ted had.

The cards:

Morning Round.

Par—Out	445	534	434—36
Ward—Out	445	544	535—39
Riegel—Out	556	744	445—44

PICK CALIFORNIA FOR WHIRLAWAY'S WINTER CAMPAIGN

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 29 [Special]. — Whirlaway, Warren Wright's champion thoroughbred, will race in California this winter along with the Calumet farm string, Wright confirmed here today.

The Wright color bearer will be pointed for the Lawrence Realization at Belmont Park and probably the New York handicap at the same track. A further possibility is that he will race at Pimlico in November before making his westward trek. The famous son of Blenheim II. has been in hard training since last winter.

Antonio Captures Second Left Handers' Golf Title

$5,000 HANDICAP CARDED TODAY AT WASHINGTON PK.

8 Fillies and Mares Named for Beverly.

Beverly Entries

EIGHT fillies and mares were named in the overnight entries for today's $5,000 Beverly handicap at Washington Park. The field in order of post positions follows:

Horse—	Wt.	Jockey.	Prob. odds.
Montsio	113	A.Shelhamer	3-1
Winamac	100	F. Farrell	15-1
Maisco	108	No boy	8-1
Happy Home	105	A. Craig	15-1
Jezebel II	103	B. Cruickshank	20-1
Night Glow	107	No boy	15-1
Hup Nancy	95	E. Wieiander	30-1
Pink Gal	116	J. Richard	3-1

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Washington Park goes into one of its biggest week-ends today with the running of the $5,000 Beverly handicap. This will be followed by the $25,000 Washington Park handicap on Labor day.

Eight fast fillies and mares were named in the overnight entries for today's feature and several of the country's best handicap performers will assure a brilliant race in Monday's event.

The steadily improving Pink Gal has been allotted top weight of 116 pounds for the Beverly. She finished second to Shine O'Night in the Arlington Matron handicap and second to Misty Isle in the Princess Pat stakes early in the Washington Park meeting. Her rivals today will be Montsio, Maisco, Night Glow, Happy Home, Hup Nancy, Winamac, and Jezebel II.

East vs. Chicago.

The handicap on Labor day shapes up as a struggle involving the invaders from the east—Haltal and Big Pebble—with the king of the Chicago area performers, Equifox, while Sirocco, which has been making a rapid return to his best form, drops another element of uncertainty into the situation. Among the other contenders are Shot Put, Bushwhacker, Tola Rose, Steel Heels, Idle Sun, and Burning Star.

A 23 to 1 shot, Royal Master, beat Heartman by a nose in the seven furlong Inlander purse which headed yesterday's program. Meanwhile the 3 to 5 favorite, Cadmium, was getting home fifth.

Staves Off Challenges.

Royal Master withstood repeated challenges all the way. In the earlier stages Flying Plaid and Top Call were the most persistent contenders. Then Flying Torpedo came up stoutly on the turn. In the stretch Royal Master and Flying Torpedo went head and head until the latter weakened. Meanwhile Heartman had been well back. From midstretch home, however, Heartman began closing with surprising speed considering his increased impost of 117 pounds. He wore down the leader at every stride and just missed getting up to win. Flying Plaid was third. Those who backed the winner collected $48.40, $19.20 and $8 across the board.

Mordecai Wins at 24-1.

Mordecai, the horse which figured in the decision ruling Ken McCombs off Illinois tracks and which was unable to beat $1,500 horses while racing for former owners during the Arlington meeting, went over at 24 to 1 odds yesterday against a field which included Visigoth, Night Lady, Opera Star, and other good ones.

Jockey Jimmy George sent Mordecai into the lead along the rail while racing with Woodchopper in the back stretch. Loque was running third and Visigoth fourth as they went into the turn. Visigoth moved up with a strong challenge as the stretch run began but he couldn't get to the leader. Continuing stoutly, Mordecai crossed the finish line a head in advance of Visigoth. Night Lady was third.

Ask Sox (Only 17½ G. B.) to World Series Meeting

The office of Kenesaw M. Landis, baseball commissioner, announced yesterday that plans for the world series will be made at a meeting of eight major league clubs in New York Sept. 3. Invited are representatives of the Brooklyn, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Pittsburgh clubs of the National league, and of the New York, Chicago, Boston, and Cleveland clubs of the American league, Ford Frick, National league president, and William Harridge, American league president. The Sox trail by 17½ games.

Hopeful Stake Means a Duel for Whitneys

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP).—Tomorrow's $42,000 Hopeful, getaway day feature of Saratoga's August season, finds the Whitneys enjoying as nice and friendly a family feud as even the Whitneys could wish.

Shooting for its sixth victory this season in the spa's traditional 2 year old classic, racing's No. 1 family has entered five of the eight horses named for the 37th running of the Hopeful. Three are coupled as overnight betting favorites—Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out and Devil Diver, and Mrs. Charles Shipman Payson's Amphitheatre.

Some More Whitney Entries.

Also carrying Whitney colors in the 6½ furlong event are Jock Whitney's Buster, winner of the United States Hotel stakes, and C. V. Whitney's Coat of Arms, highly regarded son of Equipoise. Shut Out and Amphitheatre are topweight under 122 pounds. Buster and Devil Diver get in at 119 and Coat of Arms, a maiden, at 112.

The colt most likely to break the family monopoly on the race is Walter P. Chrysler Jr.'s long striding Ramillies, second in his only two starts. Ramillies worked 6 furlongs in 1:13 Wednesday, only 3-5ths of a second off Shut Out's winning time in last Saturday's Grand Union.

Ramillies Gets 113 Pounds.

Ramillies, also a maiden, will carry 112 pounds with George D. Widener's Equalize and William Ziegler Jr.'s Wait a Bit completing the field. Both must carry 116 pounds.

Co-feature is the $10,000 added Saratoga Cup at a mile and three-quarters. William Woodward's Fenelon, under 126 pounds including Jockey Jimmy Stout, is the even money favorite with the Woodvale farm's Dorimar, at 121, the second choice.

WARNER LIONIZED AT FIRST CARLISLE INDIAN REUNION

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 29 (AP).—Glenn S. [Pop] Warner, who once attributed his success as football coach at Carlisle Indian school to the fact that it had no alumni association, had some 200 old grads so enthusiastic today that they prepared to organize one.

He was guest at what amounted to the first Carlisle reunion ever held, a quarter century after the college closed its door. The event lent an old home week flavor to the New York state fair's annual Indian day program.

Gray haired men, Carlisle's red and gold fluttering from lapels, pushed thru Warner's escort at the fair Indian village exhibit and pummeled his back in joyous welcome. Timid matrons edged up to shake hands and identify themselves as Carlisle co-eds of 1902, 1908, 1914.

"My," Warner exclaimed, "I haven't seen some of these boys in 40 years. And I've never seen so many at once since leaving the school."

That was in 1915. Pop has been at Stanford and Temple since.

W-G-N, Mutual to Present Beverly Handicap Today

The running of the Beverly handicap will be broadcast this afternoon from 5 to 5:30 o'clock on W-G-N and Mutual in an exclusive network hookup from Washington Park. Dave King, Mutual track caller, will describe the running.

15 YEAR OLD GIRL TAKES WOMEN'S FLYCAST TITLES

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 29 (AP).—Aunalee Crusey of Sidney, O., who is 15 years old, won the women's all-around championship of the national fly and bait casting tournament today, while Clyde Marshall of East Liverpool, O., went far into the lead for men's all-around honors. Marshall won both the wet by accuracy and the ⅝ ounce distance casting events to add to his first in the ⅝ ounce distance competition yesterday.

In gaining the all-around title, Miss Crusey won the ⅝ ounce accuracy casting event with a score of 96 after taking first in the ⅝ ounce accuracy cast yesterday and finishing fifth in the women's wet fly contest.

SLUGGER GREEN, THE GOVERNOR, POKES A TRIPLE

Canton, Ill., Aug. 29 [Special].—Gov. Dwight H. Green played in a softball game here tonight before an enthusiastic crowd of 3,000. The game was a benefit performance to help replace the building of the Mount Carmel Negro Baptist church here which was destroyed by fire last January.

The governor played on both sides during the game, two innings with the Canton Kiwanis club and two with the Lewistown Kiwanians. His three base hit in the fourth inning was responsible for the Canton team winning, 9 to 8.

DOUGHERTY AND DOLVEN IN FINAL OF COUNTY GOLF

Battle Today for Title; Clish, Graw Beaten.

Medalist Frank Dolven Jr. of Mid-City, former CDGA caddy champion, and Robert Dougherty of Navajo Fields, a former titleholder, will meet today in the 36 hole final match for the 26th annual Cook county amateur golf championship at Columbus park. The morning round will start at 9 o'clock, and the afternoon round at 2.

Dolven, the medalist, yesterday went 20 holes to eliminate John Graw of Columbus park, 1 up. Dougherty, veteran football coach at Harrison Tech, defeated Richard Clish of St. Andrews, 2 and 1.

Lead Changes Quickly.

Dolven, out in 36, three over par and one stroke more than Graw, squared the match for the third time at the ninth where Graw trapped his second shot. The lead changed twice more before they reached the 15th green. The next four holes were halved with 4s and this sent the match into overtime. Dolven and Graw, last year's finalist, birdied the 19th.

Frank took a 3 on the 20th while John used four strokes for a bogey after dubbing an approach to lose the hole and the match. Dolven played the second nine in 35 for an 18 hole total of 71 while Graw fired a 34 for a 69.

Scores an Eagle 3.

Dougherty was out in 36 against Clish and was all even at the turn. He then kept one under par for the last eight holes to win on the 17th with a birdie 3.

Clish took the first with an eagle 2 with a 10 footer on the green, and went 2 up at the third when Dougherty's second was short of the green.

However, Dougherty won the fourth and eighth holes. The ex-champion went into the lead at the 11th where Clish hooked another drive for a bogey 4. Clish banged his drive to the left of the 14th green for another bogey to go 2 down.

FOHR MAY TAKE AUTO LEAD FROM BETTENHAUSEN

Myron Fohr of Milwaukee will replace Tony Bettenhausen in the lead for the season title if he wins the main event in the midget auto races tonight in Raceway Park, 129th street and Ashland avenue. Ted Duncan, Mike O'Halloran, and Emil Andres also are high in the standings.

Keeps Tennis Title

[Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP).—Louise Brough won her second straight national girls' tennis title today, then paired with another Californian to dethrone the defending doubles champions at the Philadelphia Cricket club.

The 18-year-old Beverly Hills star conquered Doris Hart of Miami Fla., in the singles final, 7-5, 6-2, and teamed with Gertrude Moran of Santa Monica to defeat Miss Hart and Nellie Sheer of Miami Beach, Fla., 7-5, 4-6, 9-7, for the doubles title.

HOGAN'S 136 TOPS FIELD HALFWAY IN HERSHEY OPEN

Hershey, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP).—Ben Hogan, Hershey Country club professional, added a brilliant 67 to his first round 69 today for a total of 136 and a two stroke lead over Lloyd Mangrum of Monterey Park, Cal., at the half way mark of the 72 hole $5,000 Hershey Open tournament.

Straight from tee to green, he put together 35—32, six under par, and headed—barring the unforeseen—toward the 54th consecutive tournament in which he has finished in the money.

65 YACHTS SAIL FOR ST. JOSEPH IN ANNUAL RACE

Brisk Southwest Winds Speed Record Entry.

A record fleet of 65 yachts left Grant Park harbor last night for St. Joseph, Mich., on the first leg of the annual Labor day week-end tristate race, which is sponsored by the three leading Chicago yacht clubs—Chicago, Columbia, and Jackson Park. A strong southwest wind was blowing, favoring the two masted craft and those with extra light canvas.

The second leg, from St. Joseph to Michigan City, Ind., will be sailed under the Columbia Yacht club's sponsorship tomorrow, and the final leg, from Michigan City to Jackson Park, will be run by the Jackson Park Yacht club on Monday.

Willis Takes Charge.

Race Committee Chairman Byron Willis is in charge of the race to St. Joseph, and William Moore, retiring head of the Jackson Park Yacht club's race committee, will conduct the last leg Monday.

UNIVERSAL DIVISION

CRUISING DIVISION.

Star Sloops Race.

The annual Shipping Board trophy series for Star class sloops will be sailed today, tomorrow, and Monday off Wilmette by the Sheridan Shore Yacht club. Stars from the Columbia, Chicago, and Jackson Park yacht clubs will meet with the Wilmette craft in the three day series. Commodore A. W. Friskey Jr. will be race committee chairman.

Army's Football Squad Reports—Just 43 Strong

West Point, N. Y., Aug. 29 [Special].—Forty-three candidates for Army's football squad reported to Earl Blaik, new head coach, for the opening practice today. Only a few men of promise came up from the plebe squad and the coaches are none too cheerful over prospects.

Lawn Bowlers Open Midwest Tourney Today

Approximately 500 lawn bowlers from all parts of the United States will gather in Chicago today to open the annual tournament of the Midwest Lawn Bowling association, which runs thru Sunday and Labor day. Play starts this morning at 9 o'clock.

The Lakeside club at 58th street and the Outer drive in Jackson park is the headquarters of the tournament. Matches also will be played on the rinks of the Chicago club in Washington park, 56th street and Cottage Grove avenue.

Doubles matches will occupy the bowlers today, pairs advancing by eliminating their opponents. Tomorrow, the teams will line up against each other. Teams eliminated from the first round will play for a second round consolation cup, while those eliminated from the second round will vie for a third round cup.

Monday, the players will meet in singles. Among the prominent players are Arthur H. Hartley of Chicago, national singles champion for the last two years; Bobby Savage of Chicago defending midwest titleholder, and Jim Weir and Jim Hovell, Detroit aces.

Humphries to Face Browns for Sox Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 29.—Johnny Humphries tomorrow will face the Browns in quest of his fourth straight shutout for the White Sox. He hasn't blanked the Browns, the shutouts having been 3 to 0 over the Tigers, 1 to 0 over the A's and 3 to 0 over the Red Sox. Johnny will push off tomorrow possessed of an unfinished string of 33 scoreless innings. George Caster is scheduled to work for the Browns.

Elden Auker, who engaged in fisticuffs with Joe Kuhel the last time he started a game against the White Sox, thereby earning a $100 fine, seemed in a much sweeter mood today.

Ritchie Puts Foster Away for 5th Knockout in Row

BEARS GET THREE DAYS OFF; HALAS FEARS STALENESS

Don't Think of Football, He Warns Them.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

The most difficult job in town yesterday would have been to round up a quorum of Chicago Bears, those same fellows who on Thursday night walloped the College All-Stars, 37 to 13, in Soldiers' field.

Owner-Coach George Halas gave his professional champions a three day leave, exhorting them to think about anything except football. They all went their various ways, but with instructions to report at the Delafield, Wis., camp Monday ready for another siege of training.

Hartman Decides to Coach.

Meanwhile Halas stayed close to his loop office on the chance that he might have a visit from Tom Harmon of Michigan. Tom, however, did not show up, but the two may meet today and discuss terms. The Bears have first call on Tom's services if he decides to play. Halas said yesterday that Fred Hartman, All-Star tackle from Rice, has decided to return to Texas to coach.

The Bears are sure of two members of the All-Star cast, tho. These are Norman Standlee, full back, and Hugh Gallarneau, half back, both of Stanford. The Bears already have three full backs, and one of them may be shifted if Standlee lives up to his collegiate reputation.

Expect Financial Cleanup.

In the first two weeks of September the National league champions will play four exhibition games and stand to make quite a financial cleanup before beginning the defense of their title Sept. 28 against the Packers in Green Bay. The Bears will meet the New York Giants Sept. 7 in Wrigley field. They do not play each other during the championship season. Against the Packers last week the Giants ran a back field man in motion, influenced no doubt by the Bears' success with this maneuver.

After this game the Bears will leave for three eastern showings. The first will be the night of Sept. 9 in Ebbets field against the Brooklyn Dodgers. They will take on the New England All-Stars Sept. 11 in Boston, and meet their Newark farm club Sept. 14.

FEATURE VIOLIN ON CHICAGOLAND HOUR OVER W-G-N

Col. Robert R. McCormick to Speak Tonight.

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

A violin solo by Michael Wilkomirski, concert master of the W-G-N Concert orchestra, will be heard on the Chicagoland hour from 9 to 10 o'clock tonight over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Marion Claire, soprano, and Attilio Baggiore, tenor, will join Wilkomirski, Henry Weber, conductor, and the orchestra in presenting a program of distinguished music.

Col. McCormick to Speak.

Miss Claire will sing "The Gypsy Song," from Kalman's "Countess Maritza," and Schubert's "Ave Maria." The chorus, directed by Robert Trendler, will support her.

Some Familiar Tunes.

Baggiore will sing "My Dream Girl," from Herbert's "Girl of My Dreams," and DeMoya's "Song of Songs." He will join Miss Claire in two medleys from Friml's "Vagabond King" and Gilbert and Sullivan's "Iolanthe" and "Gondoliers."

William A. Bacher produces the Chicagoland hour.

BOY, 14, KILLED WHEN CYCLING ON WEST SIDE

Raymond Gianotti Jr., 14 years old, 1040 North Parkside avenue, was killed yesterday by an automobile when riding his new bicycle at Parkside avenue and Huron street. The driver of the car was William Task, 58, of 5532 Jackson boulevard.

Vito Justino, 19, of 1001 South Wood street, was injured fatally when the automobile he was driving crashed into a bridge abutment at 70th street and Kedzie avenue.

Clarence Swanson, 15 years old, 1616 West Harrison street, Broadview, died early today in the Oak Park hospital of injuries suffered last night when he was struck by an automobile in 1st avenue, near 22d street, in Proviso township, when riding a bicycle. The driver was Donald Rowley, 21, of 614 South 3d avenue, Maywood, a machinist.

Arthur Miller, 42 years old, 8634 South 77th court, Roberts Park, near Justice, a window trimmer, was killed late last night when he was run down by an automobile on 79th street at Roberts road. The driver was Stanley Kostecki, 30, of 254 West 119th street, a coil insulator.

Robert N. Meyer, a quarry worker, 43, died in his home at 300 North William street, Thornton, of injuries received Tuesday. He was struck by a car at 181st street and Chicago road in Thornton. The driver was John Burgess, 50, of 40 West Main street, Chicago Heights.

Roy Nylor, 36, of 617 Enterprise avenue, Elgin, was killed and two others were critically injured in a collision of automobiles at Higgins and Cumberland roads, in Park Ridge.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 612 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 424 were killed in Chicago where 16,355 were injured in traffic accidents during the same period.

2 SLAYER PALS DIE TOGETHER IN GAS CHAMBER

San Quentin, Cal., Aug. 29 (AP).—A strange young man who resisted every effort for clemency in his behalf, was executed today at the side of another convict for whom he had formed an odd attachment. Both were convicted of murder.

The two, Eldon Hawk, 26, and John Lininger, 40, died in the gas chamber. The murderers asked that they be buried side by side. They first met in the death house.

The widow of the San Diego mechanic whom Hawk murdered tried in vain to have his sentence changed to life imprisonment.

FLAMES WRECK SOUTH SHORE RAILWAY BRIDGE

Fire attacked the wooden supports of a 75 foot bridge on the South Shore electric line 12 miles east of Gary yesterday and the bridge collapsed shortly before the arrival of a Chicago-South Bend train, carrying several hundred persons who had attended the All-Star football game. The passengers were shuttled across the Dunes highway to a train on the other side of the bridge. The shuttling will continue until tomorrow when repairs on the bridge will be completed. The cause of the fire was not determined.

Girl Found Wandering in Street Held by Police

A young woman about 20 years old was found wandering along the North avenue beach yesterday by Policeman Ray Eddy. She told the officer she could not remember her name and kept repeating, "I live with the devil." She is about 5 feet 2 inches tall, weighs 105 pounds, and was wearing a blue and white sports dress. She was taken to the women's quarters in the Central station.

Fire in Middletown, Conn., Causes $800,000 Damage

Middletown, Conn., Aug. 29 (AP).—Fire swept thru the business section of Main and Court streets tonight, destroying or damaging at least 15 business establishments. A fire official estimated the damage at $800,000. John H. Bransfield told reporters the fire started when a pan of grease upset on a stove in his tavern.

SECOND CATHOLIC CLUB OPENS FOR MEN IN SERVICE

The second Catholic club for service men in Chicago, 1122 South Wabash avenue, will be opened informally today for the use of army and navy service men. The Rev. William A. O'Connor, archdiocesan director of the National Citizens Community service, said the formal dedication of the structure will be held late in September.

The building was formerly used as a Paulist settlement, and was turned over to the council by the Rev. John E. Burke, C.S.P., pastor of St. Mary's church, 9th street and Wabash avenue.

Modernistic furniture for the center was donated by the Chicago councils of the Knights of Columbus. James Carney, formerly secretary of the Chicago chapter of the Knights of Columbus, will be the director and will be assisted by Ray Bedore.

TAKE NEW STEPS TO CHECK POLIO IN PENNSYLVANIA

Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 29 (AP).—State and local authorities followed the spread of Pennsylvania's infantile paralysis outbreak today with rigid bans on gatherings of young people and the postponement of school opening next month.

The disease has taken a toll of 18 lives to date and stricken more than 250 persons, most of them in 11 eastern and central counties.

The reporting of three new cases in Philadelphia and eight in other counties led to additional restrictions today, but Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of the state bureau of health conservation, indicated the lines of the outbreak area were about fixed at this stage.

Woman Dental Technician Ends Her Life by Poison

Mrs. Marie Werther, 30 years old, 1121 East 54th street, a dental technician, died late last night in the Illinois Central hospital a short time after she had swallowed a quantity of poison in her home. Her husband, Irwin Werther, a radio advertising salesman, said she had been in ill health.

CHICAGO LURES THOUSANDS FOR LABOR HOLIDAY

Natives Desert City to Look at Country.

While thousands of Chicagoans jam roads to the country during the Labor day holidays, as many thousands will arrive to see a Chicago that a majority of its natives never have seen.

Weather prospects are bright. Today and tomorrow will be warm with nearly maximum sunshine. Monday will be cooler, partly cloudy, and perhaps some rain will fall in the city and vicinity. Virtually the same conditions will be found downstate and in Indiana, Michigan, and Wisconsin.

Approximately 200,000 out-of-towners will take over the city while its natives are seeking the country, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce. This includes 50,000 drawn to the city by Thursday's All-Star game. Many of these, the hotel men say, made reservations thru the week-end.

300 Come from Denver.

One loop hotel has reservations for a special tour of 300 visitors from Denver, Colo., and points en route. Many of them undoubtedly left homes within easy driving distance of mountain lakes, trout streams, and open spaces that would make a fortune for a resort owner within 100 miles of Chicago.

"Most of them are coming here just to ride around and see the city," an executive of the hotel said. "We arrange tours for them to take in the planetarium, aquarium, museums, art galleries, and other places where many natives never go. Chicago is a genuine summer resort."

Many hotels will be host to similar groups of sightseers. Two tours from St. Louis have reservations at one of the loop hotels.

Sports Attract Thousands.

Not all of Chicago's visitors are so culture hungry. Hotels which feature hot swing bands attract a clientele more interested in night life. Horses will draw perhaps 30,000 to the races, and a double header with Cincinnati in Cubs park on Labor day will attract 20,000 to 25,000.

All railroads are running extra sections into Chicago, and air line reservations have been filled for days.

The holiday will be one of Chicago's busiest in several years, an Association of Commerce official said. Because of increased employment in the arms boom, he said, more persons have money to spend. And because they are working harder, they make more of the opportunity to take a holiday.

47 Make Mass Escape From Georgia Reformatory

Gatesville, Tex., Aug. 29 (AP).—Forty-seven inmates of the State Juvenile Training school escaped today in a mass break just before supper. Nine were recaptured. Posses sought the others. The school, which has 682 inmates, receives youths sentenced in juvenile courts.

More Holdover Democrats Lose Their Jobs with State

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29 (AP).—Another month-end shakeup in the ranks of state employés was in progress today as Republican administration leaders dismissed holdover Democratic pay rollers. The number may run as high as 700, most of them in Chicago branch offices, one administration source said. Departments in Springfield affected by the shakeup included the department of insurance, department of health, and department of registration and education.

FRIENDS FOR 68 YEARS DIE ONLY 4 HOURS APART

Two Lake county women who were born in the same town in England who came to America on the same boat in 1891, and who lived less than two miles apart during the last 45 years, died four hours apart in their Libertyville homes.

The two, lifelong friends, were Mrs. Elizabeth Gleason, 69 years old, 128 Park place, a widow, and Mrs. Kate Meaker, 68, wife of Sidney Meaker, a gardener, living on North Milwaukee avenue. Mrs. Gleason died shortly before midnight Thursday, and Mrs. Meaker died at 3 a. m. yesterday.

Both women will be buried in Lakeside cemetery tomorrow, after services for Mrs. Gleason in the Episcopal church and for Mrs. Meaker in the chapel at 531 North Milwaukee avenue.

G. E. MORDOFF JR. JAILED; ACCUSED OF NONSUPPORT

Gordon E. Mordoff Jr., whose late father, Dr. Gordon Mordoff, figured in the sensational "Sonny Boy" case several years ago, was locked up in the Wilmette village jail yesterday on a charge of nonsupport filed by his wife Ruth in behalf of herself and their two children. He is scheduled to appear this morning before City Judge John Peters.

The Mordoffs were married on May 22, 1937, after Municipal Judge Joseph B. Hermes threatened to fine them $200 unless they did so. They had been charged with disorderly conduct after they were found living together.

6 AURORA FIRMS PROTEST CUT IN LOCKER OUTPUT

Call 60 Per Cent Slash Discriminatory.

Six Aurora, Ill., fabricators of steel lockers and shelving yesterday protested Price Administrator Leon Henderson's order calling for a 60 per cent slash in production of these items in the three months beginning Sept. 1.

They described the order as discriminatory and said it will mean widespread layoffs in the six Aurora factories.

Copies Sent to Senators.

The protests were forwarded to Henderson's Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply and to the two Illinois senators by Lyon Metal Products company, All-Steel Equipment company, Durabilt company, Aurora Equipment company, Aurora Steel Products company, and Bentson Manufacturing company.

They asserted wood can't be substituted satisfactorily, because their plants are not equipped to handle anything but sheet steel. Attempts to get a sufficient quantity of rearmament orders, so that employment effects of the drastically reduced production could be averted, have proved unsuccessful.

Order Was Unexpected.

The order, issued last week, came with little advance notice. On July 27 the OPACS sent out letters informing the manufacturers that their production might be curtailed in the fall on the basis of a questionnaire to be circulated. These questionnaires were not circulated, the manufacturers declared, and they anticipated no action would be taken until they had received and returned questionnaires. The curtailment order requires that manufacturers of desks, tables, and furniture reduce their output 30 per cent. But manufacturers of steel lockers, filing cabinets, and shelving must make the 60 per cent reduction.

THEORISTS RIDE SADDLE IN NEW ARMAMENT UNIT

SPAB Setup Tragic, Says Rep. Cox.

BY JOHN FISHER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29.—With the New Dealers definitely in the saddle, the rearmament program today entered a new phase—American preparedness in the hands of administration theorists, with experienced business men relegated to less responsible positions.

Rep. Eugene E. Cox.

Developments followed quickly after the President's appointment last night of a New Deal dominated seven man agency—the Supply Priorities and Allocations board—to distribute the nation's resources as they choose.

SPAB Tragic, Says Cox.

They included:

1. Representative Eugene E. Cox [D., Ga.] said creation of the SPAB and elevation of the New Dealers was tragic and added, "It all makes one wonder if, after all, it is national defense that is being sought."

2. William S. Knudsen, director general of the Office of Production Management, who slipped in influence thru the President's shakeup of the armament agencies, announced new appointments within the OPM and expressed regret at the departure of Edward R. Stettinius Jr. and John D. Biggers, business men who were shoved from the OPM to less responsible positions.

3. Mr. Roosevelt announced that W. Averell Harriman, New Deal convert from big business and now lend-lease "expeditor" in London, will head the American mission to Moscow for conferences with Great Britain and communist Russia on aid to the soviets. The President said about half a dozen persons will represent the United States. He lunched with Harriman and Harry L. Hopkins, special assistant to the President in charge of aid to other nations.

Created by Executive Order.

Mr. Roosevelt created the SPAB by executive order last night. It will supervise the distribution and imposition of priorities on the nation's available materials, fuel, power and "other commodities of all kinds" for use by the army and navy or given to other nations under lend-lease. It also will rule the allocation of materials to Latin American and other nations by Vice President Henry A. Wallace's board for economic warfare against the axis, and the remainder, if any, to be allocated among industries for civilian use.

The new board assumes a position of greatest importance because it will control resources. No manufacturer can operate without the raw materials, fuel, and power facilities under the board's jurisdiction. Even the OPM will be dependent upon the SPAB to that extent.

The new setup is largely the work of Justice Samuel I. Rosenman of the New York state Supreme court, a longtime confidant of the President.

Four Granted Great Authority.

The plan brings four New Dealers—Wallace, Price Fixer Leon Henderson, Hopkins, and Sidney Hillman, the CIO vice president who is associate director general of the OPM—into positions of great authority. These men constitute four members of the SPAB. The others are Knudsen and two interventionist cabinet members, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox.

"The Rosenman plan for setting up the SPAB is enough to break the hearts of those who know the problem but apparently are helpless to do anything about it," Representative Cox said.

"Judge Rosenman has succeeded in tying the hands of Knudsen and making a flunky out of Stettinius. These are the gentlemen that the left wingers in the government have been gunning for since they were first appointed. Rosenman has arranged things so that Henderson and Hillman can run the show."

How Ne wSetup Works.

Under the new setup of the SPAB, Henderson will run prices and civilian allocations, and the OPM will supervise arms production.

Stettinius is under Hopkins as "lend-lease administrator," while Hopkins retains over-all authority on aid to other nations. Donald M. Nelson succeeded Stettinius and priorities director and is executive director of the SPAB.

Knudsen announced that Douglas L. MacKeachie, deputy OPM purchases director, succeeds Nelson as head of the purchasing division. W. H. Harrison, formerly deputy OPM production director, succeeds Biggers as production head. Biggers is being sent to London to help Harriman.

W. L. Batt, another big business man with New Deal sympathies, will head a new OPM materials division.

Steel Fabricator Sells 23½ Acres on South Side

Clayton Mark & Co., steel fabricator, yesterday sold a 23½ acre tract of land at the southeast corner of Leavitt and 73d streets, to the Damen Avenue Industrial corporation for $125,000. The land is L shaped and extends east between 74th street and the Chicago & Western Indiana R. R. to Wolcott street. It contains two warehouse buildings leased by Crooks Terminal Warehouses, Inc.

★SMALL BUSINESS★ MAN'S DEPARTMENT

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented upon.

Caught in the welter of priority controls, their enterprises shaken by the dislocations of material supplies, small business men yesterday attempted to appraise the effect of the President's shakeup of the rearmament management.

Telephone inquiries to the Small Business Men's department unanimously were concerned with the following questions: Does this mean that the whole priorities system is scrapped? What will be the effect on our business of the new priorities board? What is the significance of the replacement of Stettinius by Nelson as priorities director?

Expect Tighter Control.

With the future obscured by the criss-crossing of political and economic currents, business analysts were hesitant about committing themselves to clear cut predictions. They restrained themselves to rough outlines of what may be expected.

The consensus was that the priorities system as now constituted will be retained, but will be broadened and tightened to assure a right of way for armament, lend-lease, and economic warfare requirements at the expense of civilian needs.

Altho the White House statement accompanying the executive order was planned to allay the fears of small business men faced with extinction under the government allocation program, it was compellingly clear that civilian industries would be waiting at the end of the line when materials are passed out and some will have to go away empty handed.

Shortage for Civilians.

The statement said that the priority controls "will necessarily create a shortage for civilian use in the United States. . . . The necessity of granting priorities in materials of which there are present shortages will result in some dislocation—in some shutdowns or curtailment of work in some factories which manufacture nondefense materials."

The tone of the statement implied that more stringent regulation of supplies is in the offing, with preference given to military, lend-lease, and economic warfare needs. Emphasis given to the requirements of economic warfare in the priorities system was interpreted as meaning that orders for goods to be exported in the western hemisphere may have precedence over civilian orders.

In other words, the line which forms to the right of the allocation window will start [1] with the army and navy and certain other government agencies, [2] England, Russia, China, and other anti-axis powers, [3] Vice President Wallace's economic warfare board, and [4] the American public.

The selection of Donald M. Nelson as director of priorities, it is generally believed, resulted primarily from his efficient handling of the purchasing division of the Office of Production Management. Also he is credited with having foreseen the difficulties that the rearmament program would lead to.

Nelson has been among those urging expansion in existing production facilities and emphasized the necessity of preparing small plants rapidly for the difficult transition from peacetime to military operations.

Nelson was executive vice president of Sears, Roebuck & Co. before he accepted his dollar-a-year job from the government. His relations with small business men, small towns, and rural areas as Sears' merchandising executive brought him close to the problems and viewpoints of small business.

Helped to Spread Business.

He engineered the placing of army quartermaster business with a larger number of small manufacturers instead of with a few big companies. One method he used was to change the bidding regulation from requiring prices f. o. b. Philadelphia [central pricing point] to F. O. B. at the individual plant. This threw the competition open to numerous small plants.

Another Nelson approach to spreading orders was to limit to 15 per cent the amount of any item bought from one company. He contended that this dispersal of government work over a wide area and into smaller plants would mitigate the effects of a postwar crash and reduce the migration of labor and the dislocation of flow of income.

RETAIL GOODS SCARCER.

Distributors are reporting an "ever tightening delivery situation," with shortages most apparent in the appliance fields, Dun & Bradstreet said yesterday in the credit agency's weekly retail trade review. Supplies were said to be dwindling first in the lower priced items because manufacturers were using available materials in the production of the better grade merchandise. The survey said retail sales continued to rise at a brisk pace and averaged 25 to 30 per cent above a year ago for the country as a whole.

FARM MACHINERY.

My company makes parts used to repair plows and other farm equipment. What kind of preference rating can I get?

Answer: Under the farm machinery and equipment rating plan announced Aug. 22, a defense rating of A-10 may be assigned to orders for materials needed for parts used in the repair and maintenance of existing farm equipment. Application for the rating should be made on form PD 88 and forwarded to the Automotive, Railroad and Agriculture branch, Office of Production Management, Washington, D. C. The rating assigned may be extended by the producer to his supplier and the latter, in turn, may reextend it to his supplier.

People and Events

E. M. Wilcox retires today as assistant superintendent of equipment of the New York Central System, Chicago, and as superintendent of equipment of the Indiana Harbor Belt railroad and the Chicago Junction railway. Wilcox is the inventor of the car retarding system, a safety device used on railroad cars in freight classification yards where cars are received, sorted, and made into new trains. For his work in this development he received the Henderson gold medal of the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia. Wilcox is 70 years old and has completed over 49 years of active railroad service. He will be succeeded by W. L. Houghton, master mechanic in Chicago.

The 1942 Studebakers were inspected yesterday by 350 dealers and distributors at a meeting in the Palmer House. The group was addressed by Paul G. Hoffman, president; K. B. Elliott, vice president, and C. S. Fletcher, sales manager.

John E. Bjorkholm has been appointed superintendent of motive power for the Milwaukee road, effective Sept. 1, succeeding Ralph W. Anderson, who is retiring. Bjorkholm entered the company's service as a locomotive fireman in 1906.

George E. Smith, vice president of the Crosley corporation, has been retained by the United States signal corps as civilian adviser and counselor in the reorganization of certain activities of the corps.

E. M. McClanahan, who has served as secretary to the presidents of Armour & Co. since 1918, has been named assistant secretary of the company. He succeeds Charles F. Haseltine.

J. C. Bridgewater, copy director of H. W. Kastor & Sons, Chicago advertising firm, has been appointed manager of the copy department of the Chicago office of Sherman K. Ellis & Co., Inc., effective Sept. 15.

United Air Lines to Add Another New York Flight

United Air Lines announced yesterday that its 14th daily flight between Chicago and New York City by way of Cleveland will be established Monday. George E. Hatch, district traffic manager, said the flight will leave Chicago at noon, central standard time, stop in Cleveland at 2:48 p. m., eastern standard time, and arrive at New York at 5:28 p. m., eastern time. An additional westbound flight will leave New York at 8:05 a. m., eastern time, and arrive in Chicago at 12:25 p. m., central standard time.

Steel Makers Need 30,000 Tons of Aluminum a Year

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—The American Iron and Steel institute estimated today that, at the present rate of operations, steel producers need about 30,000 tons of aluminum a year, chiefly to deoxidize and purify their molten product. There is no completely satisfactory substitute.

Packard Chief Hits Materials Shortage Talk

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

M. M. Gilman, president of the Packard Motor Car company, at a meeting in the Drake hotel yesterday introduced the 1942 models to dealers from Illinois and nearby states and made pungent comment on the nation's arms activities.

W. M. Packer describes improvements in new models.

The company announced that prices for the 1942 models in the Clipper series will be reduced $100 to $115 on the eight cylinder models. Whereas last year the price differential between eight cylinder and six cylinder cars was $215, it will be $55 this year.

Stating that Packard is in good shape with respect to materials, Gilman said that altho there may be a materials shortage in the future he does not see how there can be one today.

Arms Work Just Begun.

"Production on the big arms projects has hardly started to roll," he explained, "so it is difficult to see how we can have a shortage in materials now except for a few special types. We should not be disturbed by the materials shortage bugaboo during the next few months. Of course, when arms production really gets going there will be shortages."

Gilman said that one uncertain element is the labor situation, which must be corrected.

"However, I think that talk of having Washington clamp down on the unions is silly. I have never seen a controversy that didn't have two sides and in the current one labor certainly has its side."

Dealers Have Own Job.

Holding that the first consideration of the automobile manufacturers must be the rearming of the nation, Gilman said that maintenance of normal business must have the first attention of the dealers.

"The men in the field can't do much about the war in Europe or the labor situation, but they can do a good sales job in their own localities," he continued. "In doing that who knows but what they are doing as good a job for our country as the man who drives a rivet in an airplane at San Diego." The continued success of American business will depend on its coming out of the emergency in good shape."

In discussing the new models, as now being produced, Gilman declared that there will be no substitutes used and that the cars will be the best in history.

Steering Is Made Easier.

W. M. Packer, vice president in charge of distribution, said that the engines have been stepped up five horsepower. As previously stated the Clipper type streamlined styling is being continued, but with numerous improvements. Glass area has been increased to give a 26 per cent increase in visibility. Fuel economy is improved, noise is reduced, steering is easier.

Wheel bases run from 120 inches to 148 inches for the senior cars which maintain the traditional Packard lines. Both six and eight cylinder engines are being offered. The price of the automatic drive is reduced.

Looking to the future the company has completed tooling for cast-iron pistons when it will be necessary to use them. Tests with cast-iron pistons are said to have shown marked success.

4 Billions for Plants

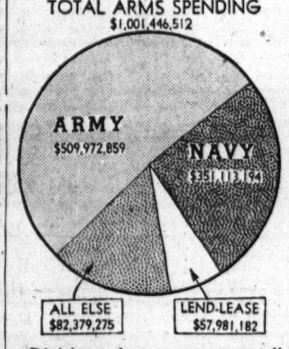
Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 [Special].—The bureau of research and statistics of the Office of Production Management reported today that the estimated cost of 2,420 defense industrial plant expansions and new projects has totaled $4,192,495,000. Of these, 523 were financed with public funds at a cost of $3,293,033,000.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—The treasury's armament expenditures passed 1 billion dollars in August, highest spending of the kind since the World war. With three business days of the month yet to mark up, the treasury said that expenditures from Aug. 1 thru Aug. 27 for rearming totaled $1,001,446,512.

This was about 72 millions more than was spent in the whole month of July, and about five times as much as was spent in August last year when the program had barely begun. The treasury figures did not include, however, defense disbursements of the Reconstruction Finance corporation and its subsidiaries, which have been running above 60 millions a month.

Division of Spending.

Spending in the first 27 days of August thru the treasury included $509,972,859 for the army, $351,113,194 for the navy, $57,981,182 for lend-lease, $24,862,550 for defense activities of the federal security agency, $21,570,260 for defense jobs of the federal works agency, $13,529,938 for special projects financed out of the President's defense fund, $8,416,495 for emergency ship construction of the maritime commission, $2,222,367 for administrative expense of selective service, and $11,777,665 for other arms activities.



Division of armament expenditures in first 27 days of August.

Altho a small part of the total, the lend-lease cash expenditures of $57,981,182 represented more than half of all the checks written for lend-lease since the program started. Heretofore, lend-lease shipments came largely out of stocks already owned by the government and required no cash spending.

Budget Prediction Fulfilled.

The August figures fulfilled a prediction of Budget Director Harold D. Smith that arms costs would reach the billion dollar a month mark "by September" and lent weight to his additional prediction that such spending for the fiscal year, which will end June 30, 1942, will total $15,500,000,000. Total costs for the first month and 27 days of the fiscal year were $1,941,058,086—about two-thirds of the $2,994,641,599 spent for all purposes in this period.

The period was one of usually slack tax collections, and federal receipts of $772,722,362 were $2,221,919,237 short of meeting the expenses. The deficit was being met out of sales of defense savings bonds and tax anticipation notes. These transactions were boosting the debt hundreds of dollars a second and on Aug. 27 the treasury debt was at a record high of $50,535,093,984.

Proposed Plan for Soo Cuts Capitalization

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—A plan for reorganization of the Minneapolis, St. Paul & Sault Ste. Marie railway, which would sharply reduce its capitalization and fixed interest charges, was proposed to the Interstate Commerce commission today by Ralph H. Jewell, one of the commission's examiners.

He proposed capitalization of the Soo Line be reduced from $169,202,628 to about 87 millions and annual fixed interest charges from $6,631,322 to approximately $53,500, all for equipment obligations which would be assumed by the reorganized company. The examiner contended that present preferred and common stockholders were not entitled to receive anything for their holdings. The Canadian Pacific railway would be allowed to purchase 25 per cent of the common stock of the reorganized Soo Line at $2 a share.

Hearing Set for Oct. 28.

The commission will hear arguments on exceptions to the plan Oct. 28. Provisions of the plan include:

Holders of first consolidated mortgage bonds which matured July 1, 1938, bearing interest guaranteed by the Canadian Pacific railway, would receive payment in cash by the Canadian Pacific of unpaid interest which accrued on Jan. 1 and July 1, which accrued on Jan. 1, 1938, and July 1, 1941.

Holders of all first consolidated bonds would receive in cash about 3.3 per cent of their total claims, including accrued and unpaid interest to Jan. 1, 1941 [not paid by the Canadian Pacific under its guarantee]; about 10 per cent in new first mortgage series A 4½ per cent income bonds; about 25 per cent in new general mortgage 4 per cent series A income bonds, and about 0.6 share new no par common stock for each $100 of their claims.

Second Mortgages 4% Bonds.

Holders of second mortgage 4 per cent 50 year bonds, due Jan. 1, 1949, which bear interested guaranteed by the Canadian Pacific, would receive cash from the Canadian Pacific for interest falling due between Jan. 1, 1938, Jan. 1, 1941. For the remainder of their claims, they would receive one share of new no par common stock for each $100 claim.

Holders of first refunding mortgage series A 6 per cent bonds maturing July 1, 1946 [none bears Canadian Pacific interest guarantee], would receive for each $100 claim, including accrued and unpaid interest by Jan. 1, 1941, five-tenths share of new no par common stock.

First Mortgage B 5½s.

Holders of first refunding mortgage series B 5½ per cent bonds maturing July 1, 1978 [all bear Canadian Pacific interest guarantee], would receive cash from the Canadian Pacific for interest maturing between Jan. 1, 1938, and Jan. 1, 1941. For the remainder of their claims they would receive for each $100 claim five-tenths share of new no par common stock.

For its payment of interest, the Canadian Pacific would receive for each $100: On first consolidated bonds, one share of new no par common stock; on second mortgage bonds nine-tenths share of new no par common stock; on first refunding bonds, forty-five one-hundredths share of new no par common stock.

Block of Standard Oil (N.J.) Shares Sold at 43⅞

New York, Aug. 29 (AP).—Dillon, Read & Co. and associates tonight announced the books had been closed on an offering of 150,000 shares of Standard Oil company [N. J.] stock which they offered after the close of the stock exchange at 43⅞ a share.

A.T.&T. Plans Big New Loan by Bid System

New York, Aug. 29 [Special].—The traditional banker relationship between the American Telephone and Telegraph company system and the House of Morgan dating back to 1906 appeared severed today with the disclosure by Walter S. Gifford, president of A. T. & T., that the system would resort to competitive bidding in a forthcoming $95,000,000 financing operation.

J. P. Morgan & Co., and in recent years its successor underwriting firm, Morgan Stanley & Co., Inc., have participated as underwriters and syndicate managers in approximately two billion dollars, face value, of American Telephone financing.

Believed Voluntary Development.

A. T. & T.'s decision to accept competitive bidding for the sale of its securities apparently is a voluntary development because the Federal Communications commission, which has complete regulatory jurisdiction over the Bell system, has not issued any orders to that effect. Four months ago the Securities and Exchange commission, which regulates the electric light and power industry, promulgated a ruling calling for compulsory competitive bidding in the sale of public utility securities.

Only six weeks ago A. T. & T. avoided the "competitive bidding" issue by giving rights to stockholders for subscription to $234,000,000 of new 3 per cent debentures.

Statement by Gifford.

Gifford issued the following statement:

"The American Telephone and Telegraph company is today publishing notice of call for redemption on Nov. 1, 1941, at their principal amount and accrued interest, of its 20 year sinking fund 5½ per cent debenture bonds, due Nov. 1, 1943, which are presently outstanding in the amount of $94,306,000. As it is expected that the entire proceeds of the recent 3 per cent convertible issue will be needed to provide for plant extensions, the company plans in the near future to offer for competitive bidding a refunding issue of long term debenture bonds, substantially in the amount of the bonds being called."

NEW FINANCING PLANS

New financing plans of several companies were officially announced or reported in market circles yesterday. Among the larger programs were:

The Interstate Commerce commission authorized the Southern Pacific company to issue 20 million dollars of 2 to 3¼ per cent serial, secured promissory notes. Proceeds will be used to pay off bank and RFC loans.

Erie railroad, which is soon to emerge from bankruptcy, plans to offer $18,000,000 of bonds to bear about 3¼ per cent interest and to mature in 25 to 30 years, it was reported in financial circles.

Houston Light and Power company, Houston, Tex., filed with the securities commission a registration statement covering an undetermined number of shares of common stock, no par value.

Missouri Utilities company, Cape Girardeau, Mo., advised the securities commission of its intention to issue bonds and preferred stock, and to reclassify its common stock now held by Community Power and Light company. The registration statement covered $3,150,000 of 3½ per cent first mortgage bonds, series A, due 1971; 14,000 shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock, $100 par value, and 125,000 shares of common stock, $1 par value.

Estimate Russia's Grain Crop at a Record High

MOSCOW, Aug. 29.—Preliminary estimates place this year's soviet grain crop at 131,000,000 tons [roughly 4,850,000,000 bushels]—a record since the U. S. S. R. was created in 1917. Because of territorial losses in the war, the amount harvested will be smaller than the estimates, but, it is stated here, the harvest will cover all emergency needs.

GRAINS TUMBLE ON SPECULATIVE OIL TRADING BAN

Exchanges Are Not Affected—OPACS.

Announcement Thursday night that Price Administrator Leon Henderson had placed a ban on speculative operations in fats and oils threw the grain and provision trade into confusion yesterday. Officials of the Chicago Board of Trade suspended trading in lard futures while they sought clarification of the government edict.

A wave of selling came into the grain and soy bean markets early. Bean futures were forced down about 3 cents below Thursday's close before the sellout subsided. Wheat and oats dipped 1 cent, but all grains rallied late in the session following a report from Washington that the order banning speculative futures trading in fats and oils did not apply to organized exchanges.

Officials Fly to Capital.

Fred H. Clutton, secretary, and Robert Burrows, a director of the Chicago Board of Trade, left by plane for Washington late yesterday to confer with Office of Price Administration and Civilian Suppy officials on the new restrictions.

Henderson, OPACS head, said in Washington that the original order was designed to "eliminate speculative practices that tend to disrupt the price structure of the entire fats and oils field."

A spokesman for Henderson said that in drafting the order, "we simply placed the organized exchanges on the shelf and did not touch them at all. Anything that any one could do in trading in an organized exchange can still be done under the schedule."

Corn Relatively Strong.

Closing trades on soy bean futures showed losses of 1 to 1½ cents, with October at $1.56¾, while wheat was off ¼ to ½ cent, and oats lost ⅝ to 1 cent a bushel. Corn was relatively strong and finished ¼ cent lower to ¼ cent higher, the former on September which closed 8¾ cents under May, the widest difference of the season.

All of the activity in the grain and bean markets was crowded into the first 30 minutes of the session, trading thereafter being extremely slow as operators awaited clarification of the fats and oil trading quotation.

Holders of September grain contracts were rather persistent sellers, while cash interests bought September and sold the deferred months, changing over hedges on cash grain into the distant months.

SUGAR IMPORT QUOTA LIFTED TO AVOID SHORTAGE

Large increases in the amount of sugar foreign producers will be permitted to ship into the United States this year were announced yesterday by the department of agriculture. The department said that quotas from the marketing areas had been lifted to 9,002,976 short tons from 8,006,836 tons, raw value.

The nation actually consumed 6,736,000 tons last year. Average consumption is estimated at 7 million tons a year. The new quota is expected to remove all threat of a shortage this year.

Quotas were increased for all areas except the Philippines, Hawaii, and domestic cane sugar producing sections. The increased quotas, with previous and present limits listed, are:

Continental beet, 1,925,499 and 2,230,037 short tons; Puerto Rico, 991,365 and 1,148,160; Cuba, 2,374,852 and 2,750,461; Virgin Islands, 11,076 and 12,829, and foreign countries other than Cuba, 282,859 and 440,304.

'FAVORITES' NAP AS SPECIALTIES BUOY STOCK LIST

Transfers Drop to Only 351,680 Shares.

Hesitancy prevailed at the start and irregular price tendencies continued to the close with 275 issues up, 201 down, and 205 unchanged. Transfers totaled 351,680 shares, compared with 401,000 yesterday.

Trim for Long Weekend.

The news, on the whole, was more favorable than otherwise and the faltering performance of the list was attributed partly to lightening of commitments for the holiday weekend.

Consolidated Aircraft was the liveliest mover in the stock division, climbing 1⅞ to a new 1941 top at 42⅞. Talk of a 100 per cent stock dividend by this company was a factor. Douglas Aircraft was up 2¼. Westinghouse Electric dropped 2½ points in the wake of an expansion financing program.

Dillon, Read & Co. and associates offered 150,000 shares of Standard Oil Company of New Jersey stock at 42⅞ after the close of the stock exchange. The stock was from the estate of the late Edward S. Harkness.

BANK SHARES AT PEAK.

Wisconsin bank shares closed ⅛ higher at 6¼, a new 1941 high, on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Volume leaders were Middle West, 2,200 shares, up ⅛ to 4⅜; Commonwealth Edison, 650 shares, up ⅛ to 25⅞; Chicago corporation, 500 shares, unchanged at ⅞, and Aviation corporation, 400 shares, unchanged at 3⅝.

Transactions totaled 15,000 shares. Of 92 issues traded, 40 advanced, 31 declined, and 21 closed unchanged. Two dually traded stocks showed changes in the last half hour from their New York closing prices. Montgomery Ward declined ⅛ and Illinois Central gained ⅛ point.

ROCKFORD MAKER OF TOOLS BOOSTS DIVIDEND TO $1

Directors of Sundstrand Machine Tool company yesterday declared a dividend of $1 on the capital stock. The company, located in Rockford, Ill., paid 75 cents in June.

Goebel Brewing company, Detroit, Mich., declared an extra dividend of 5 cents in addition to the regular quarterly payment of the same amount. Niles-Bement-Pond company, West Hartford, Conn., manufacturer of machine tools, declared a $1.25 dividend compared with a $1 disbursement in June.

National Department Stores corporation cleared a 60 cents arrears on the 6% $10 preferred stock and declared a regular semiannual 30 cents dividend.

RAIL LAND GRANT CASE DATING TO 1864 IS SETTLED

U. S. Receives $300,000, 363,000 Acres.

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 29 (AP).—The United States received $300,000 and 363,000 acres of land today, and held clear title to an additional 2,900,000 acres after settlement of a land grant case dating back to 1864 and costing 1¼ million dollars for litigation.

Officials of the Northern Pacific railroad, loser in one of the most involved litigations in American history, conceded defeat by paying the $300,000 in District court.

District Judge Lewis D. Schwellenbach handed down the decree denying the railroad's claims to the land and ordering the payment.

Costs Government Million.

Robert E. Mulroney, chief of the trials section, lands division of the department of justice, said the long drawn out controversy had cost the government close to a million dollars. Defense attorneys estimated the railroad's costs at $500,000.

In 1864 and in 1870 land grants were made to the company to aid in building the road from Ashland, Wis., to Tacoma, Wash.

Nearly 40 million acres were granted, and many years later the company maintained it still was entitled to 2,900,000 acres additional.

Congress in 1924 suspended the issuance of any new patents to the company. Five years later congress acted to retain the disputed lands.

Taken to Supreme Court.

The government charged the company had violated its agreement with the United States and obtained more lands than it was entitled to.

The case went before a special master and, after nine months, the District court held the company was entitled to compensation for approximately 1,453,000 acres of land and awarded the government compensation for about 66,000 acres.

Both railroad and government appealed. The Supreme court last December reversed in part the first decision and remanded the case to the lower court.

The cash payment was for the 66,000 acres considered in the original trial. The 363,000 acres returned to government control was valued at $1,200,000.

3 SENATORS ASK CUT IN WHEAT SALES PENALTY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 29 (AP).—Three senators introduced today legislation to provide a reduction from 49 to 15 cents a bushel in the panalty imposed under the agricultural adjustment act for wheat grown in excess of federal marketing quotas.

The measure, bearing the names of Robert A. Taft of Ohio, Raymond E. Willis of Indiana, and Hugh A. Butler of Nebraska, all Republicans, would be effective during the 1941 crop year. It also contained a provision that the penalty should not apply to that portion of excess wheat used for feeding or household purposes.

Asks War on AAA.

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 29 [Special].—Declaring the same spirit that prevails in the control of agriculture in Germany and Russia is wrapped up in the wheat marketing quota system, Charles J. Sheppelman of Colfax, newly elected president of the Illinois chapter of the National Farmer guild, today challenged "all red blooded Americans, farmers and others," to join with him in fighting the Agricultural Adjustment program.

"The triple A, which was started as an emergency measure, has turned out to be the biggest racket our country has ever known and if it is continued it will destroy the very foundation of democracy," he asserted.

3 COPPER MINING COMPANIES GET FEDERAL SUBSIDY

The arrangement was said to include a provision for miners to receive $1 a day in addition to their base pay. The companies mentioned were Copper Range company, Isle Royal Copper company, and Quincy Mining company, all of Houghton county, Mich.

When the 12 cent ceiling was set Aug. 12, the price administrator's office said it would recommend purchase of high cost copper Metals Reserve company, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance corporation.
